'Small Fry'

By J. Curtis Allen

"Oh me . . . ladies wrestling at this year's Bean Dinner?" Mary, six-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cramer, 204 Belvidere-av, seems amazed at the information that woman wrestlers will make an appearance at the 1952 edition of the Hilltop Bean Dinner. Mary needn't be so shocked about it though, because the lady grunt and groan artists have been active for quite a few years now.

These New Books At Your Hilltop Branch Library

No People Like Show People
By Maurice Zolotow

Mr. Zolotow is a personal friend of some of the greatest stars of show business. He is also the possessor of a keen eye and an analytical mind. This happy combination adds up to a delightful book.

The author paints eight glowing and intimate portraits of such galvanic people as Tallulah Bankhead, Jimmy Durante, Oscar Levant, Jack Benny, Frank Fay, Fred Allen, and Miss Ethel Merman. All of them seem to have three things in common. Each is a unique performer in his or her specific field. They all command fantastically high salaries, eg., Jack Benny receives $1,000 a minute for portraying himself as a foolish man with a toupee. The third, and herein lies the essence of the character studies, seems to be that all had emotionally barren childhoods out of which almost all of these great and sensitive talents had to emerge.

In the sum, "No People Like Show People," is a brilliant piece of contemporary biography. In keeping with the spirit of the book, Fate will surely hang "a star" on the typewriter of Maurice Zolotow.

Two Camp Chase members in the election of delegates to the national Convention in New York were named. They were Michael Austin as delegate and Clarke Finneran as an alternate. Vernon Fiscus of Camp Chase was elected to the Junior Activities committee at the State Convention in August, and Michael Austin to the Constitution committee.

Tree Expert Warns Of Worm Damage To Evergreens

According to E. D. Dupler, local tree expert, this is the season at which evergreens are in danger of damage from measuring worms, red spider, bagworms, aphis, mold and mite.

Protection can be given your evergreens with a single spray, according to Dupler, while if you wait an evergreen can be stripped of needles in a week and die shortly thereafter.

Traffic laws protect you! That's why the Safety Council of the Columbus Chamber of Commerce urges all motorists to protect themselves by knowing and obeying traffic laws.

As a nation, our accident death rate is the second highest in the world . . . We are accidentally killing ourselves at the rate of 280 persons a day.

OBITUARY OF
MARY WILL GREMER

"A precious one from us is gone
A voice we loved is stilled
A place is vacant in the home
Which never can be filled."

Mother was called to her heavenly home after a year's illness at 5:30 o'clock on Sunday afternoon, June 8. She had reached the age of 89 years, one month and 16 days. She was born April 23, 1863, in this city. She was the daughter of Henry Will and his wife, Anna, nee Wurster. Soon after birth she was dedicated to the Lord in Holy Baptism. In 1873 she moved with her parents and brother, August, to a farm near Alton, Franklin County, Ohio. A few years later she was confirmed in the Christian faith in St. James Lutheran Church near Hilliards, Ohio. On Nov. 8, 1881, she was united in marriage with Theodore A. Gremer, of the same vicinity in which she lived. Five children, four daughters and a son were born to this union. Two daughters, Mrs. Minnie Climo and Mrs. Emma Climo, and the son, August, preceded their mother in death. After having resided on a farm near Alton and on another farm near Rosedale, Madison County, at which latter place they were members of the St. Paul Evangelical Lutheran Church of Chuckery, Ohio. In 1900 Mr. and Mrs. Grener moved to a farm at 4601 W. Broad-st, Columbus, Ohio, where they resided until 1945, at which time they moved to 196 S. Huron-av, this city, where they lived at the time of Mother Grener's death. Those surviving her and mourning her departure are her husband, Theodore Grener, her two daughters, Frances, Mrs. Steve Kuhn and Ruth, Mrs. Edwin G. Bastelhorst, four grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren, and a host of friends.

No one heard the door that opened
When she passed beyond recall;
Soft as loosened rose leaves
One by one our loved ones fall.

Weep not that her toils are over
Weep not that her race is run
God grant we may rest as calmly
When our work like hers is done.

Till then we yield with gladness
Our Mother to Him to keep
And rest in the sweet assurance
He giveth His beloved sleep.

Through pain at times she'd smile
A smile of heavenly birth
And when the angels called her home
She smiled farewell to earth.

Heaven retaineth not our treasure
Earth the lonely casket keeps
And the sunbeams love to linger
Where our sainted Mother sleeps.

Farewell dear Mother, sweet thy rest
Weary with years and worn with pain
Farewell till in some happy place
We shall behold thy face again.

'Tis ours to miss thee all our years
And tender memory of thee keep Thine in the Lord to rest for so

Garden Club Members Busy This Summer

At least 35 Hilltop women have begun to putter in their gardens this summer. They are members of the Highland Garden Club whose president is Mrs. C. V. Williams, 156 W. Schreyer-pl.

The club started with 14 charter members and has since had to limit membership to 35 women. They met for the first time Apr. 5, 1938, at the home of Mrs. W. R. Hamilton, then on N. Hague-av. Because they drew their membership from the high land, they chose the name of Highland Garden Club. The club holds membership in the Ohio Association of Garden Clubs and the Franklin County Council of Garden Clubs.

During the past 14 years the women have begun a number of worthwhile projects for the community. The most recent and one of the most successful has been the Hilltop Chrysanthemum Show, held in the fall of 1950 and 1951 in cooperation with the Columbus Chrysanthemum Society. It was the first flower show given by the club although the club and the women as individuals have taken part in flower shows in and around Columbus since their organization was started.

At Christmas time they provide a supply of jelly and jam to the West Side Day Nursery, and furnish holiday decorations for the State Hospital. This past Christmas they presented the Hilltop branch library with a window planter filled with plants. During the summer months the women of the club provide the library with bouquets of cut garden flowers and dry bouquets decorate the library during the winter months.

The club contributes to a fund for the maintenance of the Johnny Appleseed Highway (between Marietta and Cleveland) on which the state has undertaken a major planting project.

The club gained widespread recognition during the war years for its plantings at Glenwood Park, where the Hilltop servicemen's roster was located. In the spring of 1943 and again in 1944 trees were started at the local park, where six trees now grow in memory of the World War II servicemen. At that time a group from the club devoted a great deal of time to the cleaning out and care of the rock garden on the hill at Glenwood Park. In 1949 the club planted shrubbery at the park and since has taken an active interest in getting the community to care for the park.

Five-Year-Old Reported "Fair" After Mishap

In "fair" condition at Children's Hospital is Carl Losheck, five, 635 Van Buren-dr, who was injured Monday when he was struck by a car in the 600 block of Harmon-av.

He was first treated at Mt. Carmel Hospital, where he was taken by Fire Department emergency squadmen for possible head injuries, body bruises and a broken leg before being transferred to Children's.

Officers said the boy had been playing in the street and walked in front of an auto driven by Dorothy O'Connor of Williamsport, traveling south on Harmon-av.

Due Day

"Abyssinia," said the lady,
"Tallyhobynow," said the gent.
Scratching his head, their landlord muttered,
"Wish them furriners'd pay their rent."

One Way

Most salesmen get in Heaven,
In spite of how they rate—
Before St. Peter spots them,
A foot's inside the gate.

I stood on the bridge at midnight,
The wind was full of air;
Someone pulled the bridge away
And left me standing there!

OLD FASHIONED PRESERVES

A dish of your own home-made strawberry preserves is the surest way in the world to bring a gleam into the eyes of the lucky people who sit down to your table. The story is wonderful from beginning to end—the making of the preserves with the aroma of the bubbling syrup filling the kitchen; the sight of the rich red fruit and syrup in Ball Jars on your shelves; and, finally, the serving of the preserves, perhaps with hot, flaky biscuits.

The strawberry season will be upon you before you know it, so have your Ball Mason Jars and Ball Dome Caps ready to use the first day you see strawberries suitable for preserves in your garden or on the market. The season is all too short and you might wake up to find you've waited until too late.

For preserving, strawberries should be of medium size and firm-ripe. Preserves should be cooked in small batches, not more than two or three quarts at a time. A recipe for Old Fashioned Strawberry Preserves from the Ball Blue Book calls for 3 quarts of hulled berries and 7 cups of sugar. Mix berries and sugar and let stand overnight in a cool place. Bring slowly to boiling, then boil rapidly until berries are clear and syrup thick. Skim and pour into hot Ball Jars. Seal while boiling hot with Ball Dome Caps.

Bible Comment:

Hebrew Prophets Saw Law and Order In Creator's Work

IN reading the Book of Job it is important to remember that it is an ancient drama in which various characters are speaking and note in each instance just who the speaker is. Otherwise we may find ourselves taking as the "word of God" statements of Eliphaz, Bildad, or Zophar, all three of whom are specifically represented by God, later in the Book, as not having spoken the "thing that is right."

The late Professor Moulton, in his "Modern Readers' Bible," sought to guard such misrepresentations of Biblical truth by presenting and arranging the Scriptures in their proper literary form. This is particularly helpful in portions of the Bible like the Book of Job.

But in general the practice of taking texts at random, or even undiscriminating use of proof texts, is not conducive to enlightened study of the Bible, in which every passage ought to be read in relation to its setting and context.

But if one must read the Book of Job with care to realize who it is speaking in the various portions, it is only in considering the Book as a whole that its full significance and message appear. All leads up to certain conclusions regarding the fact of God and His world.

The Hebrew poets and prophets laid hold of the great, positive, incontrovertible facts of a world that could not be, or be upheld, without a Creator and Ruler. They found evidences of law and order and goodness. And they related the moral law and order to the law and physical universe.

They asserted, "The heavens declare the glory of God, and the firmament sheweth His handiwork. Day unto day uttereth speech, and night unto night sheweth knowledge."

So, here in the Book of Job, as elsewhere, they asserted the fact of God in His world. "The earth is the Lord's and the fullness thereof—the world and they that dwell therein." It was the fool, they said, who had declared in his heart that there was no God. And their wisdom was justified. For without faith, and without God, what is there for man?

Bell Ringers At Hillcrest Next Week

A large crowd is expected to hear the nationally known Mason Swiss Bell Ringers, consisting of the Rev. and Mrs. Bernard Mason of Los Angeles, Calif., who will present a unique concert at the Hillcrest Baptist Church, 2480 W. Broad-st, Monday and Tuesday, June 30 and July 1, at 8 p. m.

There will be no admission charge to this concert but a free-will offering will be received.

The program will feature familiar hymns and gospel songs played on a large array of musical instruments rarely heard on any entertainment platform.

The church extends a cordial invitation to the public to enjoy this unusual musical treat.

CHORUS GIVES PROGRAM

The men's chorus and junior choir of Oakley Avenue Baptist Church presented jointly a musical program last Sunday evening. Accompanists were Mrs. Hazel Brunson and Mrs. Naomi Jackson. Fleming Rose is director of both groups.

To a young man who's walking on clouds

You're a little prouder of her than other girls you've known.

You stand a little taller when she's walking with you down the street.

There's something about her that brings out the finer feelings in you . . . something that makes you realize how wonderful women are.

Why not show her how you feel about her—by taking her to church this week?

There's not a girl in the world who wouldn't deeply appreciate and treasure the respect such an invitation implies.

And there isn't a surer foundation for a young couple falling in love than going to church together each week to renew and enrich their faith.

Let her know how you feel about her. Take her to church this week.

Take someone to Church this week . . . you'll both be richer for it

"God's Little Book Shop" Is A Hilltop Institution

Many Hilltoppers have already learned that when spiritual "uplifting" is needed for themselves or for a friend they have only to call a local woman who will suggest a booklet or other reading matter that is sure to be appropriate. Mrs. Virgil Spangler, 267 S. Ogden-av, calls her service "God's Little Book Shop" and realizes no profit from it.

As Mrs. Spangler, or Louise, explaines it, she first ordered her "interdenominational" literature for her own use but friends soon found she could get things for them and called upon her to do so.

As the word got around she found herself in business "for God", helping people find just the right prayer or word for their needs. She wrote many of the book concerns and now has a "dealers account" with the very smallest to the largest. Her books and pamphlet license doesn't entitle her to keep a very large stock on hand, (she only has a few bookshelves in her home) but she orders some of the well-liked pamphlets in lots of a hundred and they are gone almost before she gets them on the shelf.

One of the items supplied by Mrs. Spangler which is rapidly gaining in popularity are greeting cards adorned with a removable book mark. The book marks are beautifully woven by a man out-of-state who is a "label-weaver" for clothing" by trade. Small pictures and verses for Catholic, Protestant or Jew are available with the Lord's Prayer (both versions) one of the most popular bookmarks.

Ivan Pusecker creator of the "Smiling Christ" has assured Mrs. Spangler that she will have some prints of his picture, to add to her stock which varies from 1c prayer cards to $5 books.

Since December when Mary Welch put a pocket size booklet, "More Than Sparrows" (50c) on the market, Mrs. Spangler has sold over 100 copies and is resupplied to sell more. Other popular booklets which people often hear commented on and seldom know where to buy; "Golden Key" by Emmit Fox; "God and Health" by Russell Dix; "Another Dawn" by Glenn Clark; "Magic Garments" by Peter Kontek; are available at the little book shop.

Full length books by Starr Daily, the redeemed and pardoned criminal who has lived with the world for 22 years, and others by Frank Laubach, internationally famous linquist, and Agnes Sanford, a "gray lady" during the war, help complete the stock.

A pamphlet to help those who have just lost a loved one, one to inclose with a wedding gift, those suitable for shutins and for someone just plain "discouraged", are all on hand at "God's Little Book Shop."

Mrs. Spangler has a dream of a lovely little book shop complete with a prayer room and she says, "I know if God thinks I'm capable of it, He'll see to it someway."

Old Fisherman Just Dream

Don Jackson, veteran Hilltop resident and a deputy in the office of County Treasurer Newton A. Thatcher, has just returned from a fishing trip at Marble Lake, Mich. He caught plenty of fish, he said, and now it is rather difficult for him to return to his duties in the Court House.

He was the inspiration for the following poem by Mrs. Teresa McCabe:

I wish I was fishin'
Instead of just wishin'
As my tasks I am trying to shirk;
I have no ambition,
Except to be fishin'
For I never did like to work.

I keep dubbin' and' dubbin'
When I should be stubbin'
And all I can do is wish—
The weather is so hot,
But I guess I am not.
Am I just a poor fish?

An Editorial

It's Time To Revive An American Tradition

This Friday, July 4, is the logical time to revive a time honored and patriotic American custom and tradition — the display of Old Glory — the symbol of the American heritage of freedom, love of country, loyalty and faith in traditions that are American.

There was a day in the not too dim past when on Memorial Day, Armistice Day and the Fourth of July that the American Flag, as a symbol of the patriotic people of this land, flew from every home, public building and business house. The Stars and Stripes flew almost everywhere.

On Memorial Day, July 4 and Armistice Day it was the custom to display the flag prominently. The average home had Old Glory hung over the doorway, streaming from the porch roof, flying from a window or attached to a flagpole in the front yard. Merchants everywhere flew the Flag from standards in front of their places of business, from awnings or over front windows, and if the Flag couldn't be adapted to such a display without disrespect to the national emblem, the traditional Red-white and blue bunting was used as a decorative scheme.

It seems though that in recent years, there has been a gradual change in the attitude of the people. It is a shameful thing to say, but Old Glory is almost in the novelty class these days. You don't see it except on public buildings, schools and churches. The American people seem to have forgotten that sense of pride and patriotism in flying Old Glory that once existed.

Much of this attitude has been brought about because of the outrageous propaganda of those, who regard patriotism as old fashioned, outmoded and actually evil.

There are those who attack "nationalism" as unworthy of what they praise as "world citizenship." There are those who would supplant and subordinate Old Glory with the flag of the so-called United Nations, if it were at all possible.

America today is the freest nation in the world. It offers its citizens the fullest and most rich life to be enjoyed by any people on the face of the earth. The "world citizenship" agitators offer nothing that is even comparable to the American way of life.

There are indications that are very evident that a growing revulsion is underway against the path down which "one world-ism" threatens to lead us. The American people are becoming aware of the dangers which threaten from following such a credo. They are awakening and turning again to a new appreciation and respect of the things which are symbolized by Old Glory.

What day could by more appropriate than July 4 on which to show that we're proud to be Americans. This Friday let's all fly the Stars and Stripes, from every vantage point. Let Old Glory fly in the summer breezes as proudly for us as it did for our fathers and grandfathers.

On this July 4 let us revive one of the oldest and finest of American traditions. Show to the world that we are proud of, and respect, the flag of the greatest of all nations on earth.

Rome Market Hit For $7,000 By Burglars

Burglars, evidently professional, robbed the US Super Market, 5460 W. Broad-st, of some $7000 in cash, checks and postal funds late Saturday or early Sunday, according to sheriff's deputies.

Owner Russell Harrison, 657 Rome-Hilliards-rd, discovered the burglary about 10 a. m. Sunday. He said he left the store about 10 p. m. Saturday and when he returned last Sunday he found a back door jammed and discovered the safe, with tumblers knocked from it, lying on its back in the small office.

Harrison, unable to estimate the loss, was asking all persons who had cashed checks there Friday and Saturday to contact him so he can accurately tabulate his loss. He said the store also is a collecting agent for the gas, telephone and electric companies and those receipts were among the loot.

The burglars apparently had the store "well cased," Harrison said. Nothing else was disturbed and he could discover no loss other than that from the safe.

Cyclists Hurt Seriously In Night Crash

Bunny Spitler, 16, 328 Josephine-av, and Jack Kruger, 16, 2634 Dibbles-av, were injured last Wednesday night when their motorcycle went out of control at Rome-Hilliards-rd and Roberts-rd, sheriffs deputies reported. The cycle apparently ran over soft tar, going out of control and running wild through a 195-foot-long ditch, sideswiping a telephone pole and throwing the occupants in a field.

Spitler was treated for a compound fracture of the right arm and a fractured right leg, while Kruger was treated for a possible pelvic fracture and compound fractures of the right arm and leg. Both were taken to Mt. Carmel Hospital.

New Elementary School Principal James Henery Is Hilltop Product

James Henery, newly appointed principal for the Westgate and West Mound Street Elementary Schools, is no newcomer to the Hilltop. He was born here 29 years ago on Apple-st the son of Mr. and Mrs. Chet Henery and besides having been reared on the Hilltop has garnered his teaching experience on the Hilltop and West Side.

Prior to his appointment as principal of the newly constructed Hilltop schools Henery was the principal of Avondale Elementary School for three years and before that had taught for three years at West Broad Street Elementary School.

The youthful pedagogue will assume the principalship of the two new 12 classroom buildings at the beginning of the fall term. Each of the new schools have already been filled to their capacity with an enrollment of 450 pupils each.

At the present time through the summer months Henery is teaching summer school classes at

James Henery

Feiser Elementary School. He expects to take a short vacation in Florida just prior to taking up his duties in the new local schools.

Henery earned his Bachelor and Master degrees at Ohio State University, completing his last quarter at OSU after he came from the Army where he had served a three year hitch in the infantry. He also holds an engineering degree granted by the Army.

Ruth Rankin of Stewart Avenue Elementary School will succeed Henery at Avondale School, according to information released this week by the Columbus Board of Education.

Family Made Homeless By Fire At Rome

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Paullin, 800 Grener-rd, New Rome, had nearly all their furniture and clothing destroyed by fire over the week end when the converted barn in which they were temporarily living was burned to the ground. The Paullins, who are building a motel, were visiting in Akron at the time of the fire.

Plain and Perry Township firemen said the fire apparently started in hay stored in a section of the converted barn. When the fire burned itself out, only a stove stood in the destroyed home.

Williams' Plan Third Reunion For Late Son's Wartime Buddies

Mr. and Mrs. Mose M. Williams, 2581 Steele-av, are again sponsoring a reunion of the buddies of their late son, Lt. Gayle V. Williams, who was killed in service, June, 1945.

The group was formerly known as CVLG(n)41. It was a select group of men and the first carrier-based night-fighter group. The unit was attached to the USS Independence.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams gave a son for their country, but out of this new found sorrow, the Williams' gained a whole squadron. After months of research, endeavoring to locate addresses of the boys, the Williams' sponsored the first reunion in June, 1948, at the Hotel Lancaster, Lancaster, Ohio, and this was believed to be the first instance in the United States where the parents of a son killed in the Service, sponsored a reunion of his buddies. Due to the enthusiasm displayed by this group at the first reunion, it was unanimously decided to hold future reunions every two years and that all plans and arrangements would remain in the hands of the Williams'.

The second reunion was held again in Lancaster, in June, 1950, and now in 1952, the third reunion is scheduled for July 4th, 5th and 6th, again at the Lancaster Hotel.

Each year, the reunion is closed on Sunday, by the entire group travelling to Columbus to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Williams for dinner. While in Lancaster, the group enjoys a tour of the historical caves in that vicinity, golfing at the Lancaster Country Club, cocktail parties, and on Saturday night, a banquet, followed by a square dance—music will be furnished by Bob Verbeck and his band.

The squadron has become the hobby of Mr. and Mrs. Williams, who correspond with each and every member, keeping them in contact with one another. Every two years, they have sponsored these reunions and for a short time, their son and the other boys of this squadron who lost their lives, are remembered and live again, for this group that loved them so.

Lest any of us forget, the Williams' keep all the squadron together as one big family. What greater tribute could be paid to a son?

Those who have made reservations are Commander and Mrs. W. E. Henry, Rockville, Md.; Commander and Mrs. John Kennedy, Falls Church, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. N.J.; Hr. and Mrs. Howard Parry, C. Camp Chase - Beasley Grove Fords baseball nine will clash with the Southway Post-Potter Gager Fords team at Goodale No. 1 (Olentangy River-rd) at 10 a. m. on July 4. The game was moved up to the morning hour to enable to players and managers to enjoy more of the Fourth of July celebrations. Too, the Camp Chase squad was not able to use their home field, West High School, due to the "Stay at Home on the Fourth" celebration planned by the Hilltop Lions Club at West High.

On Saturday, July 5, the Camp Chase-Beasley Grove team will travel to Chillicothe to meet the Chillicothe Legion team at the Veteran's Hospital field. After the game the team will be conducted on a sight seeing tour of Chillicothe.

Sunday, July 6 will see the local team back at West High as they meet the Bexley Post Legion nine in a regular league game.

Left hander Fred Laderer is expected to go to the mound for Camp Chase at Goodale in Friday's game with left hander Roger Hamrick getting the nod for Chillicothe and right handed knuckle artist George Williams expected to see service in Sunday's encounter at West High. Sunday's game starts at 2:30 p. m.

Last Sunday's game against Scioto Post, scheduled to be played at Sunshine Park but moved to the West field at the last minute, saw Camp Chase-Beasley Grove Fords take their fourth consecutive loss in league competition as left handed strike out artist Joe Rotounda of the Scioto Post team whiffed 16 of the local players.

Rotonda also led the hitting for Scioto, getting two of the six hits granted by Hamrick and Williams of Camp Chase. Hamrick pitched very effective ball, striking out nine while walking four and granting only five hits in seven innings. He was taken out of the game for a pinch hitter in the eighth inning.

Magaw broke his batting slump with two for four trips for Camp Chase.

Hilltop Church Begins Work Of Remodeling

Men of the Hilltop Church of Christ (Disciples) completed the job of replacing the church's basement floor this week. Under the direction of James Wharton, chairman of the Board of Trustees of the church, they tore out the wooden floor and helped in laying the new concrete floor.

Sunday School classes for the Beginners through the Junior departments will be resumed this Sunday after a one week lapse during the renovating.

Laying the new basement floor is the first step in an extensive building program which will be continued later this month when the church begins an educational addition later this month.

Bidding Opens For Star Route

Sealed proposals will be received at the office of the Assistant Postmaster General, Bureau of Transportation until 5:15 p. m., July 24, for vehicles to carry the United States mails for, the term from September of 1952 to June, 1955. The award of the contract contemplates the discontinuance of CP service now operated by train.

Numerous regulations are required in addition to the bond of $25,000. Each proposal must be sent in a sealed envelope to the proper address.

Cheating on the traffic regulations, even just a little, is serious lawbreaking and accident-making. Respect the laws and they will protect you.

YOUR YOUTH

By Bob Schmidt

Approximately 200 Hilltop boys are enjoying the Summer Fun Club program of the Hilltop Branch of the YMCA.

This past week they have attended a nature hike, treasure hunt and a rubberneck tour through the local telephone company. The main event of the week took place on last Friday night, when 90 boys attended the Redbird baseball game as the guests of the Columbus Baseball Club. Thanks to the following dads for furnishing transportation and supervision: Dr. Warren W. Hicks, John Kirkpatrick, Howard Hartranft, Glenn Rohrer, Fred Gunderson.

As the program of the "Y" begins to project itself out into the community we will be in need of additional volunteer leadership.

Leadership for small intimate groups where reflective thinking and creative planning can make life meaningful.

The YMCA is successfully promoting these smaller groups among all ages, but those who are younger need the counsel of friendly mature adults. Leadership resides in [illegible].

The YMCA is always active in selecting training and supervising leaders from each community to do this task. In this program every one gains—the youth, the community and the leader.

Leadership can help point the way for youth.

From Coaxing To Tempting

By Betty Barclay

GETTING your family to eat their daily requirement of milk and eggs can become quite a "coaxing" job as every homemaker knows. But when these nutritional foods are offered in a Fluffy Orange Coconut Tapioca, all thought of duty is banished, and they appear simply as a "tempting" dessert, which will be enjoyed by all. And that includes the cook, too, because not only is she sure that her family is getting a nourishing dessert, but one that is quick and easy for her to prepare. A garnish of whipped cream and fresh orange segments provide the "frill" that any good dessert deserves!

Fluffy Orange Coconut Tapioca

1 package prepared orange coconut tapioca pudding; 2 cups milk; 1 egg yolk, slightly beaten; 1 egg white.

Place pudding powder in saucepan. Combine milk and egg yolk; add to pudding and mix well. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture comes to a boil and is slightly thickened. (Do not overcook, pudding thickens as it cools.) Remove from heat. Beat egg white until stiff, but not dry. Add hot pudding gradually to beaten egg white, stirring constantly. Cool, stirring once after 15 to 20 minutes. Turn into sherbet glasses or serving bowl. Chill. Garnish with whipped cream and fresh orange segments, if desired. Makes 5 [illegible].

Westgate Edges Avondale 2-1 To Take Church League Lead

Westgate Evangelical took over undisputed possession of first place in the West Senior Church Softball League this week by nosing out previously undefeated Avondale EUB by a score of 2-1 in a brilliantly played contest.

Bill Whittaker of Westgate and Chick Larken of Avondale were both in top form, with the former allowing six hits (all singles) and fanning 13 while the latter allowed five safeties (three of which [illegible] for extra bases).

The league leaders counted a run in the first on a double by Alutius and a single by Smith, adding another unearned run in the second, while Avondale counted ones in the fifth and had two runners on base in the final inning, but Whittaker retired the final two batters without any scoring. Smith led the attack with two safeties, while Carroll garnered three of the losers five safeties as Mawhirter stood out defensively.

West Park Methodist continued in contention for first round honors by walloping Hillcrest Baptist by a count of 15-5. Dick Smith tossed four hit ball for the Methodists, while B. Arnold with three safeties and T. Arnold with a bases loaded home run led the assault.

Hoge Memorial outscored Hilltonia EUB by a count of 10-6 as D. Wolfe with three bingles and the relief twirling of Weidener stood out.

Community Christian defeated winless Burgess EUB by a [illegible] of 7-3. The feature of this contest was the defensive play of Rev. Lorenz who performed at [illegible]ond base for the winners.

Prevent Fireworks Casualties

In a final appeal to all parents, Harry J. Callan, Ohio State Fire Marshal, is urging them not to purchase illegal fireworks for their children, thereby preventing serious accidents from this source.

Last year, a man and a young girl lost their lives from the use of fireworks. One boy lost his eyesight, two other boys each lost a hand, and fifty-four lesser injuries were incurred. Forty-one fires were also started from this source.

"We must remember," Callan continued, "that the fireworks sold today are much more powerful than in past years and therefore are much more dangerous. Not only can they cause serious injuries, but traffic tieups and panic often result from their use."

According to the Attorney General's Opinion, all fireworks including sparklers and snakes in the grass, are illegal and the purchase of them is against the Ohio law.

The best protection is usually prevention and to the end that not a single child is injured or killed in Ohio from fireworks this year, we can have protection by refusing to be a part of fireworks bootlegging.

Enjoy the Fourth by enjoying it safely.

Perfect Peace

Little Georgie received a new drum for Christmas, and shortly thereafter, when father came home from work one evening, mother said: "I don't think that man upstairs likes to hear Georgie play his drums, but he's certainly subtle about it."

Father: "Why?"

Mother: "Well, this afternoon he gave Georgie a knife, and asked him if he knew what was inside the drum."

The editor was busy at his desk doing nothing, when the phone rang. On the other end was an irate subscriber. "I noticed in your paper," the reader shouted, "that you printed I was dead!"

"Zatso?" was the indifferent retort. "Where are you speaking from now?"

Odd Reminder

A traveler just home from abroad was describing an earthquake.

"Most amazing thing I ever saw," he said dramatically. "The hotel rocked. Cups and saucers flung over the room, and—"

His meek-looking companion turned suddenly white.

"Great Scott!" he cried. "That reminds me. I forgot to post a letter my wife gave me two days ago."

Lucky Groom

"Miss Alice ain't home," said the colored maid. "She's gone down town to de class."

"What class?" asked the caller.

"Miss Alice she's fixin' to git married, you know," said the maid, "an' she's taking lessons in domestic silence."

Annual Horse Show And Rodeo Benefits Cerebral Palsy Victims

Many Hilltop residents are among Columbus people cooperating with the Achbar Grotto for the fourth annual Mid-western Horse Show and Rodeo, July 3-6, at Ohio State fairgrounds coliseum to benefit cerebral palsy victims.

As in the past years, the Grotto will have as guests thousands of less fortunate children at matinee performances. Hilltop residents are listed among the hundreds of business and professional men and women of Columbus and surrounding towns who are cooperating in the program by purchasing tickets for them. Others are also members of local unions who are dipping into their treasuries for the cause.

Considered the most complete western horse show in America, the program is approved by the American Quarter Horse Association, the Morgan Horse Association and the Palomino Horse Breeders of America.

There are classes for Arabians, Morgans, palominos, quarter horses, western horses and ponies, besides contests for cattle roping, cattle cutting, wild bronco and steer riding on the extensive purse and trophy list.

Other highlights of the program include nightly appearances by WLW-C television star, Sally Flowers and her partner, Billy Scott, and Tom Springer of Spencerville, O., riding his high-schooled palomi stallion, "Golden Sunset."

Members of the Achbar Grotto sponsor the first three days of the rodeo. The fourth day—Sunday—is directed by the Western Horse Exhibitors Association of Ohio, Inc., Earl Lambert, 544 Parsons-av, president.

Proceeds of the show will benefit the United Cerebral Palsy Association of Columbus and Franklin County, Inc.

Tickets for the children are still available. The Grotto furnishes the bus transportation and gives each child a balloon, soft drinks and popcorn.

Members of both the Grotto and the United Cerebral Palsy Association are selling tickets for the rodeo. Edwin F. Brinkman, 1196 Lockbourne-rd, is the rodeo's general chairman.

More than half of the pedestrians killed in traffic accidents are responsible for their own deaths.

CARD SHOWER FOR DON THATCHER WAS VERY SUCCESSFUL

Don Thatcher, Room 136, Benjamin Franklin Hospital, was quite surprised last week to receive many notes, cheer cards and anniversary cards as a result of a card shower planned in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Thatcher's wedding anniversary, June 24.

When visited by his wife he confided that he "couldn't figure it out." Cards were arriving in an abundance from old friends and neighbors who had been out of contact with the Thatchers for years.

Mrs. Thatcher then showed him the article published in the Hilltop Record June 19, explaining the card shower. She expressed her gratitude for the many friends who saw the article and made the shower a big success.

Thatcher, who has been in the hospital for 17 months, was very encouraged by the many notes and thrilled that so many of his friends remembered him.

Mrs. Thatcher and their son, Dale, reside at 235 Quernsey-av.

Spring Flowers Decorate For June 8 Nuptials

Baskets of spring flowers, seven-branch candelabra and palms transformed the sanctuary of Chicago Avenue Church of Christ into a lovely setting June 8 for the 2 p. m. wedding of Miss Dona Albright and Mr. Eugene Jordan. Rev. Stanley Bartlett officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alonso Albright, 34 Jones-av. She was given in marriage by her father. Mr. Jordan is the son of Mrs. Mildred Eddy, Wellston, O.

The bride chose for the occasion a gown of white marquisette over satin with tiers of lace over the shoulders and skirt. The long tight sleeves of her gown fell into points at the wrist; the full-gathered skirt terminated in a formal train. Her three-quarted length veil was gathered at either side with clusters of lily-of-the-valley and orange blossoms. She carried a white Bible to which was fastened an orchid.

Miss Shirley Gibson was maid of honor for the bride with Misses Susie Albright, Martha Fast, and Nancy Pharis serving as bridesmaids. The young women wore floor length gowns of net over taffeta in the following colors respectively — orchid, blue, pink, and yellow. They wore hair clusters in matching shades and carried bouquets of yellow and pink roses.

The little flower girls, Barbara Albright and Diane Pharis, wore dainty white frocks of marquisette and carried small baskets filled with roses.

Best man was Mr. Carl Albright and ushers were Mr. Robert Albright, Mr. Roger Ewing, and Mr. Jack Johnson.

The bride attended Central High School and is employed at the Pied Piped Nursery, 1163 Madison-av. Mr. Jordan attended high school at Wellston, O., and is associated with Bales and Fast Decorators, 2760 W. Broad-st.

The couple will make their home in a trailer on Harmon-av.

Pity the poor youngsters who were born thirty years too late! They can't remember when the Fourth of July was a day that was looked forward to for months, practically since Christmas! The day began at day-break like Christmas, only it was noisier because of the firecrackers. There were family and community picnics with horseshoe pitching and crop-comparing for the men and kindly gossip, children-comparing, recipe-exchanging and the preparing of the huge picnic lunch (it was called dinner) for the ladies. There were long dry political speeches that nobody bothered to listen to; watermelons; (about ten for the price of one, now) the delicious reward for tedious hours of turning the ice-cream-freezer crank; giggling among the teenaged girls when a dash'ng young blade played love songs on his mandolin and sang in an off-tenor voice. There were scheeches from the pig-tailed set when freckled little boys chased them with garter snakes, and band concerts and fireworks at night. On the drive home behind slow but sure horses, everybody swallowed yellow dust which nobody seemed to mind. Then a tired but happy bedtime for children whose sleepy eyes were still full of stars and fireworks. It was fun. Of course there's still lots of noise, though not of firecrackers. This year, especially, there'll be long dry political speeches, courtesy tv and radio, and we won't be moving much faster along the highways than we did in buggies in the old days, with cars bumper to bumper.

Excerpts from mail—Nowadays, one governor says to the other governor: "I'll vote for you if you're nominated" . . . "We stopped at a filling-station in Georgia and they gave us a paper bag for trash. The attendant says during the tourist season the highways, even through towns, are cluttered with banana skins, candy and bread wrappers and even cartons and wooden boxes. Some towns have trash-containers along the highways, but according to the attendant, motorists seldom use them."

For hot weather laughs (from Seydell Quarterly): There is nothing quite so satisfying to a woman as a double chin, provided it's on her husband's former girl friend.

It's sad for a girl to reach the age When men consider her charmless, But it's worse for man to attain the age When girls consider him harmless.

By Local Missionary Woman

In the village of Parmasakatoe, British Guiana, a local woman teaches school, runs the dispensary and preaches the gospel. Nora Higgins, who formerly resided with her mother, Mrs. Georgia Higgins, 1068 Chicago-av, was sent into the native village in April 1951, by the combined efforts of Pilgrim Holiness Church where she was a member as a child and Third Street Mission where she was secretary for a number of years.

The village of Parmasakatoe is accessible only by 10 miles of narrow footpaths into the mountains. Mail is delivered and sent out once a month by foot runnaya who meet the plane at Kato, 10 miles away. The climate is hot with a rainy season. Straw huts with dirt floors serve as a home for Miss Higgins, and also as the dispensary and the school. Hunting season, for wild hogs, comes twice a year and is a period of celebration.

According to Miss Higgin's sister, Mrs. Dorothy Gray, 1567 Safford-av, money is of no value to the natives at Parmasakatoe. Their handwork, mostly woven fans, baskets, etc., is bartered for with clothes and food. The wife of the chief of the tribe is the interpreter for the missionary who is well liked by the natives although somewhat resented by the older ones.

Miss Higgins was the first white woman ever to be seen by the native Partamonas tribe. Since her arrival they have learned to wear clothing (a great part of which is made by the white woman on her sewing machine) and have given up smoking. In addition to her school, which covers ages six to 13, she is a registered nurse and is the only "medical" person for miles. Her dispensary is the hospital for the whole tribe. Worship services are held in the "church" hut and since her first service when 101 "seekers" came to the altar, she has led countless services.

The missionary finds it necessary to raise her own vegetables and chickens in order to obtain the green things and eggs which are important to health. In recent weeks she has taken an infant to raise whose mother died in child birth. The baby stayed with relatives until it was six weeks old and then was brought to Miss Higgins.

The local woman is pledged to spend a period of five years with the Partamonas. Her father, John Higgins resides at 50 Meek-av, and she has three brothers, John W. at the Chicago-av address; Patrick, in the Navy; and Park L. on his way to Korea.

"THE FORGOTTEN ONE"

By James Norman Hall

For those who have longed for the solitude and beauty of the furthermost isles of the South Pacific, this book will serve as a manual, guide-book, and deterrent. James Hall, best known for his work on "Mutiny on the Bounty" and "Hurricane", gives us a half-dozen of his beautifully written stories in one volume. This covers the period from the early twenties to the days when fighter planes buzzed the tiny coral atolls in search of targets.

He paints a graphic picture of the desolate loneliness experienced by those who withdraw to the near-forgotten places far South of Tahiti, which even the trading schooners shun. The personalities in these tales are extremely human and geared to the slow, indolent life on the islands. There are no frills, just the hand-to-mouth existence provided mostly by raw fish and green cocoanuts.

The deep gratitude shown for small favors in circumstances like these is best illustrated by his neighbor Hop Sing, to whom is given a dollar's worth of vegetable seeds from "back home." Repayment is almost extreme in its lavishment.

The book also embraces the lives of Ronald Crichton, the Englishman who suddenly cut himself off from the world entirely. Captain Handy the tired old swashbuckler with his life story for sale, "Asterik," the Englishman-gone-native, Rivnac the deeply patriotic Czech who loved Dvorak's music, and Robert Frisbie (known for his Book of Puka-Puka") who combined the native life with a burning desire to write a masterpiece. All are presented in dramatic form —each with a story to tell.

Humor, pathos, and many other emotions are crammed into these six legends of the Pacific with the same perfect touch manifest in the author's larger works which were filmed.

SHILOH

By Shelby Foote

This is a different historical novel. The battle is truly the hero, just as the jacket proclaims.

The setting is Shiloh—a bloody, confused battle fought in early April 1862.

The story is told as it is seen through the eyes of five individuals and a small group. A chapter is devoted to the narrative of each.

The story of Johnson's advance is told in the narrative of Lt. Palmer Metcalfe. An excellent preview of the battle plan is given.

Then we shift to Capt. Walter Fountain who tells of Grant's victorious advance, the overconfidence of the Union Army.

Thus, the stage is set for the battle itself.

So, back and forth, from gray to blue the story passes.

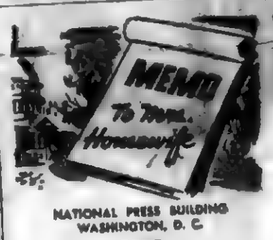
The first phase is seen through the eyes of Private Dade. He is a Mississippi recruit wounded in the arm in his first battle.

Next is the story as a Minnesota cannoneer who saw it. He ran from the horrors and stupidity of battle, joining the thousands of blue coats who hid under the bank in terror.

A Confederate scout, Sgt. Polly describes the daring and courage of Gen. Forrest, his frantic search for "top brass" to authorize a night attack on the leading of Gen. Buell's troops.

The sixth chapter is an eye witness account of a squad of Indiana boys. They drive the exhausted rebels before them on the second day of the battle.

The last chapter by Lt. Metcalfe tells of the retreat into northern Mississippi.



This is an original method of writing a novel as history. Yet as a novel it misses the mark.

It seems that attention is not focused upon the human response to the tensions, sights and noises of battle. They have been subordinated to the events.

However, this book may well stand as a quasi-historical account of a great, if not decisive, battle.

Lingerie lace should not be rubbed when washing. If soiled, use a soft complexion brush and lots of suds. Squeeze out water, don't wring. When lingerie becomes faded or yellow, extend its lifetime by tinting a soft pastel color with all-purpose dye.

It's Here!

By Betty Barclay

WITH the coming of June, we no longer think of summer as just around the corner — It's here! And keen interest in saving yourself extra hours in the kitchen, so that you can enjoy these glorious days, is there, too! Here's a recipe that will do just that—and give you a mouth-watering dessert at the same time. Not as impossible as it sounds, if you use that wonderful time-saver, instant white cake mix! And since Orange Cake Delight is at its best when served warm, you can prepare it at the same time you're preparing dinner, and by the time you're ready for dessert, it will be ready for you!

Orange Cake Delight.

1 package instant white cake mix; ⅓ cup milk; 1 cup finely-chopped dates; ½ cup chopped nut meats; 1 teaspoon grated orange rind; ⅔ cup milk; ⅓ cup orange juice; ¼ cup sugar.

Turn cake mix into bowl. Add ⅓ cup milk. Blend, then beat 2 minutes. Add dates, nut meats, orange rind, and ⅔ cup milk. Beat 1 minute longer. (Beat cake vigorously by hand or at medium speed of electric mixer.) Turn batter into 9x9x2-inch pan which has been lined on bottom with paper. Bake in moderate oven (375° F.) 45 minutes, or until done. Turn cake out on serving plate. Combine orange juice and sugar and pour immediately over hot cake. Serve warm.

Bible Comment:

Attitude of Mind, Not Momentary Mood, Shows Faith

AT the outset of Job's sufferings his wife appears. Many wives have been a support to their husbands in times of need, but such was not the case with Job's wife.

Apparently without any vital faith herself she virtually taunted Job with his own faith, saying to him, in effect, "Now, where's your God? What's the use of your faith, when you're covered from head to foot with boils? You'd better curse God and die."

What a woman! A man covered with boils could be pardoned for being irritable, but Job surely was doubly justified in losing some of his patience, and telling her that she was speaking like a fool: "Thou speaketh as one of the foolish women speaketh."

But in the rest of his reply wisdom conquered impatience. In memorable words he said: "What? Shall we receive good at the hand of God, and shall we not receive evil?" The record truly says that "in all this did not Job sin with his lips."

There were times when Job's faith and patient endurance were not so strong, when his suffering seemed greater than he could bear, and when he felt as Jesus was to feel on the Cross, as if God had forsaken him. One might call such a mood a not unnatural reaction to intense suffering. The outcry of Jesus was more an agonizing prayer than an expression of lack of faith. Did He not say to the penitent thief, "Today shalt thou be with me in Paradise?"

It is not the mood of the moment, but the attitude of mind and heart—and will—that is the essence of faith, and of trust of God.

The Bible teaches consistently that the good and upright are secure in God's keeping, no matter what may befall them, but it does not teach that they are immune from trouble. The prophets held their faith and were true to their mission through deep persecution and suffering.

But when Paul had listed all the troubles that could befall man, and all the forces that could war against him, his conclusion was that nothing could separate him from the love of God. That is the New Testament version of the Book of Job.

What's happened to America's spirit where pride in good workmanship is concerned?

On all sides, the careful attention to detail that once spelled "craftsmanship" is dying out. Some blame it on modern production methods, others on the depression which lasted so long, still others on the recent war. All good reasons . . .

But no matter what the reason, the church recognizes that if pride of good workmanship is lost, an integral, vital part of America is lost with it. When a man cannot say, as Ruskin said, "I know what pleasure is, for I have done good work," he not only loses a part of his heritage—he is in grave danger of losing part of his soul.

God gave us a conscience that tells us when work is good or bad. Churches help to keep that conscience clear for all who heed the word of God. For any church knows that good workmanship is—in the highest sense—a part of the Golden Rule which says, "Love thy neighbor as thyself."

We are what our neighbors do for us. They are what we do for them. And the man who knows, in his conscience and heart, that his work, no matter what it may be, is the best that he can do is doing much more than satisfying his own inner craving for craftsmanship.

His gift of good work is, in all truth, a blessing to himself, a contribution to his community, and one of his highest tributes to his God.

That ye might walk worthy of the Lord, unto all pleasing, being fruitful in every good work. . .

News of Rome

By Mrs. J. W. Whalen

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Bateman and sons, Jerry and Johnny, 124 Buena Vista-av, have recently returned from a delightful 10-day trip to Florida. One of the main points of interest en route was Okefenokee Swamp Park (Land of the Trembling Earth, near Waycross, Ga., (birthplace of the Swanee River). Alligators, bears, snakes, and beautiful birds all live in this sanctuary. The Batemans enjoyed a boat trip through the swamp with the water like black glass and dotted with alligators who made their own particular sound effects and came right up to the boat dock. Later they visited St. Augustine, Fla., and found it most interesting. They went on a tour through the Fort Castillo de San Marcos built near the year 1672 by the Spanish, and is the oldest existing fortification in the U. S. Geronimo and his band of Apaches were once held prisoners here. Also of interest to the Batemans were the old stone gates of the city, the oldest wooden school, the oldest house, an old grist mill which is still in operation and an old blacksmith shop with many implements in readiness for use. They viewed Fort Matangas which is outside of St. Augustine in the harbor.

Next they visited the fabulous Marine Studios, Marineland, Fla., and were impressed by the entertaining porpoises at feeding time. They discovered many species of deep sea life, i.e., shark, swordfish, sting-ray, huge sea turtles, etc. There are 200 portholes on different levels to view the undersea life. A diver goes down among all these specimens to feed the friendly porpoise.

A Disappointing Sight

It was an odd sight on July 4 when this scrivener went journeying up and down West Broad-st following up an editorial carried in these prints last week anent display of the American Flag on Independence Day. From Central-av westward to the corporation limits only eight places had "Old Glory" unfurled to the breezes . . . It was disappointing in a sense of the word, but more so it was alarming . . . alarming from the standpoint that we who call ourselves Americans have become so obsessed with enjoyment for our own individual selves that we have lost that feeling of patriotism that goes with the display of "Our Flag". Around and about the Hilltop in the residential districts we noted many flags in evidence. In many cities, small holes have been drilled into the sidewalks near the curbs, providing a place for flag standards to be inserted, so that on days that the Flag should be displayed, business houses have a ready-made place to display "Old Glory". Provision of such facilities along W. Broad-st and Sullivant-av would make an ideal project for one of our Hilltop civic organizations.

Veteran West High Teacher Begins Retirement Next Fall

Blanche Kern

"I will always love West High" are the sentiments of a woman who for the past 35 years has been associated with the local school as teacher then vice-principal. Blanche Kern, 1176 Westwood-av, who will go into retirement as of next fall, first began at West High School (now Starling Junior High) in 1917 as a Latin, English and biology teacher. In 1925 she was made vice-principal under Principal Otto Magly and later moved with the school to its present location in 1929.

The gradual yet tremendous growth of the school is a source of wonder to Miss Kern, who says, "A lot of things have happened . . . gradually."

In 1937 Magly retired and was replaced by H. H. Reighley, who was principal of the school until his death in March of 1945. During the remainder of that semester Miss Kern acted as principal in addition to carrying on her duties as vice-principal. Irvin F. Young became the principal in the fall of the following year.

A graduate of Ohio State University, with a Bachelor of Arts degree plus a Bachelor of Science in education degree, Miss Kern began her teaching in St. Louis, where she was attending Washington University. She then returned to Columbus and taught one semester at Mt. Vernon Junior High School as a physical education instructor prior to beginning at West.

The white-haired "grand lady" of West has plans to travel this fall. "I have always wanted to travel in October," she said, "but when you're teaching school it's just impossible." She may select New England for her travels. For at least a year she plans to take a deserved rest, gradually working into many of the outside activities which she has partially neglected during recent busy years.

A member of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, she expects to become more active in the work there as well as with the YWCA and the Arena Club, OES. She is on the state committee for the Classical Conference and will retain her membership in the Columbus Latin Club.

Miss Kern is a charter member of Delta Kappa Gamma, teachers' honorary, and is a member of both the OSU Alumni and Alumnae Clubs. She belongs to the state and national Deans' Association and the American Association of University Women. She has held office and taken active part in many organizations during her career as vice-principal of West.

For 15 years the YWCA counselor at West, she hopes to keep in contact with young people by working with the Y. In planning for the future she said wistfully, "Oh, I'll have so much time."

Plan Camp Chase Civic Group Anniversary

Camp Chase Civic Association, Inc., which was formed mid-summer 1951 to fight the "low-cost housing" proposed at Demorest-av and Sullivant-av, will celebrate its first anniversary with a public dance Saturday, July 12, 8:30 to 11:30 p. m. at the new shelter house located at Westgate Park. Members and friends will be admitted free to the dance which will feature Ziggy Coyle's band in both round and square dancing.

After the success of the association in halting the proposed housing at Demorest and Sullivant they cooperated to bring the Rosary subdivision into the area. It will consist of modest homes and apartments which the association feels are more suitable to the neighborhood.

Next problem tackled by the civic group was the stoppage of work on the new Westgate School. Parties to the agreement were brought together by the group which was important in arranging for work to continue.

Through the efforts of the Camp Chase group the Brookshire Addition has been zoned for singles and doubles instead of proposed apartments. They have continually been "on their toes" to see that no undesirable zoning be allowed in the community.

The association has supported the improvements on Wilson-rd and has been able to slow down traffic on Demorest-rd to protect the children playing at Westgate Park.

The group is now working on the sewerage problem affecting the Westgate area which was outlined by J. J. Jones of City Council at its last open meeting.

Mrs. Sally Finke, 261 Demorest-rd, secretary, is announcing that new membership cards are available. Family membership are now available for $3 the former per person cost. Membership may be mailed to Mrs. Finke, including the names of all the adult members of the family, address and telephone number.

3½-Yr.-Old Is Leukemia Victim

Sue Ann Prince, age 3½ years, pictured above, was released from Children's Hospital last week and returned to her home at 2150 Fishinger-rd, a victim of leukemia. Mercifully unaware of the tragic battle being waged by the red and white corpuscles within her body, she still smiles and talks a little, although punctuated frequently by "Mommy, I feel so tired." Too much company seems to stimulate her too much, but her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Frank Prince, say she loves to receive cards with animal pictures.

The Prince family formerly resided at 2468 W. Broad-st. Mr. Prince is an employe of The Hilltop Record.

Slippery W. Broad Hill Causes Four-Car Crash

From the appearance of the wrecked cars in the above photo one would be led to believe that some one was seriously injured, but fate smiled graciously on the driver of the car at the right as he drove eastward on the West Broad-st hill Thursday afternoon after the brief shower. He first went into a skid and put a city truck into a light standard then careened across the dividing line and sideswiped a car driven by Bruce Cole, 321 S. Oakley-av, then stopped the skid when he crashed head-on into the car (at left above) driven westward by Charles Ford of Roosevelt, Ohio. Traffic on W. Broad-st was impaired for more than an hour as a result of the accident.

Hilltop Soldier Is Listed As The Shortest Man In The U. S. Army; Height, 4 Feet 10 Inches

The army's shortest soldier and the two tallest ones are all members of the 1st Cavalry Division's 8th Regiment, now stationed in Japan. Sergeant First Class Eugene H. Cowgill, four feet, 10 inches tall, from 1333 Wilson-rd, stands between Pfc. Harvey R. Miller (left) of Minneapolis, Minn., and Pvt. Alonzo L. Dutton of Tuscaloosa, Ala., who are six feet, 9 inches high. Note that Cowgill is only slightly taller than an M-1 (Garrand) rifle with bayonet. (U.S. Army Photo)

WITH THE 1ST CAVALRY DIV. IN JAPAN—The shortest man in the Army, four-foot ten-inch Sergeant First Class Eugene H. Cowgill son of Harvey W. Cowgill, 1333 Wilson-rd, is getting tired of his buddies' corney gags.

A lot of his friends are greeted with "Hi, tall in the saddle," but as Cowgill gets are greetings like "Don't stand in a hole, shorty you might catch cold," or "Get off your knees; the game is over."

Cowgill wears a size three and a half shoe and a size 14 x 26 shirt, which is still slightly too large. The small shoes, he figures, are actually a blessing. At inspection time, he has only about one-third the surface to polish that most of the men do.

A true sports fan, the 143 pound soldier plays second base for the regimental baseball team and, naturally bats in the lead off spot. He has a total of 20 walks out of 28 times at the plate and is a good base runner.

Actually, however, Cowgill is good natured and the only time he wants to be taller (except when the men crack their corny jokes) is when he takes his girls out. She towers over him by one-half inch.

Cowgill is a 1945 graduate of Hilliards High School.

SUMMER EVENING

The porches fill with people and with shadows.
The long hot day is not now day, but talk;
It fills the mouths with twilight conversation.
A child, not hearing, skips rope on the walk.
A bird, still undecided on its lodging,
Moves inky wings among the leaves, and far
Above the roofs the summer night lies breathless,
Stabbed with a star.

Long ago, Cord Meyer, Jr., said: "If war comes, it will not be because it was inevitable but because too many people believe it to be inevitable."

It takes all kinds. His kind is too rare. Not long ago he sent me his photograph, accompanied by a note which said "Lest you forget." He is just about the last person I could forget. He has been in a wheelchair since shortly after his graduation from high school, but some of us who can move about under our own power should have his cheerful spirit, sense of humor and good, old-fashioned—well, intestinal fortitude! I've known and loved him for a lot of years and have never heard him complain. And I've never heard him say an unkind word about anyone. He is active in Courage, Incorporated; is an avid contestor and has won many prizes; has written and sold numerous short stories and articles, and writes a weekly column for a Columbus paper. As you've probably guessed, he is Don Alban of 319 Chittenden-av — and as they say on tv, "he's quite a guy."

To paraphrase an old saying, one touch of trouble makes a whole neighborhood kin. Recently a neighbor became ill and had to be rushed to the hospital. Everyone stopped what they were doing and wanted to help. Sometimes we take it for granted too much, but that is America and it's wonderful.

Excerpts from mail: "Did you ever notice how big that speck of dust in the corner looks, when a visiting 'good house-keeper' keeps eyeing it?" . . . From Hope Gibson—"Read 'Brave Interval,' you'll love it" . . . From a retired school teacher—"The thing I miss most are the children and of course the parents who were sometimes a real problem."

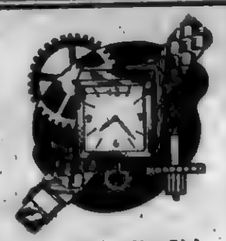
Grove City Centennial Starts July 20

Production work has begun in earnest for "Centurama" the mammoth historical pageant that will be the crowning night feature of the Grove City Centennial celebration at Beulah Park from Tuesday night, July 22, through Saturday, July 26.

Celebration week begins Sunday, July 20, with a group of three special centennial services, one in each of the three Grove City churches.

In connection with the pageant will be the Queen Contest. The winner will be known as Miss Centennial while the second runner-up will be Miss Grove City. The other 10 winning girls will be princesses and maids of honor in the court.

Whiskers are sprouting everywhere among the men of the village. The "Brother of the Brush" membership is growing daily according to chairman of the whisker contest, Marshal Albert Evans.



Lots of good, clean fun is assured for both young and old. There will be a midway, concessions, parade and special interesting features planned for each day.

"Mister, how do you account for the fact that I found a piece of rubber tire in one of the sausages I bought here last week."

"My dear madam, that only goes to show how the automobile is replacing the horse everywhere."

When the Valparaiso, Ind., water department received a telephoned request to turn off the water at Bants School and a clerk asked the called who was authorizing the action, the small-voiced reply was: "Us kids, so we won't have to go to school."

BOY SCOUT NEWS

Cub Pack 56 from Hoge Memorial held the annual picnic in Westgate Park Sunday afternoon and evening of July 6. Bob Mead, the activities man, was in full charge. Bob Morris and Gene Burr helped.

The fun started with a baseball game for everyone, including the mothers. The Cub Scouts and their mothers participated in a clothes pin race Mrs. Gene Burr was the winner. A three-legged race between fathers and boys was won by John and Lloyd Schroy. The ball throwing contest and the foot race for boys only was won by David Morris. After a basket dinner and plenty to eat, with ice cream for dessert there were two guessing games for all. Marlene Tillman won the peanut jar contest, and Mrs. C. F. Lauer won the "kitchen powders" contest.

To cap it all there was a balloon bursting game and Gayle Linson was the winner. After a nice visit and talk about the fineness of Cub Scouting everyone went home, already thinking about the coming August picnic.

YOUR YOUTH

By Bob Schmidt

The "Y" Summer Fun Club is now well underway and many Hilltop boys are enjoying the special program events of this Fun Club. Nature hikes, rubberneck tours, baseball and movies have been well received but our greatest program demand has been for a craft and hobbies class.

The "Y" office is being turned into a craft shop every Tuesday and Thursday morning from 9:30 to 12 and the boys are now requesting additional schedule time. At the present time they are constructing and building model airplanes. It is a pleasure to welcome two volunteer assistants, Jim Eltzroth and Bill Brannan who will be counselling your boys in this craft shop. Parents are welcome and are urged to come and observe these craft classes.

The "Y" boys will again attend a Red Bird baseball game Monday, July 14. We will need transportation for these boys so please call the "Y" office and volunteer your car. This is an opportunity to attend a good ball game and enjoy a wonderful evening of fellowship with the "Y" youth of the Hilltop.

During the month of June your Hilltop "Y" had an opportunity to reach many youth and adults through their varied program. There were 75 sessions of various events and organizations and a total attendance of 3019. The significant factor is that all of these groups meet out in the community in our decentralized "Y" program.

Our American Heritage

By
Mrs. H. H. Herron

America, mother of forty-eight states, endowed by the best on earth.
Stretching from the broad Atlantic to the blue Pacific's shore,
Rivers like silver ribbons run through her land.
Lofty mountains and beautiful valleys, starlit forests.
Summer winds that creep from flower to flower,
The sun, the moon, the stars, the lakes, the hills and plains.
Soft fleecy clouds and shining crystal dew, vagrant, fragile flowers,
Winter's snow and summer's rain, meandering paths and broad highways.
Villages nestling in her countryside, lazy, sleepy, friendly little towns,
Children's voices sweet and clear, laughing, playing, unafraid.
Twilight and the sound of church bells, large cities humming with industry.
This is America, a happy land.
The threshold of her land is worn by the feet of people of all nations seeking refuge,
Within her walls are love and peace and gracious living.
There is strength for the weak, a haven for the poor and needy, a refuge from storm,
She extends the hand of friendship.
Here in little homes on little streets, we live, we learn, we love.
We hope, aspire, resolve and pray. We are content, our life is free.
This is America a happy land.
Then suddenly the earth is rocked by war.
Our way of life is threatened, forgotten are our plans and dreams for self.
America calls.
We organize for our rendezvous with fate.
Our sons and daughters hasten to answer the call of their country,
Children become men and women overnight.
Our cities and the lazy little towns hum with activity.
The quiet countrysides and majestic mountains listen to new sounds
Training planes and the boom of guns. Our children become our shield.
They fight on paths around the world and sail the seven seas.
They sweep the ocean's floor and fly the starlit path of sky.
Through sun or fog, through night or storm, they keep our flag upon its mast.
Heroic deeds, time will record,
Faint echoes from the past are heard, Pilgrim Fathers, Washington at Valley Forge,
Lincoln at Gettysburg, Remember the Maine, and Flanders Field—where poppies grow.
Pearl Harbor, Bataan, Africa, Anzio, Normany, MacArthur's promise to Wainright on Corregidor.
Our flag on Mt. Suribachi.
America's immortal commanders, Washington, Harrison, Scott, Grant, Shafter, Pershing,
Eisenhower and the brave youth who gave their last full measure of devotion
To keep our country free. We took the torch they held.
Our pledge we gave—"To keep the faith." This we shall do.
They cannot rest, they cannot sleep, till victory is won.
When this is done and strong men stand beside the weak, with cheerful smile and helping hand,
Men who will keep our country's laws, guard its honor and its cause
Not for fame, glory, place or power, but for freedom and our flag.
Who with steadfast courage and unyielding faith, in the reality of a more ordered world
Will strive more mightily in peace than in war.
When old and young alike, rededicate themselves to devoted service
To uphold the faith of our forefathers and their gifts to us
The Declaration of Independence, Religious Freedom, the Constitution, the Bill of Rights, our Flag,
And in keeping peace on earth and good will among all people.
We will prove ourselves worthy heirs of our American Heritage.

Every year, fire burns thousands of people and destroys hundreds of millions of dollars worth of property.

In 1950, more than a third of the grade crossing accidens involving automobiles and trains occurred at crossings protected by gates, lights, bells, or watchmen.

Remember, fire has no size, it can be as small as a match or as big as a house . . . YOUR HOUSE!

Among young folks accident is the GREATEST cause of death.

The Fireworks Are Not Over Yet

Ticklers

By George

"It isn't what you did wrong on that play—you just didn't do anything right!"

A Canadian motorist was fined for careless driving when police found his car's brakes tucked away in his auto's trunk. Does save wear and tear.

Russia has taken to shooting down Swedish planes. But it's probably just a little neighborly target practice.

Do you recognize ACCIDENT as a threat to YOUR welfare and your country's welfare?

Do you help your family and others to be safety-minded, too?

Still smarting from four straight league defeats, the Camp Chase Post, Beasley-Grove Fords Junior Legion team won two straight over the Fourth of July week-end to climb out of their cellar position in the Legion League.

Mary Nel Elder and Bill Meyers Wed June 7 At Hoge Memorial

Mr. and Mrs. Bill W. Myers

The nuptials uniting Miss Mary Nel Elder and Mr. Bill W. Myers were read June 7 before the altar of Hoge Memorial Presbyterian Church which was decorated with white gladioli, white and blue delphinium, huckleberry trees and seven branch candelabra.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. K. M. Elder, 120 S. Southampton-av, approached the altar down a candlelit aisle marked with blue and white ribbons. Mr. Myers is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Myers, London, O. Rev. A. J. Wold performed the 2:30 p. m. rites.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white chantilly lace and nylon tulle with hand sewn sequiques outlining the sheer yoke. The molded lace bodice, buttoned down the back, was complemented by an overskirt of lace with a double dust ruffle reaching to the floor and extending into a chapel train. Her finger-tip veil of French illusion was caught to an open crown Juliet cap of matching lace edged in pearls. She carried a colonial bouquet of snow white roses, stephanotis and delphinium.

The bride's attendants were dress styled similar to hers in heavenly blue margo lace. The waltz-length gowns were designed with formal bodices with which they wore cover-up fischue stoles. A ruffle of nylon net extended below the overskirt. Folds of net formed the headbands for Miss Patti Wentz, Cleveland, O., maid of honor, and Miss Dolly Charas, Miss Mary Lou Wolske and Miss Nancy Boyle, bridesmaids. Miss Wentz carried a fan arrangement of yellow carnations, golden rapture roses and blue delphinium. The bridesmaids' fan bouquets were of white delphinium and yellow carnations.

Mr. George Scheel of Dayton served as best man with Mr. Al Pease, Mr. George Poulson, Steubenville, and Mr. Walter Munch, London, seating the guests.

Hostesses at the reception held at Mrs. Root's Party House were Mrs. Danny Davidson, sister of the bridegroom, Mrs. George Scheel of Dayton, Mrs. William West and Miss Chris Charas.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Elder chose a street-length dress of dusty rose lace and chiffon. She wore white accessories, including a corsage of white miniature orchids. Mrs. Myers was attired in a champagne lace and chiffon dress with which she wore green and orchid accessories. Her corsage was of purple orchid.

When the couple left for their wedding trip to Atlantic City, N. J., the new Mrs. Myers wore an irridescent lavender silk shantung suit with white accessories. The couple is at home at 33 Fairway-blvd.

About The Hilltop

It's cherry picking time. At our house the first bucketfull of those red ripe juicy berries go down the hatch like peanuts before the pies in the oven begin to brown . . . Wasn't it nice to see so many service men home on leave over the holiday. Among them were Frank Grimm, USN, and from Ft. Jackson, S.C., were Stan Charles and Jim Hamnerick and the Smiley brothers, Carl and Lee . . . Up from Camp Donaldson, S.C., were Bob Winkler and Dave Koch.

Cadet Donald E. Longmire, OSU student will augment his ROTC training in Camp Gordon, Ga. . . . Hilltopper Harry Overs, student, will spend the next six weeks in ROTC training at Ft. Knox, Ky. . . . We're happy to report Robert Hicks, bandmaster with the 37th infantry Division at Camp Polk, La., is recovering from an appendectomy, and the Hicks' daughter, Barbara, from an attack of polio . . . Eddie Seasenbrenner, OSU student in the College of Commerce, received all "A" during the spring quarter . . . In the College of Education at Ohio State Bill Van Atta, student, is listed on the "A" honor roll for the spring quarter.

Up in the Windy City for the next few weeks David Westlake, West High student and organizer of the Teen-Age Republican Clubs, is working in the Taft National Headquarters in the Conrad Hilton Hotel . . . Shortstop Roger Pritchard is the leading hitter for the Ternstedt team in the Columbus Industrial Little Baseball League . . . Ed. Planck was a victim of the heat while golfing with Jim Matheny . . . Last Friday Bob Stewart scored 86 on the Columbus Country Club golf course; the par is 66.

Mary and Mel Grady postcards us while vacationing with their family near Bargstown, Ky . . . Last week Allen Manring was married in Cincinnati to lovely Marcia Klopp, of that city. They are honeymooning in the south . . . Mr. and Mrs. Larry Davis spent the holiday week-end in Toledo . . . Saturday these fellows, Bill McCarrick, John Kiefer, Bill Davis, Julius Hoffman, Joe Foddy and Walter Gilham, will leave their B. W.'s home and start for the wilds of Canada, where they will rough it these next few weeks.

Popular Jack Shank drives a hard bargain; our favorite carpenter, Frank Knecht, came over to the lake and made new screens for Shank's cottage and then sold the old ones back to Jack for his office . . . It's hot for coonskin caps but the Bob Draper family has already received theirs from Senator KeFauver. Bob is a Franklin County delegate to the Democratic National Convention . . . Don't forget the American Legion baseball game, next Wednesday at the Red Bird Stadium. For tickets see Bill Ferguson, Camp Chase Post commander, or any member of the junior baseball team.

Your Neighbors Are Reading

Grass Beyond The Mountains — By Richmond B. Hobson, Jr.

This is the story of modern pioneers, twentieth century frontiersman, who discovered a great new cattle country in the Canadian Northwest.

Rich Hobson, the author, and his friend, Jan, leave their jobs as cattle ranchers in Wyoming in 1934 to seek the last great cattle frontier on the North American continent. The story is a chronicle of real adventure.

For over a year these men braved unknown hardships and risked their lives to attain their goal, finally reaching the "promised land"—four million acres of fine cattle country lying it British Columbia, north of the 52nd parallel between the Canadian Rockies and the Pacific.

It is a story filled with thrills and adventure with death an everyday companion; death from starvation, from wolves, and 70 degrees below zero temperatures and from a mis-step on a high mountain pass.

Those who like animals will appreciate the keen sense of understanding that existed between the men and their horses who were often their means of escape from certain death.

It is also a story of friendship; those who lived in small cabins in this country always welcomed a stranger and had room for one more. These people would unselfishly risk their own lives to help a friend.

This is a book which will be enjoyed by both young and old.

Flavor Your Hamburgers With a Little Surprise

BY DOROTHY MADDOX

EVERYONE likes hamburgers. Everyone likes a pleasant surprise. So [illegible] two together and you'll have an extra treat for the crowd.

Always allow one pound hamburger for four good-sized servings. The more times meat is ground, the more compact the fibers become. Ready-to-use hamburger, sold under current government regulations, will by ruling be ground twice. The patties made by this ready-ground meat will be firm. If you prefer a juicier product, buy the beef by the piece and have it ground only once. Choose boneless chuck, round, neck or flank for this. If meat is particularly lean, add 2 ounces of suet for each pound of lean meat.

Hamburger Surprises (4 servings)—One pound hamburger, 2 teaspoons salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, ½ cup finely chopped onion, 1 slice bread, cut in 4 squares, ⅓ cup chili sauce.

Mix hamburger and seasoning. Divide hamburger into 8 equal portions. Shape each portion into a round patty about 3 inches in diameter. Melt butter or margarine in a large skillet. Add onions and bread squares. Stir and cook until onions are tender and bread is browned and crisp. Push onions and bread squares to one side of the skillet. Place one-fourth of the cooked onion and a toast square in the center of each patty. Place remaining 4 patties on top of bread squares. Seal edges of each 2 hamburger patties by gently pressing them together with the back of a spoon. When bottom patty is cooked through, turn it over and cook top patty. Turn carefully in order not to break the seal. Cook about 7½ minutes on each side. Place cooked surprise on slices of tomato and then place on lightly toasted bun. Heat chili sauce in skillet until very hot and serve over the surprises.

Deviled Hamburger Patties (4 servings)—One pound hamburger, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ½ cup crushed cornflakes, 1 tablespoon fat, 10 pimiento olives, sliced, 1 can condensed cream of tomato soup.

Season hamburger with salt and pepper. Add cornflakes. Form into patties 1 inch thick. Brown in hot fat in heavy skillet. Add olives and tomato soup (or seasoned and thickened tomato juice). Simmer 10 minutes. Serve on toasted English muffins or split and toasted rolls.

Hamburger Surprises on sliced tomatoes served with hot chili sauce.

Frozen Bread Crisp

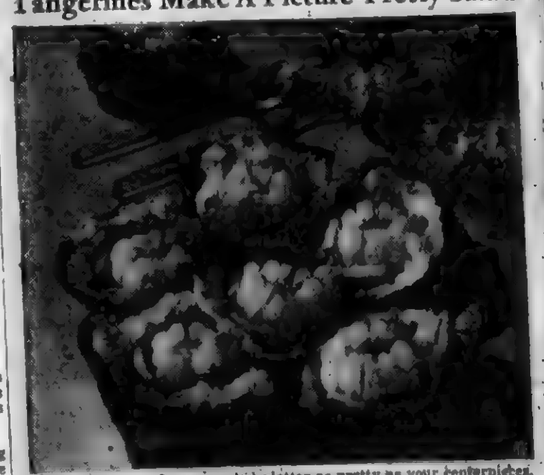
½ C. bread crumbs
¼ C. melted butter or margarine
½ C. brown sugar, firmly packed
¼ C. chopped nuts
½ gal. vanilla ice cream

Combine bread crumbs, melted butter or margarine and brown sugar in skillet and brown. Remove from flame; add chopped nuts. Spread ice cream in a refrigerator tray and top with bread crumb mixture. Place in freezing compartment of refrigerator for 1 hour before serving. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Refrigerator Ice Cream

½ C. sugar
1 Tbsp. cornstarch
1½ C. top milk
2 eggs, separated
¼ tsp. salt
2 tsp. vanilla flavoring
1 C. whipping cream

Combine sugar and cornstarch. Gradually stir in milk. Cook over simmer flame, stirring constantly until mixture thickens. Cover and let cook 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Stir a little of the hot mixture into the slightly beaten egg yolks, then stir them into remaining hot mixture. Cook over simmer flame stirring constantly for 3 minutes. Cool. Beat egg whites and salt until stiff. Fold into cooled custard. Add vanilla flavoring. Pour into refrigerator tray to freeze until firm throughout. Then place in a chilled bowl and beat with a rotary beater. Fold in the cream, whipped until it will just hold its shape. Return to refrigerator tray and freeze until firm.



For a different cooling dessert to serve on warm summer days, try Buttermilk Sherbet. It's delicious and best of all, inexpensive.

Buttermilk Sherbet

1 No. 2 can crushed pineapple
1½ C. sugar
1 qt. buttermilk (creamed)
1 tsp. vanilla flavoring

Drain the pineapple. Mix the drained fruit with the sugar and vanilla flavoring. Chill, then add to buttermilk and place in the freezing tray of refrigerator. Stir occasionally during the first hour of freezing. Freeze until firm. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Tangerines Make A Picture-Pretty Salad

Tangerines make your salad platter as pretty as your centerpieces. Florida's little zipper-skin fruit is here this month in abundance. Easy to section and prepare, it's a natural for salads and fruit cups. And like the other Florida citrus fruits, it's one of the best natural sources of vitamin C.

Tangerine Salad

6 tangerines
2 3-ounce packages cream cheese
2 tablespoons top milk or cream
¼ cup cranberry jelly or orange marmalade
Crisp lettuce cups

Cut peel of tangerines part way down to form 4 sections, and tuck them under like flat petals; separate tangerine sections but do not loosen from the peel. Place each tangerine in a crisp lettuce cup. Soften cream cheese and blend in top milk. Add jelly or marmalade and whip until smooth. Serve over tangerine salads. Makes 6 salads.

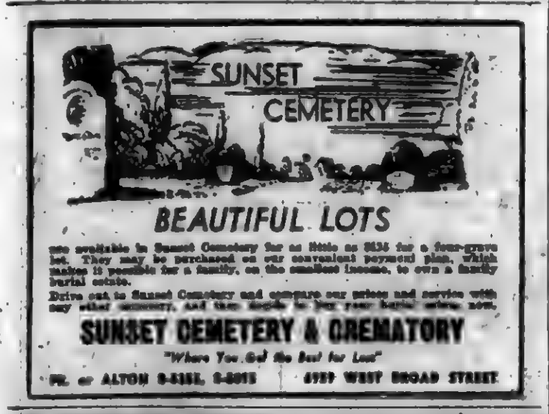
Any telephone in Ohio can be connected with the telephones in 90 countries on all continents and the maximum rate for a three-minute call to almost any place in the world is $12.



The first post-war public telephone book just off the presses in Moscow showed that Ivanev is the most common name there, with Petrov second and Smirnev third, but Smithonov was absent.

Political parties may make policies foreign and domestic, and may or may not be successful with them, but you and I must see to it that we live together helpfully in any event.

Bible Comment:

Ruin Awaits Those Who Would Depart From Wisdom's Path

IT is one thing to praise wisdom, but quite another thing to practice it. And the most unwise thing that can happen is to abandon wisdom once you have found it.

This is forcefully illustrated in the history of King Solomon, reputedly the author of the Book of Proverbs, and reputedly "the wisest man who ever lived."

At least two great and noble incidents are recorded of Solomon, and if all his life and action had been in accordance with these he surely would have deserved the fullest of his reputation for wisdom.

The one incident was the dream recorded in I Kings 3:5-12, in which, asked to choose whatever he desired from the Lord, he spoke in deep humility and asked, above all things, for an understanding heart to exercise good judgment and rule his people well.

The other outstanding incident was his prayer at the dedication of the Temple. Perhaps, like some addresses of other kings and rulers, it was written for him by some religious leader of saintly spirit and prophetic insight. But by delivering it Solomon made it his own, and if he had continued in the letter and spirit of that prayer he might have gone down in history as famous for his goodness and wisdom as he is for the outward splendor of his reign.

Instead Solomon took to himself many wives. Not content with the building of the Temple, he built for himself, in a great palace he surrounded himself with riches and luxury for which the people paid in oppressive taxes. Hearing it all while Solomon lived, they rebelled when his son Rehoboam succeeded him.

Solomon in the early part of his reign stands as a fine example and an exhortation to wisdom. But in the latter part he stands as a solemn warning of what happens to a man, even a great one, when he departs from wisdom.

Mrs. Myrtle Breakey

Funeral services for Mrs. Myrtle Breakey will be held Saturday, July 12, by Wiggans Mortuary in Vallejo, Calif. Mrs. Breakey and her husband, Ed, were involved in an accident several weeks ago near Williams, Ariz., while they were returning to their California home from a visit here.

Mr. Breakey will be moved tonight from the hospital at Williams, Ariz., to Pernamentti Hospital in Oakland, Calif., where he will submit to bone surgery. He is still in very critical condition.

The Breakeys are former residents of 50 N. Hague-av.

Customer: "Do you think you can shave me without cutting me?"
Barber: "Well, I'll make a stab at it."

Daughter: "Father, can my new boy friend replace your business partner that died this morning?"
Father: "It's all right with me—if you can arrange it with the undertaker."

"Will you excuse me if I bring up something unpleasant," said the pale green sailor, as he made for the starboard rail.

Can Tomatoes Whole for Salads

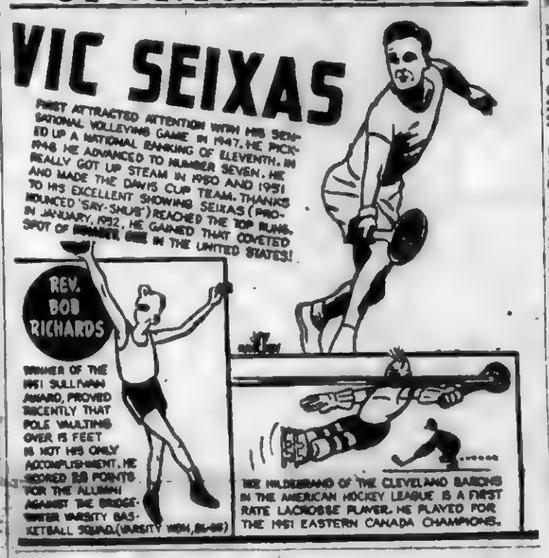
In home-canning tomatoes, the utility or regular pack, in which the tomatoes are pressed down tight, is all right for most purposes, but a few whole packed tomatoes come in handy. When chilled and cut in quarters, they add much to tomato aspic and other congealed salads.



Regardless of how you are going to pack tomatoes, use only clean, fresh, sound, firm, red-ripe tomatoes for canning. Every tomato should be washed, rinsed, and drained before scalding. To scald tomatoes without over-cooking, put 6 to 8 in a square of cheesecloth or wire basket and hold in boiling water about one-half minute. Dip in cold water and drain before cutting out the core. (Cut deep enough to get it all.)

After the core is out, slip off the skin and drop tomato into a hot Ball Mason Jar. If whole tomatoes are wanted, pack them closely without crushing and add hot tomato juice or water to cover. If using utility pack, press the tomatoes down tight until juice runs from them. One teaspoon salt is usually added to each quart of tomatoes, although tomatoes keep as well without salt.

Don't forget to leave almost ½ inch of headspace when filling the jar. Run a knife down between the tomatoes and the jar to bring up air bubbles. More liquid may be needed to fill space left when the bubbles are removed from jars of whole packed tomatoes. Don't bother to add more to the utility pack.

Wipe tops and threads of jars clean. Then apply your Ball Dome Caps according to instructions printed on the box. Process tomatoes in a boiling water bath, 25 minutes for whole tomatoes and 45 minutes for a utility pack.

At The Playgrounds

By Pat Martindale

By Pat Martindale

City playgrounds are preparing for the annual Lantern Parade to be held at Central High Stadium Thursday, July 17. Each playground will have a Lantern Parade on their own grounds as a preliminary to the city-wide affair. Lanterns are being made in the craft classes and is an activity that is entirely different from the usual playground activities. All boys and girls are invited to try their skill in making lanterns for this affair.

Holton Playground

Craft classes under the direction of Ann Day are being held each day at 2 p. m. At present lanterns are being made for the city-wide parade and the boys and girls in the Holton Park district are invited to join this unusual project.

The Advisory Council of Holton Playground has been announced as the following: Mr. and Mrs. Henry, Mr. and Mrs. Dixon, Mr. and Mrs. Erlenbach and Mrs. K. L. Martindale as publicity chairman Jim Storey is the playground director and will call council meetings whenever necessary. All parents in the Holton district are invited to attend the meetings and visit the playground often.

Monday, July 21, is Joseph Lee Day. Special games, contests and stories will be featured on the playground.

The movies shown at 8 p. m. on Wednesday by the Hilltop YMCA have become quite popular at Holton. Children and adults alike are invited to watch the outdoor movies.

Winners of last week's bicycle races at Holton were Ronnie Henry, Gary Tague and Jimmy Smith.

Glenwood Playground

On Tuesday, July 15, Glenwood Playground will hold its Lantern Parade as a preliminary to the July 17 parade. Glenwood's parade will take place on the playground at 2:30 p. m. and all boys and girls are invited to join the craft classes while there is still time to make their lanterns.

Joseph Lee Day will be held on July 16 at Glenwood and a special playday is being planned.

Thursday is movie night. Parents are invited to bring the kids for an evening of cool, quiet enjoyment.

There will be no square dance on July 17 due to the Lantern Parade. The center will close at 6 p. m. that evening. The next square dance has been planned for July 24 and also on July 31 on the tennis court.

Instructions are now being given on the tennis court in preparation for the Glenwood Tourney. Entries will be closed at 4 p. m. Monday, July 21, and the tourney will begin at 2 p. m., July 22. Central Point Shopping Center To Sponsor Wrestling Bouts

West Siders are to have free wrestling every Tuesday night during the rest of July at Central Point Shopping Center, it was announced Wednesday by Don M. Casto and Don M. Casto, Jr., the builders and developers of the new shopping center at Central-av and W. Mound-st.

Al Haft, Columbus wrestling promoter, joined in the announcement and added that wrestling stars who have been seen at Haft's Acre, Memorial Hall, and on television will be featured at the Central Point matches.

A wrestling ring is being erected on the blacktop along Harrisburg-pk at Central Point. There will be bleachers for early comers, plenty of parking for all, and standing room for those who come late.

Because this newspaper is published several days ahead of the scheduled hour for the wrestling matches, it cannot say now who will be matched in the first event. However, Al Haft assures that on next Tuesday there will be four of the major gladiators of the ring on deck.

There will be two 20 minute one fall matches, and one Australian tag match to conclude the evening's card.

First wrestling show is next Tuesday, July 15.

The Bean Dinner is Growing Up

We've taken the annual Hilltop Bean Dinner more or less in stride each year since its first inception with little thought that it has grown out of that "growing pains" stage and is now a full fledged youngster which has grown up and become a permanent part of the community life . . . this year marks the ninth time that the festive event is to be staged and to all appearances the men who have toiled to make the community get-together a success, have succeeded admirably . . . according to advance information, the event this year will be one to be long remembered, with eye catching displays and a full program of fun for the entire family . . . and of course the traditional plate of beans. Be sure to mark the dates of July 29 and 30 on the calendar as must dates to attend . . . and it's hats off to the baby that has grown up.

A Note of Sadness—

Sadness came to many of us this week with the passing of little Sue Ann Prince, as a victim of dreaded leukemia. Her father, Frank, a Linotype operator with these prints, oft times brought her during those tender three and one-half years into the office . . . her untimely departure from this vale of tears made it almost like losing one of the immediate family . . . Our hearts and sympathies are with the sad parents.

The Gay Philosopher Says—

"If you owe $50 you're a piker; if you owe $50,000 you're a business man; if you owe $50,000,000 you're a tycoon; and if you owe $50,000,000,000, you're a government."

Words to Remember . . .

"We must not let our rulers load us with perpetual debt. We must make our election between economy and liberty or profusion and servitude. If we run into such debts, we must be taxed in our meat and our drink, in our necessities and our comforts, in our labors and our amusements." — Thomas Jefferson. (1816)

Miss Harriette L. Brown

Announcement was made this week by the Columbus Board of Education of the appointment of Miss Harriette L. Brown as the new vice-principal of West High School succeeding Miss Blanche Kern whose resignation was announced last week. Miss Brown since the fall of 1943 has served as vice-principal of East High School from which post she is being transferred.

Miss Brown received her bachelor of arts degree at the University of Chicago, majoring in Latin and Greek. She began her teaching at Alliance High School, where she taught Latin. Later she returned to the University of Chicago to receive her Masters degree in business administration.

Coming to Columbus in 1939, she began teaching commercial subjects at East High School. In 1941 she was placed in charge of the attendance department girls section of that school and in 1943 was appointed vice-principal.

No specific hobbies attract Miss Brown, but she takes an active interest in a variety of outside activities, such as books, movies and the theatre. She is especially interested in the various school activities and organizations, particularly the girls' groups. Miss Brown is also an ardent follower of her school's athletic teams.

She is an active member in a number of business and professional organizations and at the present time is chairman of the Vice Principals and Deans group of the Central Ohio Teachers Association.

Hilltop Man Rescues Two From Scioto

Fred Blackburn, 2556 Sullivant-av, rescued two men from the Scioto River above Griggs Dam Saturday after Daniel Knick, river patrolman, was unable to find them.

Blackburn came upon the unidentified boatmen after their small craft capsized in the middle of the 50-foot stream. He found them clinging to the sides of their overturned boat and towed them and their boat to shore.

The patrolman said they probably were being too powerful a motor on the eight foot boat.

$25,000 Fire Hits Sullivant Apt. Building

Damage of $25,000 was the unofficial estimate caused by a fire which hit a combination-business apartment building at 2006 Sullivant-av Tuesday morning.

The fire originating in one of the three apartments above Bob's Red & White Supermarket spread from one apartment kitchen through the ceiling to the adjoining apartments.

Water damage to the boxes and cartons in the grocery located immediately below the fire area was unestimated.

Firemen reported that they believed the fire started from a stove in an apartment occupied by Patricia Reevier and Donna Doebert. It then spread to the apartment of Viola Radabaugh and then caused smoke damage in the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Vance.

Vance reported to the police Tuesday night that a wrist watch and two rings were taken from his apartment sometime after the blaze. He said that his apartment was "apparently left open or unlocked" after the fire was extinguished. He estimated his loss at $152.

George Bentz, co-owner of the building in estimating $25,000 damage said the apartments and the roof would have to be replaced.

Army Sounds Warning To Hilliards Folks

Dangerous conditions still exist at Hilliards from explosives being found there six months after a train wreck, Ft. Hayes army officials warned this week.

The commander of the newly designated bomb disposal unit at Ft. Hayes asked citizens of the Hilliards community to turn in all 20-millimeter shells they have found and those being turned up by the summer rains.

A Pennsylvania Railroad train was wrecked in Hilliards the evening of Jan. 2 this year. One of the cars contained the shells.

Some were thrown far off the right of way as others exploded. Some were covered by bulldozers in the field near the wreck.

Capt. John R. Pierce, commanding the bomb disposal unit, said that only a few days ago he was called to Hilliards to find one small boy had collected nine of the shells. Duty of the bomb disposal unit is to render the explosives harmless.

Pierce asked that persons who have collected the shells or find them turn them in at once to Hilliards officials or take them to Building No. T-225 at Ft. Hayes.

Each shell is 7.23 inches long and an inch in diameter. Capt. Pierce and two of his men found two additional shells on a tour of the wreck scene last week.

Shroyer Funeral Home Completes Remodeling Work

After extensive remodeling and renovation the Wylie S. Shroyer Funeral Home at 1278 W. Broad-st, has achieved the title of one of the architectural beauty spots on the West Side.

The new facade of the funeral home has been changed to that of pure Southern Colonial with typical two-story gleaming white columns and a broken pediment surmounting the entrance which is flanked on both sides with graceful iron railings.

A large iron and glass lantern hanging down six feet from the high ceiling of the porch was specially designed and made to order to fit the scale of the new front.

The interior of the building has likewise been remodeled and redecorated with concealed lighting, folding doors, new drapes, Hammond organ and complete air conditioning, providing West Side folk with one of the most modern funeral homes in Central Ohio.

Mr. Feinknopf of the Mark D. Feinknopf Co., handled the designing, planning, and supervision of all details of work in modernizing the West Side's oldest funeral home owned and operated by Mrs. Wylie S. Shroyer and Lowell S. Shroyer.

O. C. Montgomery Leaves West For Retirement After 35 Years

O. C. Montgomery

The West High School teacher who helped Architect Howard Dwight Smith plan the whole science department and the stage of the Powell Avenue School will retire this fall after 35 years with the school. O. C. Montgomery who began teaching physics and chemistry at the old West, now Starling Junior, in 1917, will now have more time for his insurance business and the Licking County farm on which he was born.

Montgomery graduated from Denison University at Granville, O., in 1904. The following year he began teaching in Illinois and taught subsequent periods in Pennsylvania and California. In Los Angeles high schools where he was a teacher for eight years, he had considerable experience with the stage which was of importance in the construction of the present West High stage and auditorium.

A great deal of the credit for West's superior science department facilities can be given to Montgomery. The local school is said to have one of the best physics labs in the city.

Montgomery who was supervisor of the West High Hi-Y for 17 years and for several years chairman of the athletic committee, hopes that West will continue to have her fine sports program as well as her excellent science department.

Enough hours have been accumulated by Montgomery at Ohio State University and the University of Chicago that, with the exception of a thesis, he has completed the work for a Masters Degree.

In the early 1940's he took additional work at OSU in aviation and flight training at Port Columbus to qualify him to teach a high-school pre-flight class. After one and a half years of teaching pre-flight he was called to Denison University where he taught science under the V-12 program. He was "furloughed" from West for the two and a half year period at Denison.

Montgomery is a member of the Grandview Masonic Lodge and has held office in the Columbus Teachers Association. He was instrumental in forming the Credit Union for teachers here and served six years each on the executive committees of the Central Ohio and the Ohio Education Associations. He is also affiliated with the National Education Associattion.

Born on a farm to which he will devote more time after his retirement, Montgomery made his home in Columbus prior to his teaching career. He will keep in touch with his many teacher friends through his insurance business which is the Teachers Group Insurance for Franklin County, Bexley and Columbus.

He lived on the Hilltop for a while and one of his two sons is a graduate of West. He and his wife who now reside at 1064 Elmwood-av, also have a daughter.

Five Are Injured

One juvenile was among the five persons injured in traffic on the Hilltop streets during the week ending July 13, according to traffic bureau analysis. 24 accidents resulted in property damage in 20 instances.

9th Annual Bean Dinner Program Is Announced

C. H. Campbell executive secretary of the Hilltop Business Association this week said that all plans for the Ninth Annual Hilltop Bean Dinner are now virtually complete with exception of a few minor details yet to be ironed out to the satisfaction of the committee in charge.

A tentative program has been outlined for the annual community festival which is scheduled to get underway at Westgate Park at 3 p. m. Tuesday, July 29 and continue through Wednesday, July 30. On Wednesday afternoon and evening all members of the Hilltop Business Association have been asked to close their stores.

One change which has been made thus far is the closing of registration for the Beauty Queen Contest and the Baby Contest. Deadlines for registration in these two events have been extended until 3 p. m. Thursday, July 24. The Bean Dinner committee has pointed out that no sponsors are necessary for any candidate to enter either of the contests, but that early registration should be made in order that appropriate plans may be made for both events.

Campbell said this week that another of the events originally scheduled for the bean dinner has been cancelled. This event was the Pet Parade, but due to the current rabies epidemic prevalent in some portions of the county, it was deemed best to cancel the event for this year.

Campbell said, too, that thousands of valuable coupons are now being distributed by the many Hilltop merchants who are members of the association. These coupons will be good for merchandise prizes of all kinds and types which will be given away at the Bean Dinner the evening of July 30.

The tentative program for the Ninth Annual Hilltop Bean Dinner is:

Tuesday, July 29

Afternoon—Baby Show, Bicycle Parade, Doll Buggy Parade.

Evening — WLW Midwestern Hayride; Baton Twirling Exhibition by Dave Kesling, former OSU Drum Major; West High School Rope Twirler exhibition and selection of the Bean Dinner Queen.

Wednesday, July 30

Afternoon — Casting Contest; games and contests for all ages; greased pole contest; Little League baseball game; softball game; serving of beans.

Evening—Grand Prize drawings; wrestling show featuring Joe Wolfe versus Tony Sinatra and women wrestlers Carol Carota against Ethel Brown. Matches are to be two out of three falls with a 60-minute time limit.

In addition to the many merchandise displays which will be erected by the Hilltop merchants, the Army Air Forces will have on display a huge B-50 Bomber and U.S. Navy will have amphibious equipment also on display.

No bean dinner would be complete without the various rides and concessions which will lend a carnival air to the entire community show. Rides this year are being furnished by Tim Nolan.

Mothers Plan March For Polio Drive

Announcement was made today by the Franklin County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis of plans for a Mothers' March on Polio, to be held during the last week in January, 1953, as part of the annual March of Dimes drive.

For one hour on one evening, 14,000 women volunteers will visit every home in the county to solicit funds to care for infantile paralysis victims. The Franklin County Mothers' March will coincide with plans for a state-wide Mothers' March under the general direction of Richard L. Kroesen, of Cleveland, state March of Dimes chairman.

This solicitation will replace the regular campaign of the Women's Division of the local March of Dimes and will require more than four times as many women workers as in former years. Women who are interested in taking part in this drive are urged to call the Chapter office at AD. 0684.

The Mothers' March on Polio originated in Arizona several years ago and the plan has swept the country, being climaxed by a highly successful Mothers' March in Cleveland in January of this year, when more than 40,000 volunteers raised $441,000 in one hour.

Polio incidence in Ohio and the nation has shown a marked increase this year over the number of cases experienced last year and it is hoped that the funds raised by the Franklin County Mothers' March will be sufficient to provide adequate care for every polio victim in the county, both during the active stage of the disease when hospitalization is usually required, and during the expensive post-polio stage when the patient must have highly specialized care.

RECIPE FOR PEACE
Give man an untilled acre and a plow,
A willing wife and children two or three,
Some future hope, something to cling to now.
So shall I live and labor, strong and free,
The peaceful master of his destiny.

Excerpts from mail: From P. D. Griffin—"I recently spent some time in the desert sections of Nevada and learned that the desert must be respected, if not feared, at all times. In certain seasons of the year the desert is very beautiful but it can still be cruel to the unprepared and the unwary. Perhaps the fact that I have lived in the desert and have seen some of the things it can do accounts for the fact that I see it through the eyes of a realist, not through the eyes of a romanticist" . . . From a friend in the south end—"I know you aren't very bright but I did think you could spell 'nickel'" . . . (The twas a misprint, DAHling. If there is one word I can spell, it's nickel because I got spelled down on it once) . . . From a radio fan—"After the Chicago fights are over maybe I can listen to my soap operas again and have something else to cry about" . . . From a Hilltopper neighbor—"Why not add the name of Katie Phillips at the Broad-Warren Market, to your list of nice telephone voices? . . . (It's added.)

Speaking of the Chicago affair—the chairman didn't have to rap for attention while the Paulist Boy Choir was singing, which should prove something — YOU figure what. Hope those kids didn't stick around the convention hall long enough to see the battles that followed for the adults didn't set a very good example for them. Kids fight fair. Two Hilltoppers were among the 21 Franklin County nurses and teachers who have just completed a three-week workshop, subsidized for local delegates by the Columbus Tuberculosis Society, at Ohio State University.

They are Avale McKinley, 253 N. Harris-av, adjustment teacher, Columbus public schools, and Mrs. Margaret Hyatt, Columbus State School staff, an auditor.

The annual workshop, staffed by experts from Central Ohio, is sponsored by the University Advisory Committee on School and Public Health. It deals with every type of problem concerning the school youngster, according to Mrs. Florence Fogle, workshop director.

For the fifth successive year, full scholarships for a number of local teachers and nurses were provided by the Columbus Tuberculosis Society as a part of its Christmas health education service. Other delegates from the county received partial subsidy from the society.

Included in the three-week workshop were panels and addresses by experts on hearing, speech, vision, nutrition, safety and physical education. Field trips included a day at the university's new dental building and a visit to Columbus State School.

Twenty-one visual aid films from the Departments of Health and Public Welfare, OSU, the Farm Bureau, and the Columbus Tuberculosis Society were added features. Graduate and undergraduate credits will be given workshop students. This year's institute was attended by the largest number of Franklin county delegates in the workshop's history. Eighteen others attended from Central Ohio.

Civic Groups Are Urged To Party Kids

The Humane Society has just released an invitation to all civic clubs, private groups, and fraternal organizations to promote circus parties for the children of their membership and those less fortunate, underprivileged children of our community.

It is the hope of the Humane Society that through such a combined effort all of the children of Columbus will have a nopportunity to enjoy the treat of a lifetime by seeing the Greatest Show on Earth - Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey Circus.

Circus time is Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 2 and 3, with afternoon and evening performances on Saturday, and afternoon only on Sunday. Doors open at 1 p. m. and 7 p. m. with the big show getting under way at 2:15 and 8:15.

"THE EPIC OF KOREA"
By A. Wigfall Green

If Korea is pictured only in your mind as a little far-away country divided into two factions with a battle line along the 38th parallel, you will discover many interesting things in "The Epic of Korea". And, if you have already read a great deal about Korea and feel your knowledge of its problems and history is fairly complete, read this new book anyway. You will find it very complete and up-to-date.

Korea is a land of the old and the new. Its mythical genesis dates back some four thousand years ago. Later, a wise Chinese nobleman named Kiga came to Korea and established his capital at Pingyang. He became the patron saint of Korea and the hero of various legends. His tomb even today is venerated. More than two thousand years ago, in 108 B.C., the authentic history of Korea begins with its subjection to China. At this time Korea was divided into many small kingdoms but as time went by it became more united. In the past Korea embraced Confucianism and Buddism but to this day the Korean believes in animism that heavens, the mountains, seas and forests are living spirits, sometimes beneficent but usually maleficent.

Korea is somewhat larger than the combined land and water areas of Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New York, New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland and it has a population twice that of Canada. Seoul, its capital, is a city of two million people and is complete with two ancient palaces. Throughout Korea there are vestiges of greatness known only in ancient Egypt, Yucatan and China. The Koreans have been fine bellmakers and in Seoul there is a famous one cast in 1468.

The people of Korea have been described in a very interesting way in this book. Their physical characteristics and modes of dress are different from the Chinese and Japanese. Their homes are sturdy and livable and their method of heating the home is so satisfactory and inexpensive that American engineers are experimenting with similar methods for heating American homes. Although the Korean children might suffer from cold and malnutrition, they are taught good manners. They play just as other children do with tops and kites or hopscotch. To the person who can see beyond squalor and poverty and warfare, Korea is a land of quiet and gracious living.

The last half of the book deals with the history of Korea during the last fifty years. Korea has become the proving ground of civilization, the arena in which the fate of mankind is being contested. Here the weakness and strength of man's attempt to create a world organization with power to restore peace and grant freedom to all people are being tried.

Don't miss reading "The Epic of Korea."

Central Ohio Caddie Tourney To Be On Hilltop Next Year

Central Ohio Caddies will compete Aug. 11-12 over the Twin Rivers Municipal Golf Course for the two berths in the seventh Annual PGA-National Caddie Golf Championship awarded bagtoters between 13 and 17 from this area.

Like the national classic, this year's event probably will be the last for its most familiar golf course. Both the Central Ohio tournament and the PGA-National Caddie Championship are scheduled for the new municipal course now under construction at Trabuerd on the Hilltop.

The two-day 36-hole Mayor Rhodes Central Ohio elimination tourney will be the eighth revival of the local caddie classic, which in 1945 was the forerunner of the eminently successful national meet.

As in the past, the Central Ohio winner will receive a $200.00 scholarship to any college of his choice. The local champion and runnerup in the senior division also will be entered in the National Caddie Tournament, at Ohio State University Golf Course, Aug. 19-23, inclusive, and its $5,250 in ten collegiate scholarships.

In announcing the Central Ohio event, open to caddies from all neighboring counties except Knox and Allen, where newspaper-sponsored qualifiers are being held, Mayor James A. Rhodes, National Caddie Association prexy, said:

"Professionals throughout this area again will be permitted to hold course tournaments or local competitions of more than one golf course and send their winners and runnerups into the Central Ohio finals. The deadline for entries in the Columbus tourney will be Thursday, Aug. 7. All clubs from Columbus proper must have their entries into National Caddie Headquarters, 50 W. Broad-st, on or before this deadline.

Rhodes announced that an anticipated field of about 300, including youngsters in a junior division for caddies 12 and under, would be reduced to the low 64 first day scorers for the second and final 18-hole round.

The House That Freedom Built

We live in the house that Freedom built. It is a beautiful house and a sturdy one. The architects were our Founding Fathers who wrote the Constitution. The Builders are Americans — past, present, and future.

Generation after generation of Americans has added to the House of Freedom, has repaired it, has kept it free of dry rot. Today that job is bigger than ever, for our House of Freedom is huge and the hopes of many free peoples are pinned to it.

Today's youth are tomorrow's builders. Today's boys are tomorrow's men. And that is why we would like to pay tribute to the youth organizations of today. These organizations are Building the Citizens of Tomorrow.

They are open to all boys, no matter what their race or religion. Any boy who wishes to, may be a member. The clubs belong to the boys.

The organizations offer all kinds of free-time activities—sports, crafts, reading, music. They offer help in finding part-time jobs. They offer a place to go — a place where a boy is always welcome. Boys have no need to hang out on street corners and get into trouble. They always have a place to go where they can do the kind of interesting things that they like to do.

No boy is ever forced to do anything. He chooses his own activities.

Even more important than all this is the way boys learn citizenship. Through the activities they learn to love democracy, fair play, clean competition. Nobody hauls them into a room and lectures them or tries to indoctrinate them. The boys see these fundamentals of our way of life IN ACTION. That is why these qualities stick to the boys all through their lives.

It's Always Time For Ice Cream

When summer is in the air plans for all kinds of dessert-parties abound. Ice cream is usually the star performer at bridal showers, birthdays, weddings, picnics and other festive affairs. When it is served with simple yet elegant touches, it steals the show every time.

Ice cream is about 80 to 85 percent cream, milk and milk solids with sweetening and flavoring added. The same valuable nutrients found in milk are present in ice cream, only in slightly different proportions. An average serving of ice cream gives about the same value as one-half glass of milk. It is a food—delicious, nutritious —easy to buy, keep and to use—economical too.

At any time—when there is a question of what to serve for any occasion—it's so easy to join in the chorus of thos who say, "Let's have ice cream!"

Learn to swim well while you're young, and learn to be careful. Even expert swimmers don't take chances.

Summertime is car-riding time, boys and girls. But remember, the Safety Council of the Columbus Chamber of Commerce says it's dangerous to play around roughly when riding in a car.

Would any of you boys or girls like to be a lifeguard when you grow up? Well, the Safety Council of the Columbus Chamber of Commerce says you can be preparing for that ambition now — by learning to swim properly and safely — and by swimming only where there are grown-up swimmers to watch you.

riding in your family's car and having a good time, remember this: children have been seriously hurt or killed by falling out of moving cars. Be sure your parents lock and never lean against the doors.

Boys and girls, when you play cowboys, remember the street is a place where you might really get hurt—by cars instead of wild Indians!

Tim Clark, the one-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Clark, 338 S. Hague-av, with that wide grin and talk about bandwagons at this time of year would lead one to believe he's a candidate. Y OUR OUTH

By Bob Schmidt

In case one of the Hilltop "Y" Summer Fun Club members stopped you the other day asking for all types of odd articles, have no fear. These boys were enjoying a Scavenger Hunt and they really turned the Hilltop upside down to complete their lists.

The Craft Class is growing by leaps and bounds. The "Y" boys are building model planes and boats. We have the welcome mat again this week for Tom Maish who is serving as an assistant leader during the Craft Class. The next time you pass the "Y" office, stop and see the window display of the models these boys are making.

The other day I was asked the following question: "What is the Hilltop "Y" really trying to do for the Youth of this community?" I answered the question in the following way and would like to share my answer with you. "The Hilltop "Y" is helping boys grow up, to become citizens with useful satisfying lives.

We are not interested in rushing boys through childhood as though it were something to be endured Rather the "Y" sees youth as the "father of the man" to be. We believe it is important to provide opportunities and leadership so youth can develop the friendships, the skills, the attitudes and the ideals upon which the useful, satisfying life depends.

Couple Wed Under Trellis At Hoge Memorial Presbyterian

Mr. and Mrs. Don Edward Patterson

Under a white trellis entwined with huckleberry foliage Miss Harriet Sue Kunz, and Mr. Don Edward Patterson were united in marriage Saturday, May 31, at the Hillcrest Baptist Church. Rev. A. L. Roth officiated the double ring ceremony before an arrangement of white gladioli, stock, carnations and daisies.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kunz, 140 S. Eureka-av approached the altar down a candlelit aisle on the arm of her father. Mr. Patterson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Patterson, Hilliards.

The bride's gown was fashioned of white chantilly lace over satin with hand sewn appliques of lace outlining the pearl encrusted sheer yoke with a stand up collar. The molded bodice was complimented by a bouffant skirt which fell over an old-fashioned hoop and extended into a cathedral train. The fingertip veil of imported French illusion was caught to a bonnet of matching lace and tulle trimmed with orange blossoms. Stephanotis florets, lilly of the valley sprays and shattered white carnations formed the crescent shaped bridal bouquet.

For the traditionally "something old" the bride carried a silk and lace handkerchief which was carried by both her mother and maternal grandmother at their weddings.

Miss Carol Kunz, sister of the bride, as maid of honor, wore a waltz length gown of Azelea pink nylon net over taffeta. A cover up bolero of net was worn over the formal bodice which with the tunic was trimmed with white lace daisies.

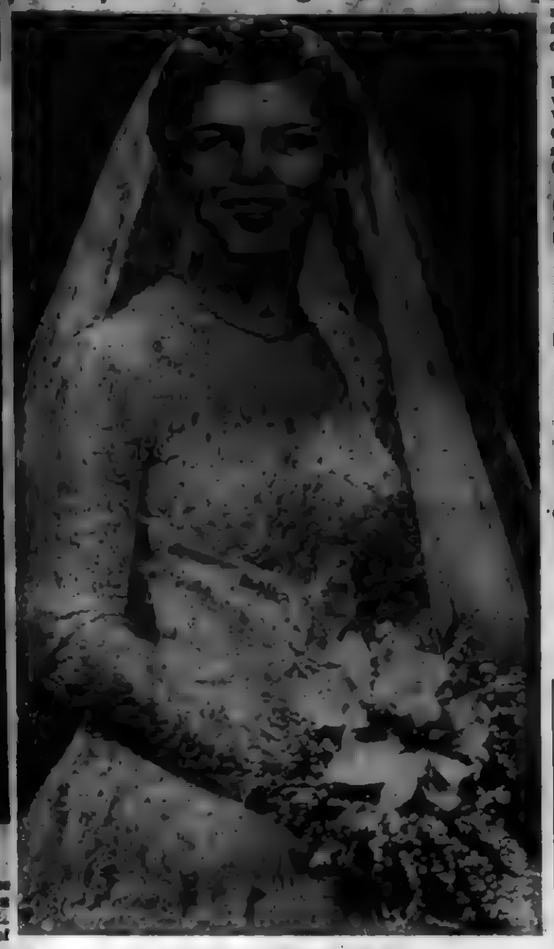
Bridesmaids Miss Jean Byrum and Mrs. Robert Koch wore gowns identical to the maid of honor's in orchid and mint green. On their heads they wore crowhless bonnets of matching net compliminted by daisy earrings, a gift of the bride. They all carried bouquets of majestic daisies backed b y maline pouffs and tied with satin streamers in colors matching their gowns

Little Connie Berry was the flower girl. She wore a floor length gown of yellow nylon and carried a basket of rose petals. A halo of daisies circled her head. Master Stephen Byrum was the ring bearer.

Mr. Ronald Patterson served as bestman for his brother and ushers were Mr. Robert Koch, Mr. William Hewson, Mr. Bernard Geyer and Mr. William Rhodes.

For the reception which followed the service in the Fellowship Room of the church, the bride's mother chose a pink lace dress with a matching hat and black accessories. Dark red sweetheart roses formed her corsage. The bridegroom's mother chose a dress of navy with a white hat and accessories. Her corsage was of yellow roses.

Senior hostesses for the reception were Mrs. Robert Milstead, Mrs. Robert Freshman and Mrs. Francis Burbagh. They were assisted by junior hostesses, Miss Jean Tallman, Richmond, Va., Miss Lou Ann Rhodes, Miss Donna Kerchick, and Miss Patti Groff.



For her going away outfit the bride wore a powder blue suit with navy and white accessories. The white carnation corsage from her bouquet was pinned to her shoulder. After a wedding trip to Virginia they are now at home to their friends at 66 S. Ogden-av, Apt. 4.

The new Mrs. Patterson is a graduate of West High School and is associated with Motorist Mutual Life Ins. Co. Mr. Patterson is a graduate of Hilliards High School and is associated with Battelle Institute.

Mrs. J. W. Miles, 3900 Dublin-rd will entertain the DeMolay Mothers Club with a picnic, July 18.

Dayton Church Scene Of June Nuptials Uniting Local Man

Mrs. Charles William Baxter

St. Mary's Church of Dayton was the scene of the June 8 ceremony uniting Miss Rita Leenal Amann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hans Amann, Dayton, O., and Mr. Charles William Baxter, son of Mrs. Charles J. Baxter, 212 S. Roys-av, and Mr. Charles J. Baxter of New York City. White carnations adorned the altar and candelabra lighted the aisle for the solemn high nuptial mass performed by Rev. Robert Amann, brother of the bride.

The white chantilly lace over satin bridal gown was designed with a fitted bodice that fastened down the back with tiny lace buttons as did the long sleeves which tapered over her hands. The heart-shaped neckline was outlined with irridescent sequins in a floral motif. The flared skirt had godets in front of finely pleated nylon tulle. The two-tiered veil of illusion fell from a juliet cap of lace over satin embroidered in sequins. She carried a cascade bouquet of stephanotis and Eucharist lilies centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. Jeanne Amann, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a nile green strapless gown with a matching cape. A Juliet cap and nylon net fan with clusters of yellow roses completed her outfit. Miss Delores Mazzone and Mrs. James Horvath, bridesmaid and matron, and Miss Carol Aufderheide, junior bridesmaid, also were attired in nile green. They carried fans with clusters of red roses.

Mr. Richard Amann, brother of the bride, was best man. Ushers were Mr. Grant Baxter, brother of the bridegroom; Mr. Samuel Ventura, Newark, O.; and Mr. Valentine Bozymski, Mansfield, O.

The bride's mother wore an aqua dress with pink accessories, while the bridegroom's mother was gowned in navy blue with pink accessories. Both had orchid corsages.

A wedding breakfast was held at Suttmillers Restaurant and a reception took place at Flumbers Hall.

The bride is a graduate of Julienne High School in Dayton and is associated with Allied Supply Co. The bridegroom is a graduate of Holy Family High School in Columbus and will be graduated from the University of Dayton in August.

Hilltop Artist Wins Second Showing at Hilltop Library

By William "Doc" Campbell

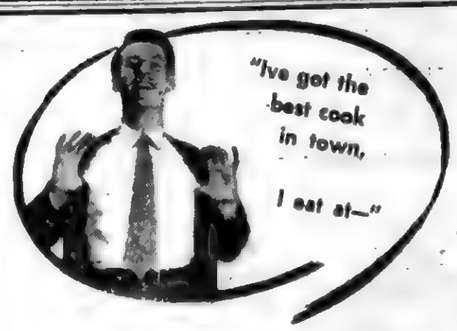
Conventions . . . conventions . . . delegates . . . delegates, thousands of them! Speeches . . . speeches . . . someone must win—so it goes in politics. How about those spiritual things called "music and art", especially art. In its "silent speeches" yes; every picture you look at, speaks to you, and the great ones for centuries are ever talking to you, just as much today as Lincoln's "Gettysburg Address."

The beautiful Hilltop Library, branch of the Columbus Public Library, holds some charming and definite "speeches" for you. Harriet Dunn Campbell, "co-founder" with W. D. Campbell, 3060 W. Broad-st, of the West Side gallery in the library two years ago, is holding her second "Convention of Art" for the people to judge. Over 15 exquisite water colors that have been "passed" by famous juries (delegates) are before you, mute in sense . . . yet telling you of old churches, of Ohio and Massachusetts . . . fishing scenes of Huron, Ohio and Cape Cod and Rockport, Mass., lovely flower paintings, delectable in color and expression . . . in fact, all of these are by "invitation" of Will Collins, head city librarian, and are to be shown until September.

Harriet Dunn Campbell's background is so definitely steeped in art (like lawyers in politics) that her art pedigree, so to speak, is thoroughbred. Like delegates to a convention, art juries are careful in "passing" paintings for any big exhibition. Prizes are the choice bits that all exhibitors cherish, and to win a prize is like being selected to high office. Mrs. Campbell won the Robert Wolf prize twice.

Harriet Dunn Campbell (like any great political candidate) has won her enviable position in "National Art" by deep devotion to the fundamentals of Art Expression and her record prize votes (by art delegates) is a definite tribute to her passion for all phases of art.

All of her paintings (except two) are jury passed and that stamps them with a positive future and places them (like political aspirants) in the flood light of public acclaim.



To be invited to exhibit at the Hilltop Library for the second time represents a distinct triumph for Mrs. Campbell who is a graduate of Columbus Art School. In addition she studied with Arthur Dow in Ipswich, Mass., Robert Henri, William Chase and Kenneth Hays Miller at New York School of Art.

The Hilltop artist was formerly instructor of art at James Millekin University at Decatur, assistant supervisor of art in Columbus Public Schools and taught at Columbus Boys' Academy.

She is active officially with Ohio Water Color Society; a charter member of Columbus Art League and a charter member of the society. In 1927 and 1947 she won the Robert Wolf Water Color Prize; the Iris Society Flower Prize in 1935 of Columbus Art League and numerous honorable mentions.

Mrs. Campbell has exhibited also in shows by American Water Color Society, New York Water Color Society, Philadelphia, Boston, Washington and International Shows at Chicago.

Bible Comment:

Large Divorce Rate Warns Us to Heed Commandments

FAMILY religion has deep roots in the Old Testament, and in the Jewish literature were many precepts, giving wise counsel to parents, and setting forth the duties of children, thus establishing with clearness the conditions of family welfare and a happy home life.

It ought to be noted how strongly some of the choicest of these precepts stress the law and commandments. "My son, keep thy father's commandment, and forsake not the law of thy mother." There must be standards of right, and a sense of responsibility, if there are to be sound relationships and happiness in the home.

The acceptance of parenthood without an adequate sense of responsibility is the root of a great deal of home breakdown and tragedy today. A first essential of a good home is good parents. What can be expected of children if their parents do not set them a good example? Moreover, precept and teaching are not enough, for children will soon detect an insincerity, and the worst of all counsel we could give our children would be to say, "Don't do as I do, but do as I say."

"Train up a child in the way he should go," is the Bible's injunction to parents, with the assurance that when he is older he will not depart from it. Alas! that assurance is not always justified, for many influences are upon the child, as well as those of the home, and too often they break down and destroy what the home has sought to do. But without proper training the child has little chance at all, so that exceptions in reality do not nullify the law that good training brings good results.

The most acute social and religious problems today are associated with home and family. With an increasingly large proportion of marriages ending in separation and divorce, we are facing ominous times. And most of the proposed remedies are doing little to get at the causes.

The principal reason for the breakdown is the lack of regard for law and commandments—the failure to observe the rules of what is life's most important game.

and friendship walk hand in hand

Millions of Americans this month are making it a special point to invite their friends into their churches and synagogues—as freely and frequently as they ask them to their homes. You'll find that sharing your faith does something for you, and for your friends as well . . . it grows when it's shared . . . and your friendships grow, too.

Take someone to church this week . . .
you'll both be richer for it

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to express my sincere thanks and appreciation to my relatives, friends and neighbors for their sympathy, kindness and thoughtfulness shown me during the illness and passing of my dear brother, Charles G. McNinch. Many thanks for the beautiful floral offerings. I wish to thank Rev. Norman Schreiber, for his consoling words and the Schoedinger's for their kind and efficient service. I wish to thank the pallbearers for their kindness rendered. Mrs. Daisy McInch Sheets.

Artful dressing and a smooth paint job will take 20 years off her true age, but she can't fool a long flight of stairs!

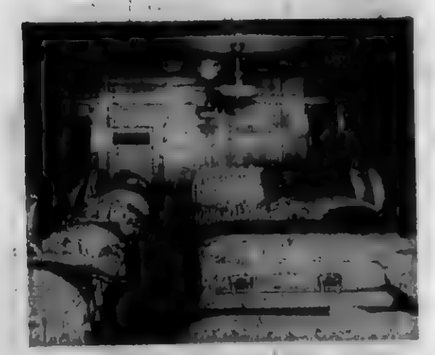
Mrs. Katie Shroyer, wife of the late Wylie S. Shroyer, founder of the funeral homes.



One of the architectural high spots of the West Side is now the newly remodeled and redecorated Shroyer Funeral Home at 1278 W. Broad St. The new facade has been done in pure southern colonial architecture with its typical two story columns, its broken pediment over the entrance and graceful iron railings on either side of the stairway.

In the large chapel the pleasant quieting effect is immediately noticeable. Concealed lighting, the off white acoustic ceiling and delicate mauve color of the walls, coupled with the deep red carpet and drapes all blend to achieve this effect. Air-conditioned comfort is maintained at all times and the Hammond organ provides soft, restful tones to further ease the bereaved.

Lowell W. Shroyer, manager of the Shroyer Funeral Homes at 1278 and 2553 W. Broad St.

Displayed in an attractive and sedate manner in this display room are caskets, burial clothes and other funeral accessories. Gleaming walls reflect the richness of the caskets which range from moderately priced funerals to the most elaborate.

News From The North Woods

This is being written while we are enjoying the hospitality of two genial Hilltoppers, Dr. and Mrs. R. J. Miller at their summer home on the beautiful French River some 30 miles from North Bay in Ontario.

I've long admired the good judgment of the "Doc" but a few days up here increases that admiration many times. Here he and Mrs. Miller have built their very comfortable "Hilltop House," high atop one of the rocky points on Bragdon Island, having most of the comforts of home and without the disturbance of traffic, telephones, committee meetings and alarm clocks. Even the lack of certain types of plumbing is offset by an attractive green two seated "parliament house" a stone's throw to the west.

A nice breeze that seems to prevail at all times takes the sting off an occasional 90-degree day and may add to the coziness of an open fire in the evening if the temperature falls to 50 or thereabouts.

While we are making no personal claims as to our own ability in handling a casting rod or even in dangling a minnow over the bow of the boat waiting for a pickerel to take it some twenty feet below, we have seen a goodly number of fine fish and know that they abound in these waters. Pickerel, northern pike and bass provide plenty of food and entertainment.

And for the man who goes in for bigger game fish there are good waters for muskies or "lunge" as they are more commonly called up there, as is attested by Roy Wolfe, another old Hilltopper. He reports having taken some 129 muskies from these waters in the many years he has made this his summer home.

Roy, who formerly lived on Binns-blvd, has a cabin a few hundred feet down the island from "Doc" and Pearl and is the kind of neighbor than whom you'll find none better in these parts. He and his very large deer hound "Gyp" seated in the bow of his green boat are a familiar sight on the French River. For 30 years he has been spending his summers up here and it's a fact that the Indian guides hereabouts learn where the best fishing waters are by observing where Roy has most luck. Roy, now 71, rightfully takes great pride in showing you the photo of the 41 pound "muskie" he landed just last summer.

For those who can't have the good fortune of spending a summer in their own cabin there are the comforts of the famed Keystone Camp about three miles from here. Operated under the able guidance of Bill Kennedy and his assistant, Phil Simone, the camp can accommodate up to 75 persons at one time. If you care to do your own cooking you have facilities available, but if you want, you can enjoy the finest of the north woods cooking at the Keystone dining room.

Yes sir, this is a hard life . . . For example this morning it was raining and the bed felt extra inviting until around 9 o'clock. Then after working our way down through a half-foot high stack of Pearl's tasty pancakes we had a chance to sit down for a couple hours rest. Now after another round in our week long canasta tournament we may take to the water to do a little casting for our finny friends. Then it's back to the cabin for another session with our feet under the table and our belts loosened up. With no more chores than to clean up the dishes and settle a few more

Hidden 'Loot' Brings Lawmen On 'Y' Secretary

Bob Schmidt, new executive secretary of the Hilltop YMCA, has found life quite exciting since he came to the Hilltop. This week however, he was quite startled to find himself labelled as "a suspicious character" by residents around 2527 Sullivant-av and the Franklin County Sheriff's office.

It seems that several folk in the neighborhood had reported to the county lawmen that a man acting very suspiciously was in a nearby woods with a bundle under his arm hiding various packages.

Radioman William Castle sent Sheriff's Deputies Ralph Arnett, and R. J. Loeffler to investigate and after a brief search they found several of the hidden articles and "staked themselves out" to await return of the suspicious character.

When the man returned with several boys, the deputies immediately pounced on him and started to question him concerning the "loot" he had hidden in the woods.

The "loot" turned out to be gifts which Schmidt had been hiding in the woods for a treasure hunt he had planned for the boys of the Hilltop YMCA. The boys later recovered the hidden "loot" but Schmidt was worried lest other officers arrive to put a damper on the treasure hunt sponsored by the "suspicious character."

Broad-st of which he is president. Flames apparently from a source not yet determined lashed the huge lumber yard and threatened the West Side for a period of two hours when the blaze was out of control. Two thirds of Columbus fire fighting equipment was needed to halt the conflagration. (Record Photo).

Community Event Is Expected To Draw Several Thousand Here

"The biggest, the best and the most outstanding of any held in the past," was the prediction made this week for the Ninth Annual Hilltop Bean Dinner which is scheduled to open this next Tuesday at Westgate Park. "We've planned a full and complete program for this year's bean dinner that will rival any we have ever had before. As a matter of fact it's a bigger and better program," said Ed. Schaedler, general chairman of the Hilltop Business Association committee, in charge of the annual community festival.

From the indications evidenced thus far, the predictions of the Bean Dinner committee may not be far astray, for it was learned this week that coverage to the event will not only be made by local and daily newspapers but also by television news crews. The growth of the annual community get-together from just a bean dinner for members of the Hilltop Business Association to a huge community enterprise has captured the interest of other communities throughout Central Ohio. In nine years since its first inception the Hilltop Bean Dinner has grown steadily and this year is no exception.

The Army Air Forces will have on display at the Bean Dinner this year the now famous B-50 medium bomber which is the only bomber to have been flown around the world non-stop. Known as "The Lucky Lady," the huge plane will be mounted on huge trailers and be open for public inspection.

The Navy too, has indicated an interest in this Ninth Annual Hilltop Bean Dinner by also having a display open to public inspection. A part of this display will be one of the well known Dukw's which made naval history in the amphibious landings during World War II.

In addition to these displays will be many different types of displays by the local Hilltop merchants, who as members of the Hilltop Business Association are the sponsors of the community event which annually draws thousands to Westgate Park.

One of the events which has been scheduled as part of the program has drawn a startling response and promises to be one of the big events of the Bean Dinner. This is the Baby Show contest for which many Hilltop mothers have been preparing the small fry of the community. A silver loving cup will be presented the winners. Deadline for entering this contest is 5 p. m. Thursday, July 24. Entry blanks are now available at the stores of members of the Hilltop Business Association.

Another contest which is expected to draw much interest is the Beauty Queen contest which will see the naming of some Hilltop girl or some girl employed by a member of the Hilltop Business Association, as "Bean Dinner Queen." In addition to reigning over all events during the bean dinner the "Queen" selected will also receive a War Bond prize.

Fans of wrestling will also get their share of entertainment on Wednesday night of the Bean Dinner when Hilltopper Joe Wolfe will clash with Tony Sinatra in a 60 minute fall match. Lady grapplers Lois Johnson and Carol Carota will also provide action in another bout.

On the opening night of the bean dinner, visitors to the event will also have entertainment in the form of the WLW-C Midwestern Hayride featuring Lee Jones and Saltie and Mattie. Baton twirling by ex-Ohio State Drum Major Dave Kesling and rope twirling by the "West High School Buckaroos."

Another feature of the bean dinner will be the awarding of more than $1500 in merchandise awards by Hilltop merchants who have contributed all types of valuable prize awards.

The program for the Ninth Annual Hilltop Bean Dinner is:

Tuesday, July 29

Afternoon—Baby Show, Bicycle Parade, Doll Buggy Parade.

Evening — WLW Midwestern Hayride; Baton Twirling Exhibition by Dave Kesling, former OSU Drum Major; West High School Rope Twirler exhibition and selection of the Bean Dinner Queen.

The bean tent, headquarters for the dinner will be under the direction of Lowell Sullivan, chairman, and Curt Roberts, vice-chairman. They will be assisted by Chester Herbert, Chubby Distelhorst and George Painter.

Concession Stands Committee is Jerry Watson, chairman, Joe Goodwin vice-chairman, and Harold Fox, Al Stephens, and Bob Hoover.

The Big Payoff will come next Wednesday night at the Hilltop Bean Dinner when some lucky subscriber of the Hilltop Record will become $500 richer.

For the past year the Hilltop Record has periodically given awards of $50 to subscribers who had renewed or made new subscription since the Bean Dinner of last year. The grand award of $500 in cash will be made to some one who has subscribed within the last 12 month period.

It's not too late to be eligible for the $500 award. There will be a Hilltop Record booth at the Bean Dinner where subscriptions can be taken on Tuesday and Wednesday. Better yet, if you send in your subscription of $1.50 for 12 months of good reading in Ohio's leading weekly newspaper before that time you can avoid a last minute line at the Record booth at the Bean Dinner.

Two Narrowly Escape Death

Harry Dixon, 36, 1424 W. Broad-st, and Ezchol Yates, 50, 139 Hayden-av, were both reported in "fair" condition at Mt. Carmel Hospital this week after the car in which they were riding was dragged 90 feet by a greyhound bus in the 4400 block of W. Broad-st Sunday.

Patrolman John O'Neil said that both vehicles were westbound and that the accident occurred when Dixon turned in front of the bus in an attempted left hand turn from the right lane. John P. Cass, 38, driver of the bus told O'Neil he was going about 40 miles an hour at the time of the accident.

None of the 35 passengers of the St. Louis bound bus was injured and a second bus was sent to take passengers on their journey.

"Our candidate will take us to victory in November."

It's pretty early for a youngster the age of Mike Leach, 7-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Deanen Leach, 3655 Sullivant-av to be dabbling in politics but the expression on his young face would seem to mirror such thoughts of confidence that leaders of the two leading parties are expressing these days.

United Appeals - Red Cross Drive Is Being Readied

Mrs. Harold K. Schellenger, chairman of the Women's Division of the 1952 United Appeals-Red Cross Campaign is shown with Mrs. W. B. Spence, chairman of the West Unit.

The organization of the West Unit of the Women's Division of the 1952 United Appeals-Red Cross Campaign is underway in the West End. The campaign will be held early in the fall.

Mrs. W. B. Spence, 348 Letchworth-av, is chairman of the West Unit. She will be assisted by two vice-chairmen, Mrs. H. H. Hagans, 141 N. Powell-av, and Jean Ferguson, 92 Hawkes-av, in organizing the women's solicitation in this area.

Mrs. Harold K. Schellenger, 4554 Starret-rd, chairman of the North Unit last year, heads the Women's Division of the 1952 campaign and serves on the campaign committee as vice-chairman to Preston Cooke who will direct the county-wide campaign. Mrs. Joseph Horchow, 926 E. Broad-st, is assistant chairman of the Women's Division.

Last year, with a goal of $175,000 the Women's Division raised $229,104 which was 10.14% of the $2,260,031 raised to carry on the program of the Heart Association, Cancer Society, USO, the 65 agencies of the Community Chest and the Red Cross.

The women are given the biggest job to do in any campaign because it has been proven in every major campaign that the women always go over the top.

This year's campaign is to be a neighborly campaign with all working to make our community the best community in our country. As the organization is just getting started every woman who has a desire to help in the solicitation in her own neighborhood is asked to contact one of these leaders or call the Women's Division office at United Appeals, 16 S. 3rd St. MA. 6893.

In the near future, Cooke will announce the dates and goal of the 1952 United Appeals-Red Cross Campaign.

Cleveland and Columbus were joined by rail on Feb. 18, 1851.

Land Where Dreams Come True

Land where dreams come true—that is America. It has been so since the first settlers came here . . . and it is still true today. The dreams in youthful hearts today become the realities of tomorrow.

What does a boy want to be—lawyer, truck driver, fireman, congressman, storekeeper. It does not matter. What is important is that he can reach his goal. This freedom of the individual, the right to decide our own futures, is part of our great American heritage. Perhaps at no time in our history has it been so precious.

But dreams do not come true because of wishful thinking. Dreams come true because of action, because of work. What we make of ourselves is what we become. Of course, it is not easy going. But in a democracy fellow citizens take an interest in each other and a helping hand is often stretched out. For years our youth organizations have been holding out just such a helping hand to our youth.

They are places where our boys like to go—and where they do not get into trouble. There is plenty of space for noise and exercise. There is quiet, too, for the boy who wants to read or chat. There is a chance to learn new skills in the workshops. There is help in finding a part-time job.

Warm-hearted men work with the boys, stimulating a love of fair play, of good, clean competition. These men have been trained for such understanding leadership.

Hawthorne, in his story of "The Great Stone Face," pictures a boy growing under the influence of a high ideal. The granite profile on the mountainside, which he sees each morning from his cottage door, is an expression to him of what is best in human character. Association with this ideal creates a desire, and the influence of this desire causes him to grow like it. Such is the result of companionship with the great and the good.

Although Hawthorne did not realize it, he was setting forth the underlying philosophy of the youth groups in America. The leaders believe in Hawthorne's idea that Association with a good ideal creates a desire to "grow like it."

Every boy in any community should have opportunity for free time activity, and the companionship of boys in a good environment under good leadership, in any of his free time.

Every boy needs guidance in the choice of his free time activities, in behavior, and in his attitudes toward others, family and church relationships, girls, education, employment and government.

Every boy should have a medical examination at least once a year, and remediable defects should be corrected.

Every boy should have opportunity for physical training, athletics and the development of physical fitness.

Every boy should have the opportunity to learn and practice wholesome health habits.

Every boy should have opportunity for education on a personal interest basis, to develop vocational skills and to discover vocational aptitudes.

Every boy should have opportunity to develop interest and skills in hobbies and cultural activities which enrich life.

Every boy should have opportunity to experience outdoor life away from cities.

The number of times the average man says "No" to temptation is once weakly.

Another Stampede Coming

Ticklers By George

"Why it's from Burt and Ethel. It says, 'Greetings from Yellowstone National Park.'"

A Chinese Life Insurance Co., worrying about a policy-owner who had forgotten to mail his premium, sent him this memo:

"Esteemed policyholder, kindly refrain from joining illustrious ancestors while insignificant premium repost unpaid in offending pocket since meantime honorable family, not company, is holding the burlap."

Foreman: "Hurry up. Get busy."
Worker: "O.K. boss, but you know Rome wasn't built in a day."
Foreman: "No, and I wasn't foreman on that job."

Stop Back, Please

The inspector of tenement houses found four families living in one room. Chalk marks quartered the room for each family.

"How've you been getting along here?" he asked.

EXPECTED END

Look! No Scissors!

When you need a strip of adhesive tape it is no longer necessary to cut the tape with scissors that may be in the medicine cabinet, but that are just as likely to be in some other part of the house. Now adhesive tape comes in a new "Cut-Quick" package with a cover that cuts the tape. You simply open the cover, pull out the length you need, close the cover and tear off the tape against the cover's cutting edge.

Wrestling Bouts To Be Bean Dinner Highlight Wednesday

Joe Wolfe, a Hilltop native active in pro wrestling circles since 1935 is slated in one of the top wrestling bouts for the Wednesday night program of the Ninth Annual Hilltop Bean Dinner. Joe has traveled to the far corners of the earth where he was proven a great wrestling star. He held the Ohio Junior Heavyweight title for a number of years and has beaten nearly all the top men in the heavyweight division.

Tony Sinatra, the opponent of Joe Wolfe in the wrestling program scheduled for Wednesday night of the Bean Dinner is a young veteran of the mat and despite his 29 years is a veteran of 10 years in professional wrestling. Tony is recognized as the Eastern AAU champion and the Junior Heavyweight champ of New York state. The Wolfe-Sinatra match is to go over the 60 minute limit for two out of three falls to a decision.

Carol Careta, the vivacious looking lady wrestler from Cincinnati is scheduled as the opponent of Lois Johnson at the Hilltop Bean Dinner Wrestling Matches on Wednesday night, July 30. She's 19 years old, weighs 134 lbs., and stands five feet four inches in height, and by the way, she's single and means to stay that way until her goals are accomplished.

Scheduled to also appear in wrestling bouts at the Hilltop Bean Dinner Wednesday night is the pretty young lady of 19 pictured above. She is Lois Johnson, 145 lbs., and five feet five inches of lady dynamite with the ring. Lois was originally intrigued with the sport by watching the TV matches and got to thinking, "Why can't I do that?" And she found out that she could.

Burgess EUB In Upset Win Over Avondale In Church Loop

Burgess EUB winless in six previous starts pulled the season's upset this week in the west Senior church softball league. After being held without a hit in losing the first game of a twin bill to Avondale EUB by a count of 13-2, they came back to win the nightcap by a score of 4-3 on Bill Barlow's long home run with two abase in the final inning, thus knocking the Avondale nine out of first place in the first round of play. "Chuck" Larkin tossed the no-hitter as Carroll with 2, Walker and Galbreath with one homer each led the assault.

West Park Methodist took over the top spot in the first round of play although they divided their twin bill with Community Christian. They lost the first contest by a score of 6-5 which was protested by the Methodists because the Hilltoppers used an uneligible player. The Methodist came back to win the nightcap by a score of 6-1 behind the brilliant 4-hit twirling of "Bill" Kearney. B Arnoldi led the attack with a home run.

Glenwood Methodist continued in the race for first round honors by taking both ends of their double bill from Hoge Memorial by scores of 3-2 and 6-0 thus eliminating the losers from further title consideration. "Chuck" Allen allowed but two hits in twirling the shutout as "Jim" Remington and Powless homered.

Westgate Evangelical also continued in the race for first round honors as they swept their two games with Hillcrest Baptist by scores of 9-2 and 2-1, "Bob" Howard twirled a brilliant no-hitter in the finale as Meecham, Arrasmith, and McVay homered while Aleutuis garnered three safties, in as many appearances.

The schedule for Monday evening July 28, brings together league leading West Park and Glenwood Methodist in a feature twin bill. Should Glenwood capture the night cap the league could end up in a four way tie for first round honors with Westgate Evangelical and Avondale also coming in for their share.

Other scheduled double headers are: Community Christian vs Hillcrest Baptist Hoge Memorial vs Burgess EUB and Westgate vs Hilltonia.

Camp Chase Post Nine Wins Third Legion Victory

Camp Chase Post—Beasley Grove Fords baseball nine won their third straight league victory at West High School Sunday behind the masterful pitching of right hander George Williams and the clutch hitting of left fielder "Sleepy" Brown. Williams allowed only five scattered hits while Brown accounted for six of Camp Chase's eight runs with four RBI's and two runs scored himself. The victory moved the local team to 6th place in the Legion Junior Baseball League while sending their luckless opponents, Malcom Jeffrey Post—American Bus Lines, down a notch to 7th place.

Camp Chase took a four run lead in the bottom of the third as Nafzger walked, Magaw walked, Haire singled to load the bases, Brown singled to score Nafzger and Magaw, and Bowman singled to score Haire and Brown.

Brown added another in the fifth as he singled, took third on Vincent's single and scored on Hughes bounding single over second base.

Williams and Magaw both scored in the sixth after successive singles when Brown laced a single past the first baseman as he hit late on a fast pitch. The eighth and final run was scored in the eighth inning as Magaw singled, stole second, arrived at third on a passed ball and scored as the catcher threw wild trying to pick him off.

Malcom Jeffrey's three runs came on two walks, two singles and an error permitting two unearned runs.

5-Year-Old Hurt Seriously In Fall From His Tricycle

Eugene Lane, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Lane, 128 N. Powell-av, was reported in "fair" condition at Children's Hospital early this week. Young Lane was admitted to the hospital last Thursday when he was seriously injured in a fall from a tricycle he was riding at his home.

He is suffering from head injuries. His grandfather, A. F. Lane, took him to Mt. Carmel Hospital where he was transferred to a police ambulance cruiser and taken to Children's Hospital.

Education To Be Discussed

Why every child in America should have a Christian education will be discussed at the Eastwood Seventh-day Adventist Church at the 11 o'clock service Saturday, July 26. The program will give emphasis to the need of early child character training as a foundation for future years of usefulness and happiness.

On this Educational Day, observed nationally by Seventh-day Adventist Churches, plans will be made for the strengthening of local church schools, and parents urged to enroll all their children in the schools of the church. The local Seventh-day Adventist Church school located at Union and Ryan-av is one of 4,160 operated by the denomination on the elementary level, with an enrollment of 166,800 pupils. YOUR YOUTH

By Bob Schmidt

Even a hard rain couldn't stop 35 "Y" boys from attending the Red Bird baseball game. Thanks to the following Dads for furnishing transportation: Kenneth Siglee, Charles Ditrick, Harold Fox, Joe Skufza, D. A. Hart, Russell Drake, Orain Menz, Charles Campbell, Charles Preston, Bob Howison, Barrett, Nobel Allen and George Gunderson. From all indications the "Y" Boys and Dads enjoyed an evening of fun and are eagerly looking forward to the next scheduled game.

The second Rubbernack tour found the "Y" Boys enjoying an afternoon at Fairmont's Dairy. They were shown the methods of processing milk and the manufacturing of butter, ice cream and cheese. Of course the high light of the trip was free ice cream bars.

Even I thought this was the best part of the trip.

The older boys of the Hilltop Summer Fun Club are completing plans for an over nite campout. With the volunteer assistance of Lou Maish and Orian Menz this campout promises to be an outstanding event of the summer. If you are interested in this overnite campout please call the "Y" office for additional information.

Approximately 35 "Y" Boys enjoyed their first "Bike Rodeo." All of these games and contests were conducted with the boys using their bicycles. The following boys won the various events:

350 Yd. dash—10-12 yrs., Nick Miller, 1st, Bill Hart, 2nd.

Thomas Jefferson once said "A man's greatest self is revealed in the work to which he gives himself without pay." This quotation flashed through my mind observing the Dads who have been serving as volunteer leaders. A Hilltop "Y" is in need of this type of assistance in order to develop and promote its program. You can experience a deep inner satisfiction and sense of worth as you see youth growing to bigger stature because of you. You will acquire a partnership in service, not only with other community leaders like yourself, but with all mankind. Some day, as your son grows, you will need someone to spend time with your boy. How can you rightfully expect it unless you give time to someone elses boy?

WELLS H. TEACHNOR CANCER GROUP IS UNDER MRS. KUNZ

On April 20, the Wells H. Teachnor group was formed at the Columbus Cancer Clinic with thirty active and three associate members under the leadership of Mrs. Bill Kunz chairman, Mrs. William Haase, vice-chairman, Mrs. Darrell Steward, secretary and Mrs. Earl Miller, treasurer.

June first the Group held a strawberry festival and auction sale at the home of Mrs. Kunz in Galloway, realizing the sum of $300. This money is to be used in the purchase of a Station Wagon for the Clinic. The machine is much needed to transport patients to the hospital for treatment.

Any one wishing to be of assistance in this work is asked to donate feed sacks, old sheets, pillow cases, and soft material for bed pads, old shirts for bed jackets for patients. By contacting Mrs. Kunz at FR. 8-5545 arrangements will be made to pick up this material or it may be sent to Mrs. Bill Kunz, 2311 Kuns-rd, Galloway.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Kunz, the second Wednesday of August and will be a pot-luck dinner at 12:30 p. m. After the dinner Mrs. Helen Haughton, Supt. of the Clinic will show a motion picture about cancer.

Pink and White Glads Frame Jones-Whipple Wedding Scene

Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Whipple

White and pink gladiolas with white mums and greenery formed the backdrop for seven-branch candelabra and the scene of the wedding of Miss Martha Louise Jones and Mr. Henry C. Whipple, Saturday, June 14, at Burgess Avenue EUB Church. Rev. Irvin F. Lane, pastor, officiated at the nuptials uniting the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Jones, 3170 Wicklow-rd, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Whipple, Sr., 2602 Valleyview-dr.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white marquisette with a bertha collar and cascade ruffles from hipline terminating into the cathedral train. The long sleeves had ruffles over the wrists. A strand of seed pearls around the bride's throat matched the tiara which held a fingertip veil. She carried a bouquet of white spring flowers centered with red roses.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Charlotte McMillon, wore a ballerina length net over taffeta gown in lavender. The bridesmaids were gowns styled like the honor attendants in green, blue, yellow and pink. Miss Doris L. Johnson, Mrs. Keitha Jones, Miss Mary Ann Miller and Miss Janet Patton and the honor attendant carried colonial bouquets of spring flowers with matching hair pieces.

The flower girls, Miss Lisa Jones and Miss Maureen Outcalt, carried baskets of red roses and wore gowns of pink. All the attendants wore white mitts with matching linen shoes and single strands of pearls.

The bestman was Mr. Larry Alban. He was assisted by Mr. Robert Jones, captain of ushers, and Mr. Richard Jones, Mr. Harold McMillan, and Mr. Steve Howison.

Hostesses for the reception held at the home of the bride included Mrs. Robert Jones, overseer, Miss Carol Swigert, Miss Alice Reed, Miss Shirley Schwind and Miss Janet Talbert.

The bride's mother chose a navy blue and white sheer for the wedding. She wore white accessories and a corsage of red carnations.

For their honeymoon the bride changed to a white linen two-piece dress with black accessories. She wore a corsage of red roses.

The bride is a graduate of West High School and is employed at W. E. Jones Agency. The bridegroom is also a West High graduate and is employed at Cussins and Fearne Co. He is in the naval reserve. They are making their temporary home at 3170 Wicklow-rd.

AN INLAND MOTHER BROODS ABOUT A SHIP

He writes of winds and tides and buoys,
Who knew no waters but the brook;
Whose only boats were home-made toys,
Whose ports were pictures in a book.

So many days and nights at sea?
I thought I must have read it wrong,
Or is my heart deceiving me,
That never ship has sailed so long?

So many miles—had I forgot
How distant those green islands are?
Until today, I had not thought
A ship had ever sailed so far!

He tells how mighty, strong and tall
She lies at anchor in the bay;
But oh, she seems so frail and small
To sail so long, and far away.

The only billows I recall
Were waves across the ripened wheat,
My only tides were Spring and Fall . . .
The winds of Home were clover-sweet.

Oh, South Sea breezes, waft her well!
Shed, Southern Cross, your softest light!
Oh, sullen, long Pacific swell,
Be gentle with that ship tonight.
Mounce E. Byrd. (Reprinted.)

A young friend, Ann Petty, asked why her favorite d-j has never been mentioned here. Ann, I aim to please so called your favorite and he graciously consented to an interview. Then I heard his program and can understand why he is popular. He is John Michaels of WVKO. The staff of that station has its own special niche anyway, because of its kindness to my favorite shutin. Mr. Michaels has been with WVKO about one year, coming to Columbus from Portsmouth where he conducted an early morning show over WPAY. He is an announcer at WVKO, and has two record shows daily. One is from 11 to 11:30 a. m. and the other called "Music Box," is heard from 12 noon to 4 p. m. Before his Portsmouth position, he was with WLW, Cincinnati, where he did dramatic work. He appeared in "Song of Norway" which was given by Independent Players; made many personal appearances, and while in Portsmouth, was instrumental in buying a Seeing-Eye Dog for the blind accordionist, Bobby Cooper. Since coming to Columbus, Mr. Michaels has played in two three-act plays at the Village Little Theater; has emceed Easter Lily Seal, Children's Hospital; St. Raphael Home for Aged, and other benefit shows, and has made numerous personal appearances. His hobby is little theater work. On July 22 he will read on Story-Telling Time at the Columbus Public Library, conducted each Tuesday morning at 10:30, for children of Columbus. On his "Music Box" program on WVKO, he conducts contests, plays record requests and ad libs in an entertaining manner. He is a singer of note (no pun intended) although he didn't tell me that. OK, Ann? Thank you for your interest and kind words.

Speaking of WVKO, my favorite shutin reminds me to tell you that Mrs. Bert Charles (her husband is manager of WVKO) resigned her position as secretary of Franklin County Infantile Paralysis Foundation some time ago, for the best reason in the world—the Charles two will soon be three.

Greater love has no man (or woman), News note: "Miss Lucile Myers, of Chattanooga, was outstanding in the Kefauver party as it arrived in Chicago because she was wearing a coonskin cap." In this weather, too!

From Juse "Voice of the Spastic:" Prisoner: "I was not drunk, your honor, just drinking." Judge: "Oh, that's different. In that case, I won't send you to jail for a month, but only for 30 days." Also from V of the S: "The weaker sex will say anything to keep the stronger sex from finding out he's the weaker sex."

you can correct it by moving elsewhere. Friendliest place in town

A friendly handclasp greets you at the door.

Choir singing brings new spiritual values to the singers, to the listeners.

You're not forgetting, are you, that your church or synagogue is the friendliest place in town?

A warm-hearted welcome awaits you there.

New interests, new friends, and most precious of all in these trying times, an opportunity to renew your faith, to restore your courage, to find peace of soul in the company of men and women of good will.

Summer camping, comprehensive help in time of trouble.

The young marrieds find congenial friends.

An active athletic and social program keeps teenagers busy and happy.

Take someone to Church this week... you'll both be richer for it

Greased Pole Prepared For Bean Dinner

While several youngsters look on, Harold Fox of Fox Food Shop and Lou Klaus of Hilltop Jewelers apply a generous coating of grease to a pole in preparation for the greased pole event which is sponsored by them at the Hilltop Bean Dinner. A cash prize awaits the youngster or oldster who can "shinny up" the greased upright and grab the bag containing the silver dollars. Anyone is eligible to enter but the sponsors advise wearing of old clothing because of the grease.

Take N Away

When the Democrats in convention assembled at Chicago came up with their "Don't Let Them Take It Away" campaign song last week it was inspiration to O. H. Craft to write a parody as follows, "Take It Away":

For twenty long years like Moses of old,
We've gone astray to the lure of fool's gold.
I've had enough, take it away!
That dollar stuff is ragweed hay.

In thirty-two we spent three thousand million,
In fifty-two we spend eighty billion.
I've had enough, take it away!
That fifty cent dollar is ragweed hay.

If I was forced to pay what I owe,
To a nudist camp I'd have to go.
I've had enough, take it away!
That dollar stuff is ragweed hay.

That social security they been praisin'
Depends on the kids I am now raisin',
I've had enough, take it away!
That dollar stuff is ragweed hay.

They spend my money to hire John Mote,
In the hope they can coax him how to vote.
I've had enough, take it away!
That dollar stuff is ragweed hay.

For twelve long years they've led us in war,
Now they tell us peace is what they are for.
I don't believe it, take 'em away!
They've cried wolf, and led my sheep astray.

Four million men who ought to be home,
Under their leadership the world they roam.
I don't want it, take it away!
Surely there must be a better way.

Corruption and graft is high and low.
Mink coats and favors they buy with my dough.
I don't want 'em and their alphabet hash,
They wouldn't know how to clean up the trash.

Boys and girls now twenty years old
Have been led astray with this fool's gold.
The old fashioned virtues of earning their way
Is cast aside for the ragweed hay.

King Solomon's son said I'll tax and spend,
Read about this braggart's unglorious end.
An envious neighbor moved in and ruled,
The end of once proud people improperly schooled.

Are we going to be smart before it's too late?
And save our fair land from a similar fate
I've had enough, haven't you too?
Join me and vote the way you should do.

The way was cleared for the ordinances to install the highly important water mains after the city attorney found no legal objection to the project and Assistant City Attorney J. He'll Vote For Ike In November —

Presidents Nominated By Noise, Lies, Rumors, Says Local Delegate

Presidents are nominated by noise, deals, lies and rumors.

This is the contention of Robert M. Draper, 104 S. Westmoor-av, who returned Saturday after serving as an elected delegate pledged to support Estes Kefauver at the Democratic National Convention.

Draper, like hundreds of other delegates from all sections of the country, returned with an avowed hope and determination that the time has come to change the method of selecting candidates for the highest office in the land.

He believes the country should work out a system of direct primaries whereby every candidate must enter every state primary or not be considered at the convention. He stated that it was the concensus of the delegates that each state should inaugurate such a plan.

Asked whom he would vote for in November, Draper stated firmly that he would vote for Eisenhower and that he based his decision on the fact that in Stevenson's own words he was "mentally, emotionally and physically unfit for the presidency."

Stevenson at one point said that if he was nominated he would shoot himself. Following the nomination the California delegation bought a gun and sent it to him.

"Delegates I talked with at the convention said that Stevenson could not be elected in November but they had no answer to our question on why they were there to nominate him," said Draper.

Draper believes that Stevenson had no right to the nomination because he was supported by Jake Arvey, the Chicago political boss and "leader of the hoodlums there," the St. Louis gang, the New York City gang and the Boss Crump machine from Tennessee. They were out to get Kefauver, he claims, because they feared what Kefauver might do to clean up their gangs should he be elected.

He believes that Stevenson is too vulnerable to be elected and that the nomination of Sparkman as vice presidential candidate will

The group of young people above might well be called the "Soda-Pop Brigade" inasmuch as they will attend the pop and soft-drink booths at the St. Aloysius Annual Summer Festival on Aug. 6 at St. Aloysius School grounds. The girls, however, have worked out quite a bit of strategy to help the boys' business. They will sell pop-corn at an adjoining booth and consequently "pop-corn eaters" will need to 'quench their thirst.

These youngsters are a group of brother and sister sets that are St. Aloysius School graduates and although they attend various Catholic High Schools over the city they continue to get together for square dances each week during the winter months. They are also children of parents who have served on the general committee for the festivals of many past years and are veterans themselves with the various duties of the festival.

This will be the 46th year that St. Aloysius has held an annual affair as a means of raising building funds for the school and church. Fun and entertainment have been planned for the very young by means of a fish pond, novelties, refreshments and prizes. For the adults there will be games, china and blanket booths, grocery, ham and fruit stands and refreshments of all kinds. A grand prize of a Packard sedan will be awarded in the evening. The public is invited.

David Snyder, brother of Mary Jo and Arlene, will assist this group but was not available for the above picture. They are children of the general chairman, J. J. Snyder, and Mrs. Snyder, 145 Lechner-av; Judy and Jack McAndrews are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Jack McAndrews, 1936 Fairmont-av; Kenny and Patrick are sons of Mr. and Mrs. K. L. Martindale, 86 Clarendon-av, and Paula and Donald are children of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kienle, 68 Clarendon-av.

Chosen To Attend Camp

Ronnie Klein

James Fondaw

Ronnie Klein, 1982 Harrisburg-pk, and James Fondaw, 327 S. Eureka-av, have been chosen to attend the 31st Ohio Hi-Y Training Camp, Aug. 10-17.

Camp Nelson Dodd is located on the Mohican River, about two miles from the village of Brinkhaven. There are 150 acres, giving plenty of opportunity for nature study and hiking. There is also an athletic field, facilities for boating and canoeing, and a pool which furnishes a very enjoyable part of the camp program.

The purpose of this camp is to serve as a training period for Hi-Y officers and members who will carry the responsibility of next year's Hi-Y program. The fellowship in the Ohio Hi-Y Camp is a very enjoyable experience that is rich in its tradition of training in methods, techniques and inspiration.

Dr. Arthur Wickenden, director of religious activities at Miami University, is the principal speaker, using the title "What Can High School Youth Believe?".

Dr. Loren Hadley, student counselor at Kent State, will speak on "Personal Growth and Development."

George Campbell, nationally known song leader, will also be on the program.

Future Farm Youth Will Attend Camp

One thousand boys from all parts of Ohio will attend the Ohio Future Farmers of America camp, during the period of July 23 through Aug. 9. Dr. Clyde Hissong, state director of education, said that this number breaks all previous attendance records. This means that one out of every 10 FFA members in the state will attend the summer session.

Ohio's FFA Camp Muskingum, which is one of the most popular camping sites in the state, is located on the shore of Leesville Lake in Carroll county. The camp can accommodate 200 FFA members at a time during the four camping periods scheduled between July 23 and Aug. 9.

The boys will receive instruction in game management, fish management, soil conservation, nature study, and forestry. Swimming, boating and other recreational activities are also a part of the program.

These boys will receive instruction during this training period which will prepare them for their own club responsibilities. Camp Willson is located near Bellefontaine, on a beautiful 70-acre spring-fed lake.

There are complete recreational facilities and good leadership is supplied for this training program.

Voters Urged To Register Before Sept. 24

"If you want to vote in the November Presidential Election you must be a registered voter. If you are not registered you cannot vote on Nov 4." Such was the edict given this week by Frank Davis, clerk of the Franklin County Board of Elections in announcing Sept. 24, as the final date on which to register.

Davis said this week that with the political bandwagons occupying the public spotlight at this time, more and more people are asking the Board of Elections as to where and how they may register or transfer. For their information, he has made the following announcement:

The Board of Elections at 214½ S. High-st will be open every day until Sept. 24, from 8 a. m. until 4:30 p. m. week-days and from 9 a. m. until noon on Saturdays for the purpose of registration and transfers.

All voting booths in the precincts will be open for registration only on the final day, Sept. 24, from 10 a. m. until 2 p. m. and from 4 p. m. until 9 p. m. Transfers must be made at the board of elections.

Davis pointed out that registrations must be made in person, but that transfers may be made by mail by writing the Franklin County Board of Elections giving the registrant's old address, new address and proper signature.

The Board of Elections clerk urged that registrations and transfers be made at an early date in order that the last minute rush may be minimized as much as possible.

SALLY BUSH LINCOLN ON INAUGURATION DAY

Somehow I always knew, but not just how the thing would happen when it came to him — the way he grubbed a stump or led the plow, the sureness of his axe to split a limb, the way he'd lift stones so you'd never guess their heaviness, and how he'd leap a fence like a young deer for ease and suppleness.

He read and dreamed, but he had too much sense to let it make him proud or finicky, and if folks laughed he never held a grudge.

He was so shrewd a boy it seemed to me he might become a lawyer or a judge, but when he'd comfort people then I thought, no, he should be a preacher going out to ease folks' troubles with the words he brought to mend their miseries and cure their doubt.

I thought that maybe teaching would be good for anyone so hungry for his books that he would cut so many cords of wood to buy him one. Abe wasn't one for looks, but something strong and gentle lit his eyes, the power in his arms was always kind; he lugged me water, never told me lies, brought honey and wild flowers he would find.

Uncommon as a fernseed is my Abe. Why do they call him common, such a one? Wonder if Nancy prayed this for her babe, or ever dreamed such greatness for her son.

— Ulrich Troubetzkoy.

In The Lyric

After reading articles about Lincoln and his old homes in Life and The National Geographic Magazine, we decided to go over to Illinois to see them. It was a wonderful trip and we are sorry we didn't go long ago. Lincoln has always been one of the Weakley family's special heroes. We saw the court house at Decatur where he tried cases; in Springfield and New Salem we saw his old homes, the cemeteries where he and his family are buried the statues of him: the Sangamon River, Ann Rutledge's grave, and many other things we had read and heard about. On our way to Illinois, we stopped at the home of another hero — Ernie Pyle, at Dana, Indiana. We also saw the replica of the monument for Ernie at Iwo Jima, which his neighbors had made. It is in the Ernie Pyle Park, near Dana. We also saw James Witcomb Riley's birthplace, and the old swimmin' hole he wrote about, and the home of another poets, Vachel Lindsey.

Over in Illinois are two rivers—Embarrass and Little Embarrass . . . In Cole County we saw posters advertising a big Corn Bread and Bean Dinner . . . In Indiana we went through two towns of which my favorite shut-in is Honorary Chief of Police, but we didn't take any chances, we obeyed the speed laws anyway.

Advice to grandparents or anyone who is about to entertain a child: Take a refresher course in nursery rhymes and dust off the old encyclopedia so you'll be able to answer at least a few of the "why's." And you may expect the house to be tool quiet when they leave. We entertained our four-year-old tornado last weekend and among other things, I discovered how little I know about animal in the zoo; how to make pigtails, (a kind neighbor came to the rescue there) and Howdy Doody, Hopalong Cassidy and dressing dolls.

Suppose you've heard this one: Business was over for the day and so Joe grabbed his golf bag and in no time flat was out on the course, putting away. With his first shot, however, the ball landed atop an anthill. Swing hard as he would, he could not dislodge the ball. About all he accomplished with each successive swing was to kill a few hundred more ants. After a few devastating rounds of this one ant said to another ant: "Say, pal, if we want to survive, we'd better get on the ball."

A few politicians (and others) might do well to remember what William Penn said — Have a care where there is more sail than ballast.

There are 6,500 churches in Ohio.

It's No Concern Of Mine

IT'S NO CONCERN OF MINE . . . Have you ever said that when you read the startling headlines in your local paper?

Remember, every boy in this community is somebody's son, brother, nephew, cousin or neighbor; therefore, every boy in our community is part of our collective responsibility as parents, as adults, to one another. Therefore, we are fortunate that vested with this responsibility, we can express it in combatting the juvenile delinquent problem.

From lofty Mount Rushmore the great stone faces of Americans past look down. Below them a boy looks up. His heart is afire with a dream, the American dream. And this dream spans the years that lie between the boy and his heroes.

Freedom, industry, initiative — those are but a few of the ingredients of that dream. Americans past strove to build a nation based on those qualities. Americans present, like this boy, are keeping them alive.

The boy may never be famous. He may never be President of the United States. But he is and will be an American citizen. He wears the mantle of American heritage, and he wears it well.

In his studies he is learning the ideas and principles of life in our free society. In his after-school hours and vacation time he is learning the practices of living in a free society, for he is a member of the local branch YMCA.

He can ask all the questions he wants. The YMCA leaders are glad to answer them. And nobody ever tells him to "shut up." He can yell his lungs out. He can try out working with his hands in wood or clay, working with machine tools, daub around at painting. He can read and talk and discuss. He can exercise his brain in a checkers game and his body in a basketball game. He can put his energy and initiative to work. He is getting help and guidance in the important business of growing up.

In the streets, boys are exposed to bad companions and bad leaders, gambling machines and dope peddlers, delinquency and crime, and all sorts of wrong influences. Do not make the mistake of thinking that this goes on only in the large metropolitan cities. The streets in the small communities are little better places for the building of good citizens.

With many of these boys their only alternative to the streets is the YMCA. These boys need not only opportunities for wholesome and constructive activity, but they also need wise leadership and guidance.

Thousands of these boys do not enjoy the friendship of any man and they will almost worship a man who will notice them and take an interest in their activities. The informal and friendly relationship which exists in our local "Y" club between men and boys gives an unparalleled opportunity for guidance in behavior, attitude and self-development.

Annual Kiwanis Baseball Night To Be At Redbird Stadium Aug. 12

Six Franklin County and Pickaway County Kiwanis Clubs in a united campaign are this year sponsoring the Fourth Annual Kiwanis Night at Red Bird Stadium, Aug. 12, when the Columbus Red Birds and Kansas City Blues clash in a single night game. Funds secured from sponsorship of the game will be used to send underprivileged boys, aged seven to 16, to summer camp.

The six Kiwanis Clubs participating in the event this year are Hilltop Kiwanis, Columbus Club, Linden Heights Club, Northern Club, Northwest Club and Circleville Club. Members of each of the clubs now have tickets available for the game. Bleacher seats are 60 cents; first 12 rows, $1.50; grandstand, $1.10, and box seats, $1.75.

Prior to game time a huge parade will feature all youth organizations, in the city and county, plus several marching bands. Units represented in the parade will be the Kiwanis organizations, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Knothole baseball players, Brownies, Cub Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, Big Brothers Association and many other organizations and units. All told, more than 3,000 boys and girls will be in the huge parade which starts at 7:30 p.m.

Last year the Kiwanis Baseball Karnival netted approximately $6,000, which was used to send 150 boys to Big Brothers camp for the summer in the Hocking hills, southwest of Logan. The Big Brothers prorates the cost of operating the camp for two weak periods to the Kiwanis group, and this includes full service, transportation and care for the boys at an approximate cost of $40 per boy.

Members of the Hilltop Kiwanis Club who are serving on the Baseball Karnival committee are Norman Ussery, assistant chairman and treasurer; Carlton Hartley, ticket committee and publicity committee.

SPORTSLANTS

By Woody Owen

There are more ways than one to skin a cat. Some years ago, a fresh busher was making his big league debut with the Cleveland Indians. Tough George Moriarty was the umpire behind the plate. The rookie took one called strike without protest. Then another. The he turned to the umpire and politely asked:

"I beg your pardon, sir, but how do you spell your name?"

Surprised, umpire Moriarty obliged as he spelled out his name letter by letter. And the rookie sighed, stepped back in the box and gently said:

"Just as I thought, sir, only one "i".

This is Bernie Bierman's classic jest in answer to the question so frequently thrown at him by marvelling football fans.

"How do I get such big men for my Minnesota teams?" begins Bernie. "I'll tell you, my friend. I go driving along a country road until I see a boy walking behind a plow. I stop and ask him the way to Minneapolis. If he leaves the plow and points the way for me with his finger, I thank him and drive on. But if he picks up the plow and uses it for a pointer, that's my man! I just load him in the car with me and bring him right to the registrar's office!"

Gil Dodds, the "Flying Parson," was an ordained minister while he was making track history as one of America's greatest distance runners. One night, after he had won another sensational record-breaking mile race, he was buttonholed by a reporter who pressed him for a statement on his victory.

"The Lord ran with me tonight," explained the Flying Parson modestly.

"And what happened to you?" the reporter asked the highly touted runner who had been badly beaten by Dodds.

"What do you think?" snapped Gil Dodds' beaten rival. "I had to run alone."

A fresh young kid hitchhiked down to the Cleveland Indians' training camp one spring and asked one of the coaches if he could join the squad for practice.

"Sorry, kid," said the coach. "Manager says no one can work with us unless he's got a contract."

"Oh, that!" said the kid, his face brightening up. "Don't let that worry you. Just hand me a contract, I'll sign it!"

A few minutes before the Manhattan College Five stepped out to play its first basketball game of the season a few years ago, the players gathered in the dressing room to elect their captain. The choice fell on the giant 220 pound Mike Mazurki. Noted then, and still remembered with awe, as the greatest two-fisted eater in the history of the school, Mazurki led his team on to the court, reported to the officials that his side was ready, and then joined coach Neil Cohalan and the starting five on the side line.

"What do I do now, coach?" asked the bewildered Mazurki.

"You know what we always do before a game," answered the coach a little sharply. "We say a prayer of course. Now that you're captain, it's your job to lead it. Go On!"

The tongue-tied Mazurki looked around at his waiting teammates in silent stupefaction. As much as he strained, his mind was a complete blank. Not a single simple prayer could he remember at this moment.

At last, a light dawned. Not for nothing had Mike Mazurki earned his vaunted reputation as a big eater. Bowing his head, he whispered gravely, "We will now say grace."

A female golfer was having a bad time on the golf course. After flubbing an easy shot she turned angrily on her snickering caddy. "If you don't stop that," she screeched, "you'll drive me out of my mind!"

"That wouldn't be no drive," answered the boy, "only a putt."

Better Home Center Displays Old And The New

This week Ed. Witherspoon, owner of the Better Home Center, appliance store, 2775 W. Broad-st, is displaying a real contrast in cooking equipment shown above. Several years ago Ed. was living at York, Penn., which is the heart of the "Pennsylvania Dutch" section. One day he discovered a very old, wood-burning cooking and heating stove stored in a barn just outside of York. The owners, an old Dutch couple, said they knew the stove had been in the barn for over 60 years and after a lot of "horse-trading" Ed. squired it.

The old stove was made by The Philadelphia Stove Works in 1850 (now 102 years old), is made entirely of cast iron and is in perfect condition. It burns wood, has an oven and top heating surface and undoubtedly was also used to heat a one room cabin.

By way of contrast Ed. is showing a new General Electric range beside the old one. He points out that the modern housewife is fortunate in being able to cook electrically. With "pushbutton" controls, "automatic themostat" and "automatic timing" a new bride can be just as fine a cook as hubby's mother. For that mother or grandmother, Ed. Witherspoon feels that they, too, deserve the best in modern cooking equipment. (Note: we are just wondering if a part of Ed.'s interest in seeing that grandma and grandpa have the best of everything isn't due to the fact that he and his wife, Lee, have been in that category for the past several months.)

cause the Democrats to lose the northern Negro vote.

Draper states there were four great men in the convention: Estes Kefauver, who directed his delegates not to say anything derogatory about any other candidates, Paul Douglass of Illinois, Richard Russell of Georgia and James Roosevelt of California, who, unlike his brother, F.D.R., Jr., of New York, could be swayed into no deals.

"The Ohio Kefauver delegation left Ohio with 31 honest delegates and came back with 31 honest delegates," Draper states. Toward the end of the convention there was so much double-crossing he claims that certain groups were even double-crossing themselves.

Draper, who paid his own expenses and those of his wife and daughters, Nancy and Deborah, to the convention, came back with two things only—an experience he claims he would never have again, and two coonskin caps!

About The Hilltop

Something new in our daily life has been added. Last Monday a week ago, civil defense aircraft spotters took up their duties on around-the-clock watch. As usual they can't get along without us ladies, so if you can spare four hours a week support this program, and who knows, maybe you will be the one to help solve the mystery of the flying saucers.

News of our vacationers, along the tow-path at Buckeye Lake: The Al Brookeys are guests of Margaret and Bill Sullivan . . . A few numbers away are the Severa family, Neil and Frances and their daughter, Sue, also brother Walter and his wife, Florence . . . Who says there is no fish in Buckeye Lake? Phil and Mary McGinnis boated 42 bass alone during their two week stay . . . Former Hilltopper "Doc" Eckert is now president of the Buckeye Lake Chamber of Commerce. His son, Dave, will be married on the Bride and Groom television show Aug. 5 . . . Mrs. Humphreys is busy distributing tickets to her friends over here for the St. Aloysius annual homecoming lawn fete to be held Aug. 5 and 6 on the church grounds.

A get well wish to Ella Furry, cashier at Capretta Market. She is now a patient at Mt. Carmel Hospital . . . Ray and Tammy Burgoon's granddaughter, Cheri Lynn, who recently underwent an operation, is on the mend . . . The Ed McGurer's son, Eugene, US Army, is expected home soon from Camp Picket, Va., on a convalescent leave. He and his wife, the former Frances Wiseman, are expecting a visit from the stork.

Returning from the Far East is Cpl. Donald F. Stump, 210 S. Powell-av. . . . A belated happy birthday wish to Homer Lee Busick, son of Mrs James Martin, who is now stationed in Korea . . . Midshipman Bruce Hall, U.S. Naval Academy and Jerard Solinger are aboard the USS Wisconsin on a summer training cruise to Scotland, France and Cuba . . . Harry Overs, Jr., OSU student, is a cadet commander at a summer ROTC camp at Ft. Knox, Ky. . . . Hilltop OSU students making the honor list in the college of arts and sciences this last quarter are Richard Layman, Elliott Migdal and Lillian Stout.

This evening, Mrs. Dave Enright will fete Sallie De Shetler, pretty bride-elect of Dan Capozzi of Baltimore, Md., with a kitchen shower. They will wed in an open church ceremony at St. Mary Magdalene Sept 6. . . . Paul Bennett is now engaged to Patty Burgoon, a June graduate of St. Mary's of the Springs Academy . . . The Charles B. Allers are on an extended trip through the East. They recently celebrated their golden wedding anniversary.

Hilltop women recently elected officers of the Child Conservation League are Mrs. William P. Murphy and Mrs. Howard Harris. Other active members in the league are Mrs. James Van Nostrand and Mrs. Charles Preston . . . Harold B. Y-Teens Serve Mt. Carmel As Nurses' Aides And Supply Workers In Summer Project

Working with patients to release the nurses and regular staff at Mt. Carmel Hospital are Joan Courtney, 674 Binns-blvd, who offers the patient, Mrs. Rosemary Ellison, Dayton, O., a cool drink; and Judy Posey, 307 S. Algonquin-av, who is trying to entertain the patient with reading material. These girls are among the West Y-Teens who devote many hours to the hospital in a volunteer program.

Sister Theresa Margaret of Mt. Carmel Hospital is grateful for ten West High School Y-Teens who are participating in a community project of the club by devoting two half-days a week, and often more, to the hospital. The girls participate in the hospital program to the extent of an additional staff person on a 48 hour week according to Sister Theresa Margaret.

The girls are divided into two units, those who work in the supply department where surgical and sterile supplies for the whole hospital are prepared; and those who serve as nurses' aides and work on the floors.

In the Central Supply Department the Y-Teens prepare packs for surgery, fold bandages and work with other equipment. On the floor they bring fresh water, smooth beds, rub backs, serve trays, run errands and answer call lights.

The girls are enthusiastic about the work they are doing. Two of the girls hope to be associated with hospital work later; one as a nurse, one in a different capacity. They feel they are really being helpful to the patients and to the hospital and according to Sister Theresa Margaret they do help fill a big need. She states that the hospital could use even more help however.

The girls active in the summer service project of the YWCA are Phyllis Bailey, Barbara Bigler, Joan Courtney, Beverly Hoyt, Nancy Hoare, Marilyn Kropfhauser, Charlotte Martens, Barbara Moore, Judy Posey and Pat Miesse.

Camp Chase To Hold Festival Sat., Aug. 2

Camp Chase Post No. 96 of the American Legion and its Auxiliary Unit will stage an Old Fashioned Lawn Fete, Festival, and Buffet Supper on the lawn of the new American Legion Home, 3211 W. Broad-st Saturday evening between 5 and 11 p. m.

All food on the menu is guaranteed to be Home Made and prepared in an old fashioned manner. There will be a fish pond, grab bag booth and games to help entertain during the course of the evening. The entire affair is open to the public.

Camp Chase Post recently was awarded a National Citation for its "Outstanding Child Welfare Program." Promotions such as Saturday's old fashioned lawn fete, festival, and buffet Supper enables the Post to obtain funds for its various programs.

Hilltop Keystone Class Sponsors Aug. 1 Lawn Fete

The Keystone-Friendship Class of Hilltop Church of Christ, Burgess-av and Olive-st, will sponsor a Lawn Fete, Friday, Aug. 1, 6 to 9 p.m. as a follow-up to the ground breaking ceremonies at the church held last Sunday. Proceeds will go to the building fund.

Lewis Trout, 796 S. Richardson-av, is chairman of the fete to be held on the church lawn. Rev. Carl Smith is pastor of the church.

George Hammond was the first British minister to the United States in 1791 after Britian recognized diplomatically the United States government in that year.

Bible Comment:

Bible's Words on Work Still Apply During Our Times

THE vigorous words, written many hundreds of years ago to describe what happens when men stop working and become sluggards, describe what happened in many countries where the masses turned from honest toil, not in this instance to sleep like sluggards, but to engage in the equally unproductive business of war. The wise man of the Proverbs predicted that "want as an armed man" would come to the non-worker, and that is the situation in the lands stricken by war.

Even in countries like ours we have had ample demonstrations of what happens when men stop working. Without trying to assess the matter of rights and causes, one can point to what happens when trains stop running, when steel mills stop producing and when coal isn't dug.

Such strikes and lockouts no longer affect only the things that people can do without, but they imperil the very basis of living and safety. Even the automobile that was once a luxury is now, for many people, essential in the business of life. Regardless of where the blame lies it ought to be evident that when work is stopped in any basic industry the very fabric of society is endangered.

The problems associated with the right not to work have become more emphasized than those which for a long time were concerned with unemployment and the right to work.

The productive powers of man are so great that if all who are able to work were doing their fair share, and were doing it faithfully, the resulting resources for the satisfaction of human needs and for the aggrandizement of life would be so great that short hours of labor, with much time for leisure, pleasure and home-building would be available for all. But the greatness of this productive power leads men to forget the tragedy that befalls, when men cease producing at all, or when great numbers of them do.

So, the wise words concerning work are still words of wisdom. And the words of Jesus are above all to be remembered, "My Father worketh hitherto; and I work."

"YOU MUST RUN OUT THERE, BILL, I'M TOO BROKEN UP TO DO IT!"

Often it's a friend of the family, sometimes a total stranger, who must choose the burial space. In either case, he can only guess, select hurriedly and hope for the best! Think! The family's most personal, permanent possession—left for choosing by an outsider!

Decide today to drive out to Sunset Cemetery and compare our prices and service with any other cemetery, and then decide to buy your burial estate now.

Shellhaas Returns To Pulpit Sunday

Rev. Joseph B. Shellhaas, pastor of Glenwood Methodist Church, and Mrs. Shellhaas have just returned from a trip to California and he will occupy his pulpit Sunday, Aug. 3.

Rev. Shellhaas is starting three series of sermons for the month of August, which are as follows:

Sunday mornings, 10:30 a. m., "The Realities of the Christian Faith": Aug. 3, "The Self-Evidencing Nature of Truth"; Aug. 10, "Self-Ignorance"; Aug. 17, "The Invisible God"; Aug. 24, "Participation in the Sufferings of Christ", and Aug. 31, "The Christian Heritage."

Sunday evenings, 7:30, "The Soul's Secret"; Aug. 3, "Everywhere Is Here"; Aug. 10, "The Future Is Born Today"; Aug. 17, "The Soul's Armour"; Aug. 24, "Provinces for Everybody", and Aug. 31, "Discipline Is Ultimate Love."

Wednesday evenings, 7:30, "The Radiant Life": Aug. 6, "The Art of Seeing"; Aug. 13, "An Open Secret"; Aug. 20, "One to Slay", and Aug. 27, "There Is But One Road to This Town."

The City of Akron rose from shantles which housed Irish laborers during construction of the Ohio Canal.

THE Evening Altar

This is an evening altar in an American home—a spot where the tensions of today are resolved into new life for tomorrow.

If you think that such an altar is out of place, you had better examine the routine of your own life more carefully. Perhaps you need this altar in your life more than you think you do.

These are days of tremendous action for us all, when we rush from one task to the next. Just "getting through" today often leaves us little time for thoughts of tomorrow. Before we know it, a year, two years, ten years have passed. Are we any farther on the road to our goals?

Our answer lies in the evening altar. It is the one place each day where an individual can measure his course against God's word in the Bible. For on almost every page is a moral for today, a thought for tomorrow . . .

Your altar need not be as elaborate as this. Its form is unimportant. But if you form the habit of reading your Bible daily, it will soon become apparent that a happy life is not only lived, but planned for you in the pages of your Bible.

Consecrate yourselves today to the Lord; that he may bestow upon you a blessing this day. —Ex. 32:29

Camp Chase Nine Defeats Barrett, End Season .500

Camp Chase Post-Beasley Grove Ford Legion junior baseball nine chalked up its fourth victory in a row after as many consecutive setbacks to finish the season at .500. At Sunshine Park last Sunday the Smith Barratt Boys' Club team's right handed Chuck Turner held Camp Chase to only three hits, two doubles and a single, only to see his team go down to defeat with seven scattered hits. Fred Laderer, Camp Chase right hander, got credit for the victory.

Camp Chase scored one run in the second inning as Hughes drew a base on balls, stole second and scored on center fielder John Magaw's double to right. They added another in the sixth as third baseman Ronnie Bowman walked, stole second and third and tallied as Vincent grounded to short.

The Boys' Club racked up two in the bottom of the sixth to make the score 2-2 as Turner singled, Fagan was safe on an error and Marvin and Burris each singled.

Camp Chase scored what proved to be the winning run in the top of the seventh as Haire singled, stole second and scored as pitcher Fred Laderer won his own game with a terrific smash to right center for a double.

YOUR YOUTH

By Bob Schmidt

The Gold Rush seems to be the outstanding special event of the Hilltop Summer Fun Club. The "Y" boys enjoyed many a hardy laugh at the expense of your "Y" Secretary. There is never a dull moment at the "Y" on the Hilltop.

The "Y" Treasure Hunt was attended by 50 "Y" boys this week After finding and following the clues all over the Hilltop they ended the Hunt at the "Y" office. The winning team won a large box of candy and then all the boys participating in the Treasure Hunt received Ice Cream bars.

We are happy to introduce Dick Bitler as another assistant leader of our Craft class. With Jim Elizroth, Tom Maish, and Bill Branman also assisting in the class we now have a good nucleus for a Hilltop Leaders Club. Other boys who are interested in volunteering their time and talent can do so by contacting the "Y".

By the looks of the one front display window we are in need of more space. The members of the craft class are really filling this window with the various types of models they are building. It is well worth your time to see this display.

The Little "Y" league is in full swing now with 135 boys participating. There have been many tight games but there is always an air of clean sportsmanship regardless of win or lose with these boys.

Several fathers are deeply interested in a "Y" Indian Guide Program for their sons. In the very near future we will be organizing an Indian Guide tribe here on the Hilltop. The "Y" Indian Guides is a national father and son club program, sponsored by the YMCA. It is a program in which fathers and sons participate together as tribe members. Its main purpose is to multiply the number of things that fathers and sons can do to-gether at an age when a boy thinks his Dad is the greatest man in the world. The "Y" believes that comradeship of father and son has mutual advantage, that no other program offers. Tribes are composed of fathers and their sons who are six years of age and over.

Any father and son who would be interested in joining a "Y" Indian Guide Tribe should call the "Y", JO. 4641. for additional information.

R. T. King Chapter is having an "Alice in Wonderland" bazaar on Friday, Aug. 8, at the Knights of Pythias Temple, 697 S. High-st. The social clubs of the chapter will have special booths of wonder; the Ameer—aprons to suit every purpose; the Areme Club—post office with parcel post packages from all parts of the country; the Mary Star Point—famous country store with surprises galore. The chorus will have sweets, delicious homemade candy, and there will be a fish pond for those who like to fish. Walking Gift Shop, also will be emphasized.

The tempting food served from 5 to 7:30 p. m. should in itself be an incentive to visit the "Alice in Wonderland" Bazaar Friday, Aug. 8, at the K. of P. Temple, 697 S. High-st.

Over 50,000 At Annual Hilltop Bean Dinner

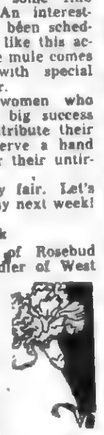
The Spectator by C.C. Hartley

It's Your County Fair— Plan To Take It In

Next Monday will mark the opening of the 39th annual Franklin County Fair at Hilliards and advance notices predict the biggest fair yet held in our neighboring community.

The Franklin County Fair is just that—the big agricultural event of Franklin County—and will have hundreds of features of interest to everyone.

If it's the cattle and livestock displays, 4-H Club work, vegetable and fruit displays, machinery exhibits, or even the midway attractions the county fair will have it. If you like harness racing you'll find some fine meets scheduled. An interesting horse show has been scheduled for those who like this activity. And even the mule comes in for attention with special mule races this year.



The men and women who make the fair the big success it is each year contribute their services. They deserve a hand from the public for their untiring efforts.

It is your county fair. Let's all take it in one day next week!

Flowers of the Week

A big bouquet of Rosebud posies to Ed Schadler of West Hill Furniture, the gent who served as chairman of that very successful Hilltop Bean Dinner last week. It was a very smooth running show, Ed, and the chairman deserves a lot of credit for time he gave to making it so. Congratulations!

Take Time

To think.
It is the source of power.

"Walter Pidgeon," six-weeks-old pet bird, receives his noon meal from Kay Sawyer, 10 years old, of 32 S. Yearling. Kay found the bird when he was about a week old and had suffered a broken leg. She put it in splints and nursed him back to health. Now he's her best friend and reports for meals and to be put to bed at night in Kay's wagon in the back yard.

New Electrical Sub-Station To Be Built Here

Officials of the Columbus & Southern Ohio Electric Co. this week revealed plans for the immediate construction of an additional electrical substation at 397 Wilson-rd and Crystal Spring-dr. The new power unit, which will cost $750,000, is expected to be completed early in 1953.

Construction of the new 138,000-volt substation, according to the company spokesman, will provide improved electrical service for the Hilltop and West Side as well as power for the new Westinghouse plant now under construction on W. Broad-st.

The new substation will serve as an addition to the unit currently in service at the Wilson-rd location.

Vandals Raid Starling Junior High School

Mrs. Fay Parker, 244 S. Central-av, a janitress at Starling Junior High School, 120 S. Central-av, reported to police last Wednesday that the school had been broken into and several first-floor rooms and offices damaged.

"Quite a mess" was the description of the work done by vandals at the school. Mrs. Parker said a table radio and clock were stolen from the principal's office and a fire started in the viewing-in office.

The vandals may have entered the building through an unlocked window or hid in the building before custodians went home Tuesday. Supplies were strewn on the floor, drawers upset, and a number of typing covers thrown on the floor.

Four Fires Keep Firemen Busy

Firemen were kept busy early Monday morning fighting fires in garages located at 309, 315, 312 and 316 S. Terrace-av. At 4:11 a. m. one fire pumper and one squad answered an alarm at the rear of 309 S. Terrace-av.

After extinguishing a blaze at the one-story frame garage the firemen were kept hopping as fire spread to three nearby garages. Within 11 minutes the fires were all out but a total of $235 damage had been done.

Firemen are still investigating the cause of the original fire.

Mrs. Clarke Miller Is Awarded $500 In Cash By Hilltop Record

C. Carlton Hartley, publisher, is pictured above presenting Mrs. Clarke Miller, 770 S. Burgess-av, the $500 she was awarded by The Hilltop Record at the Hilltop Bean Dinner.

Mrs. Clarke Miller, 770 S. Burgess-av, renewed her subscription to The Hilltop Record last January, not with any idea that she would be the winner of $500 because of her renewal.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller came here from Morgantown, W. Va., two years ago and began their subscription to the local paper when they moved into the brick double they built on S. Burgess-av in May, 1951. It was a six month subscription but the paper proved so helpful to the Millers in adjusting to their new community that they renewed their subscription in January for a year. It was this renewal that made Mrs. Miller $500 richer.

Mrs. Miller didn't go to the Bean Dinner because her husband was on his job as general foreman of maintenance at General Motors' Ternstedt Division on the second trick and because "Tommy", 5, one of the two children being raised by the Millers hadn't been feeling well. Mrs. Miller said, "I'd even forgotten we were eligible for the prize and when Mr. Hartley called I thought it was a practical joke." Mrs. Miller received the call about 11 p. m. while her husband was at work.

Relating the sensation of winning $500 to this reporter, Mrs. Miller continued, "Well, when I realized I really had won the money, I thought I would burst!" She tried to call her husband but was unable to reach him immediately because the telephone operators don't work that late. A maintenance worker who did answer the phone was told, "Would you tell Clarke Miller to call his wife. I just won $500." When Mr. Miller heard the news he said, "Not my wife. She's never won anything in her life!"

Well wishers called the home till early in the morning with congratulations and suggestions as to

HBA Officials Term Annual Event As "Most Successful"

As final tabulations were being completed this week, C. H. Campbell, executive secretary of the Hilltop Business Association revealed that more than 50,000 persons were in attendance at the two-day session of the Ninth Annual Hilltop Bean Dinner last week. More than 17,000 persons were counted by Army officials as having viewed the huge bomber which was on display at the annual event. In the opinion of HBA officials, who sponsor the event, this year's showing of the bean dinner was the most successful ever in the history of the community celebration.

The greased pole was scaled by Harry McPartland, 201 S. Wheatland-av, with the aid of several friends. The prize was a valuable watch from Hilltop Jewelers and $20 in cash from Fox Food Shop. Lou Klass and Harold Fox arranged the contest.

Ball Games

The Volunteer Firemen defeated West Park Methodist 7-3 in a softball game to begin Wednesday evening's entertainment. The teams are members of the Hilltop YMCA's intermediate league. Ternstedt's team was then walloped 11-7 before the local crowd by Timkens in the Industrial Little League game.

A large crowd gathered to watch Joe Wolfe, 755 S. Wayne-av, defeat Tony Sinatra of New York in a wrestling bout Wednesday night. Wolfe at 210 had little trouble in gaining the two falls from Sinatra a 212 pounder. A girls match pitted Lois Johnson, 155 Harmon-av, with Carol Carota, Cincinnati. Miss Carota took the match.

Arch Turner, well known Columbus referee, worked both bouts with Mac Pemberton, local coach, as timekeeper.

Special Awards Made

In addition to the $500 awarded to Mrs. Clarke Miller, 770 Burgess-av by the Hilltop Record, four other businesses made special awards.

Eldon Ardle of Fifer Queen Sales, 28 Whitethorne-av, conducted a contest in which Ted A. Coss, 72 Clarendon-av, was the winner of a television hassock.

A 30 gallon Rheem gas automatic water heater was presented to Dr. C. A. Coburn, 224 S. Westmoor-av, as the winner in the Westgate Plumbing, 2490 W. Broad-st, contest.

J. Curtis Allen, photographer at 2375½ W. Broad-st, sponsored a "count the beans" contest. Over 3,000 entries were received and winner was Mrs. Bessie Groves, 2900 Crescent-dr. The correct answer was 5754 and Mrs. Groves guessed 5728! Her prize was a genuine leather "buildabook" picture album with two 8x10 lifetone photos taken free of charge each year for the next five years. Little Patty Lyons, 3, Mrs. Groves granddaughter, will most probably be the subject for the pictures.

Games Played Wednesday

Chairman of the games and contests at the Hilltop Bean Dinner, Lou Klass, was assisted by Bob Schmidt of the Hilltop Y in planning and executing the activities held last Wednesday afternoon.

"First of the contests was a "balloon scramble" for those under age six, won by Bobby Faller and Sandy Woodward. The balloon breaking contest for the same age group was won by Beth Evans, Linda Soule, Linda Kay Morris, David Fischer and Joe Tarabe.

The sack race for girls from seven to eight was won by Linda Martin and Carol Popp. The girls' shoe scramble was taken by Marjane Beckman and Diane Chesser. The boys' sack race winners were Billy Halstein and David Levering and girls in the 9-10 group were Julie Martin and Jeanne Constantine. Boys' shoe scramble winners were Mike Clark and John Merrick. Girls, age 9-10, who won in the shoe scramble were Janet Snyder and Judy Nepirk.

Winners in the peanut roll for the boys, age 11-12, were Pete Tonti and Dick Williams. The peanut roll for the older boys was won by Bob Dewitt and Eddie Fisher. The sack race for 11 and 12-year-olds was won by Gene Tiddle and Ray Horky. Sharon Younkin and Billie Jordan won the balloon breaking contest for older girls and the shoe scramble was won by Beverly Welsh and Brenda Menz.

Heat Wave And Improper Handling of Garbage Are Creating Health And Sanitation Problem

Pictured above are the garbage and refuse collection trucks which help to keep the city a healthful and clean place in which to live. The presence of these trucks though cannot correct situations where the general public does not exercise a reasonable measure of cooperation.

The heat wave which has assailed Columbus during the past few weeks, besides holding the citizenry in the grip of a sweltering humidity, creating a water shortage and bringing about many heat prostrations has also brought to attention of city health authorities an acute sanitation problem occasioned by the improper handling of refuse and garbage.

The Division of Street Cleaning, Garbage and Refuse Collection and Disposal this week urged that every effort be made by householders to help in a drive to "Make Columbus the Cleanest City in America."

Urging compliance and cooperation with a few simple rules which will go a long ways toward promoting health, happiness and economy in city government, the division pointed out the ordinances and rules which govern the preparation of garbage and rubbish from the home.

FIRST — A suitable container, not to exceed 30-gallon capacity; with vermin-proof lid or cover. To be filled with half garbage and half paper or other burnable material.

The present method of disposal necessitates paper-wrapped garbage or other burnables. This method is more sanitary and lengthens the life of a container. Wrapped garbage is easier and cheaper to burn in city incinerator. Container to be placed on lot line at alley, or within 25 feet of dwelling. Container should be placed on stone slab or cement, or up off ground, to prevent rusting of bottom.

Underground containers are permissable, is placed in accessable location for collectors.

Paper containers, boxes, open containers, or garbage mixed with rubbish, thrown on the ground; this—a violation of all rules of sanitation.

Section 667-668 of the Columbus General Code; provides—garbage receptable shall be of metal with cover to keep out flies and vermin and not to exceed 30-gallon capacity. Receptacle to be kept within the lot line or a place convenient for collection.

Section 656-657 of the Columbus General Code, provides—each tenant or occupant of dwelling shall furnish suitable container for rubbish * * * receptacles intended to contain rubbish or ashes shall be made of wood or metal, with waterproof cover, constructed in such a manner as not to allow con-

BACK YARDS

I like to wander down a path
Where back yards lean against a wall,
And fling festoons of flowering vines
Wherever they may chance to fall.
I see front yards that seem to stand
All neatly clipped with velvet lawn . . .
Quite as a fat old lady looks
With girdle on, too tightly drawn.
But yards that faces the vine-clad alleys,
Are the ones I love and bless,
Each like a careless gay young girl
Proud in her bright-hued, flowered dress.
Maybe their simple way of life
Affects the psychic side of me,
For strolling down a back yard path
The heart of a home I seem to see;
With laundry flaunting on a line
And children, cats and dogs at play . . .
You may take all the neat front yards,
But I'll take back yards, any day.

In the Lyric.

Excerpts from mail. From Mr. Fred Zartman, self-styled "dirt farmer" of Thornville—"Oceans of golden wheat, that's what is all around Thornville. All week I've seen wheat slide out of the combines like gold into the coffer. Enough bread for all the Hilltop . . . about the time you are reading this I'll be back at the lower forty down by Honey Creek and the wild plum grove, picking blackberries. They are large and luscious, and with cream and sugar—I love to tempt you." From my favorite shut-in down in Tennessee—"One of the doctors here went through school with Kefauver and says he hopes he won't be nominated for the presidency because he is too nice a guy to be pushed around." (The doctor got his wish.) From a relative in Newark, Ohio—"If Newark men are caught without beards or a barber permit, and women wearing lipstick, fingernail polish or anything that wasn't being worn 150 years ago, they are fined. I have made a sunbonnet but I'm not sure that it is the kind that Godey's Lady Book was featuring then." From a fiend who shall be anonymous—"Is it hot enough for you these days?"

Talking over preparations for the biggest cattle show ever to be held at the Franklin County Fair at Hilliards, Aug. 11-16, are, left to right, Lester Armentrat, Charles Roberts, William Barr, Leon Boucher, Harold Hart and E. G. Clime. Hart is chairman of the fair board; Roberts, Boucher and Clime are directors. They are inspecting the wooden forms covering the cement wall for the new unloading dock for cattle.

Attend the Franklin County Fair this year. It is a family institution, of interest to young and old alike.

A program extending over six big days is scheduled for the annual Franklin County Fair that opens at Hilliards next Monday and continues through Saturday.

Harold Hart, president of the fair board, stated this week that there is every reason to believe this years fair will set new attendance records in view of the fact that the program is being extended over a longer period than heretofore. Fair board members have been hard at work arranging a program for the past several months and have come up with an array of events that should attract numerous people.

Official opening of the fair will take place when the horse show is staged Monday night.

Tuesday's program will see the judging of the open class cattle show, judging of junior fair swine, sheep and beef cattle and showmanship classes. Mule races in the afternoon and evening promise a lot of fun for everyone. Judging of the 4-H gardening exhibits and FFA crops will also take place Tuesday. The horse show in the evening will conclude Tuesday's events.

A special feature of Wednesday's show will be Bradford's Trained Sheep Dogs. There will be judging of swine and sheep, junior fair dairy cattle and showmanship in the morning and judging of Ayreshire cattle in the afternoon. More mule races are on the program for Wednesday. Bradfords sheep dogs and the night horse show will conclude the Wednesday events.

On Thursday there will be the judging of the open class dairy cattle, junior fair poultry and harness racing. Night harness racing will be the big event of Thursday evening.

Friday's program will feature the judging of open class dairy cattle and a show by Bradford's sheep dogs. An amateur talent contest in the afternoon is to be the highlight of the day. Harness racing will be featured again in the evening.

Special recognition of the 4-H Club's 50th anniversary will be given on Saturday. The 4-H and FFA livestock judging contest will take place in the morning and the Junior Fair Parade with floats, livestock and farm machinery will take place at 1 p. m., followed by the 4-H style show and trophy presentation. There will be harness racing in the evening.

All buildings and grounds at the Fair will be cleaned, and sprayed with disinfectant and DDT before the fair opens. Leon Boucher (above) rakes leaves in front of one of the buildings for sheep and hogs.

BACK YARDS

I like to wander down a path
Where back yards lean against a wall,
And fling festoons of flowering vines
Wherever they may chance to fall.
I see front yards that seem to stand
All neatly clipped with velvet lawn . . .
Quite as a fat old lady looks
With girdle on, too tightly drawn.
But yards that face the vine-clad alleys,
Are the ones I love and bless,
Each like a careless gay young girl
Proud in her bright-hued, flowered dress.
Maybe their simple way of life
Affects the psychic side of me,
For strolling down a back yard path
The heart of a home I seem to see;
With laundry flaunting on a line
And children, cats and dogs at play . . .
You may take all the neat front yards
But I'll take back yards, any day.

Elizabeth Lee Sargent,
In the Lyric.

All friends of Courage, Incorporated, who wish to help with food and/or transportation for the annual picnic to be held at Norwood Amusement Park on East Main-st, Saturday afternoon, Aug. 9, may call Irene Parthemer, UN. 4306, or Emma Sells, UN. 3838. That is the word from the organization's biggest booster, "Sandy" Sanford, 2623 Glenmawr-av. Everyone who has attended these picnics knows they are most enjoyable. If you can help, you'll be doing yourself and lots of other fine people lots of good.

Excerpts from mail. From Mr. Fred Zartman, self-styled "dirt farmer" of Thornville—"Oceans of golden wheat, that's what is all around Thornville. All week I've seen wheat slide out of the combines like gold into the coffer. Enough bread for all the Hilltop . . . about the time you are reading this I'll be back at the lower forty down by Honey Creek and the wild plum grove, picking blackberries. They are large and luscious, and with cream and sugar—I love to tempt you." From my favorite shut-in down in Tennessee—"One of the doctors here went through school with Kefauver and says he hopes he won't be nominated for the presidency because he is too nice a guy to be pushed around." (The doctor got his wish.) From a relative in Newark, Ohio—"If Newark men are caught without beards or a barber permit, and women wearing lipstick, fingernail polish or anything that wasn't being worn 150 years ago, they are fined. I have made a sunbonnet but I'm not sure that it is the kind that Godey's Lady Book was featuring then." From a fiend who shall be anonymous—"Is it hot enough for you these days?"

General Motors To Advance Workers Pay For Insurance

General Motors will advance on behalf of the employes laid off on account of the steel strike their current contributions for General Motors' insurance and local Blue Cross and Blue Shield coverages, announced C. E. Wilson, president of General Motors, this week.

Currently about 140,000 General Motors employes are unable to work as a result of the steel shortage, consequently in many cases payroll deductions cannot be made to cover their contribution to the General Motors insurance program.

"In taking this step General Motors recognizes the importance of this insurance protection," said Mr. Wilson. "Without the facilities for payroll deductions, employes would have to find means of making payments in cash at the plant and at the offices of the local Blue Cross and Blue Shield plan.

"With many of our employees away from home or for other reasons unable to make such cash payments, there would be a serious danger of lapses in this important insurance protection for the employe and his family. The General Motors plan to advance employes' contributions will help the local Blue Cross and Blue Shield offices maintain this protection." The plan provides for the employees to repay advances following return to work.

Approximately 95 per cent of the General Motors employes participate in the General Motors insurance program, the cost of which is shared by General Motors and the employe.

Kiwanians Aid Boys Camp Program Through Ball Game

M. E. Sensenbrenner, 335 Guernsey-av, an active member of the Hilltop Kiwanis Club, is assisting with plans for the fourth annual Kiwanis Baseball Karnival to be held at Red Bird Stadium, Tuesday, Aug. 12.

The Karnival is sponsored by the United Kiwanis Clubs of Franklin and Pickaway Counties, and entire proceeds from the event will benefit the Kiwanis Boys Camp Fund, which this year is sending 160 needy Columbus boys on a two-weeks' holiday to the Big Brothers Camp in the Hocking Hills.

Sensenbrenner (seated left) is pictured with Lloyd Davis of the Northwest Kiwanis Club, who is serving as general chairman of the Karnival; William B. Marshall, Linden Club, working on the ticket committee, and (standing) George Timmons of the downtown club, and Dr. Harry Mauger, Northwest club, ticket committee.

Other members of the Hilltop Kiwanis Club who are taking an active part in the Karnival plans include Harold Fox, 235 S. Westgate-av, club president; Norman Ussery, 2530 Sutton-av, who is serving as assistant chairman and treasurer, for the event, and Carlton Hartley, 1370 Wilson-rd, tickets and publicity.

The Karnival will feature the game between the Columbus Red Birds and Kansas City. A spectacular parade and a show at 7:45 p. m. will precede the 8:15 p. m. game. Tickets may be obtained from any Kiwanis member or at the stadium.

Marla Ann Pullins, six-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Pullins of 238 S. Six Pony Hitch Coming To Hilltop

Shetland ponies that have been to school will appear at the Big Bear Store on the Hilltop next Wednesday, Aug. 13, from 4:30 to 6:30 p. m.

Adorned in chrome-plated harness, the six ponies put on a fast-stepping exhibition of teamwork and skill while pulling an authentic miniature express wagon trimmed in chrome.

The ponies are raised on the Curtiss Candy Company farm just outside of Chicago, which is one of the several farms comprising more than 3,000 acres which the company maintains for dairy and breeding cattle.

At two years of age the pony is led into the big outdoor arena, enclosed by a white planked fence. For the first six weeks he is trained to stop, turn and back up; then he is taught to work paired with another pony; then gradually he learns to work with four and finally as one of the team of six. By the end of six months of training the pony is ready to enter one of the four six-pony hitches being used on the show circuits.

Each of the wagons, carefully made in the company's own shops, cost approximately $3,000. In all, about $25,000 is invested in each team.

A get well wish to John Pratt, a patient in Benjamin Franklin Hospital. He and his wife, the former Betty Lerum, are expecting a visit from the stork . . . a belated happy birthday wish to Bill Gallagher, the newly appointed captain of our beautiful ranch type fire engine house in Westgate.

tents to escape therefrom, the capacity not to exceed that of an ordinary barrell, and the dimentions and weight of container such that one man can conveniently handle same.

All conainers of rubbish or ashes must be constructed so as to exclude an excessive amount of water.

All burnables should be kept separate from ashes and cans or other rubbish. Building material accumulated in construction, remodeling or repairing of buildings, must be taken care of by the builder himself.

United States Public Health Service reports the destruction of food and property by each rat as $25. Multiply this by the millions of rats in the United States—this money would pay for all forms of rat control and prevention, as well as pay for proper containers for every householder.

Garbage is collected each week, rubbish once each month, barring hard-freezing weather, when all crews and trucks are assigned to snow and ice control.

Prize Winner

how the Millers might spend their extra income. Mrs. Miller repeatedly told them, "You don't know how wonderful it is. I'm walking on a cloud."

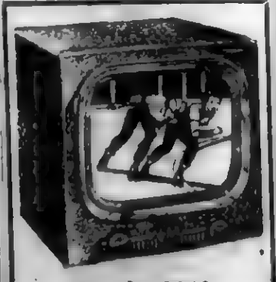
Having no children of their own, Mr. and Mrs. Miller are raising Tom and Peggy Corey, a nephew and niece. Tom, 5, and Peggy, 7, have been with the Millers for about four years because of the ill health of the Millers' sister-in-law, and are considered by the Millers, "Just like our own."

The Millers were active in Girl Scout work for nine years in Morgantown and are now on the established camp committee for Camp Kenjockety. Peggy will join a Brownie troop this year and Mrs. Miller will probably take an active part. They are members of Westgate Methodist Church and Mrs. Miller is a member of the WSCS there.

The money? Well the Millers have a new home and according to Mrs. Miller, "We still need a lot of things." One luxury to be allowed the attractive housewife is a new electric type sewing machine. "I like to sew and I've wanted to trade my treadle type in for a long time but couldn't afford to," said Mrs. Miller. "That's the only thing I know for sure we'll get." Another idea that appealed to the Millers was to fix up their basement playroom. "We've been meaning to do that too," she said with a smile.

And last but not least, some of the money will go to the church. "I just wouldn't feel right if we didn't share our good fortune with the church," said Mrs. Miller. "I guess we really have been living right."

Fred Pringle



Services and burial for Mr. Pringle, 54, 254 Whitethorne-av, who was killed last Wednesday in an automobile accident near Barstow, Cal., were held in Los Angeles, Cal.

Washes 3 Times Cleaner! REALLY WORK-FREE
Yes—you can easily afford this sensational new dishwasher, for it costs but pennies a day to own, actually less than half the cost of a package of cigarettes. Over a ten year period, for example, it would cost less than 9c a day, 3c a meal to have a "maid" in your kitchen, freeing you from your dullest job. Remember, it's the greatest labor-saving device you could possibly buy—doing more work for you every day than any other appliance you could own!
Come in and see how the Roto-Tray assures that every dish is washed three times cleaner than by hand. See it today.

How many miles away is the house across the street?
Maybe they've just moved in. Maybe they've been there for quite a while—but your good intentions to get together just never seemed to materialize.
Whatever the case, isn't there someone in your neighborhood—maybe right across the street—with whom you ought to be a little friendlier? Someone who—as far as human relationships go—is miles away from you?
Why not bring your family and theirs closer together by asking them to come to church or synagogue with you this week?
Anyone who has ever experienced that invitation will tell you how warm and friendly it seems in a strange town or a new neighborhood.
So never hesitate about asking a friend or neighbor to church. These days, more than ever, it is the sign of a good American, a good neighbor, and a good person to have for a friend.
Take someone to Church this week . . . you'll both be richer for it

YOUTH

By Bob Schmidt

The free movies which your Hilltop "Y" sponsored at the annual Hilltop Bean Dinner were well attended. During the two-day program approximately 3000 boys, girls, and adults enjoyed the movies.

Monday afternoon the Hilltop "Y" Summer Fun Club went on a rubberneck tour of the Coca Cola Bottling Co. The boys were shown and informed of manufacturing process of bottling soft drinks and after their conducted tour were treated to cokes.

Tonight 15 members of the Summer Fun Club are enjoying an over-night camp out at Central Ohio Anglers Club. Fishing, swimming, hiking and camp fire stories will be the feature events during the two-day trip. Lou Maish and Oren Menz and your "Y" secretary are serving as leaders for this group.

The Craft and Hobbies Class is meeting every Tuesday and Thursday morning at 9:30 at the YMCA and every boy who is interested is welcome to join this group. The response to this craft class has been overwhelming. We started six weeks ago with five boys and last week had 35 boys in attendance at this class.

Tommy Bridges and Charles Roush will be attending the "Y" Camp Willson through the sponsorship of the Hilltop Lions Club. This club is to be commended for its interest in the welfare of the youth of the Hilltop.

Friday, Aug. 8, we are again going to attend a Red Bird baseball game. You are to meet at the YMCA at 7 p. m. and bring 10c for admission tax. We will be in need of transportation and any dad who would like to join us and take a group of boys is welcome. Please call the "Y" office, JO. 4641, if you wish to volunteer.

REPORT 17 ACCIDENTS

Seventeen accidents took place on the Hilltop during the week ending Aug. 3, according to traffic bureau analysis. Property damage resulted in 11 instances and six persons were injured, including two juveniles.

Ohio is known as the "Festival State" with such annual events as pumpkin shows, harvest festivals, grape festivals, tomato festivals, corn festivals, wine festivals, penny festival, apple festival, maple festival, and hundreds of county fairs and community homecomings.

Fire Destroys Huge Storage Barn Sunday

A barn storing tar, paint and other materials for Alfred Tonti, local builder, was destroyed Sunday when firemen from West Jefferson, Prairie and Franklin Townships and Darby Dan Farm were unable to control the blaze.

The barn was located at the Mar-Win Resterium, 3179 W. Broad-st. The fire was apparently started by spontaneous combustion. The home which houses 28 patients was not endangered.

Robert Drapp, son of the rest home's owner, said the $15,000 blaze apparently started from a small explosion heard by several. He said no attempt was made to put out the blaze with hand extinguishers while awaiting the arrival of firemen.

State highway patrolmen and sheriff's deputies directed traffic on Route 40 as hundreds of Sunday motorists were drawn by the billows of black smoke. Motorists stopped to watch the blaze as the flames reached their zenith.

Posthumous Award Given

WITH THE 40TH INFANTRY DIV. IN KOREA — Sgt. John P. Shott of Columbus, who was killed in action last April while defending a Korean outpost against overwhelming odds, has been posthumously awarded the Bronze Star Medal for his gallantry.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Shott Sr., 429 Hanford-st, he was fighting with Company A of the 223rd Infantry Regiment, 40th Division, at the time.

His citation states, in part:

"Near Chuja-dong, Korea, on Apr. 28, 1952, an outpost platoon in which Sgt. Shott was a squad leader, came under an intense barrage of mortar and artillery as the enemy commenced a company-size attack.

"Sergeant Shott, the point man, fearlessly stayed at his point, firing into the enemy and hurling grenades. As he did so, exposed to the enemy, Sgt. Shott shouted back firing orders to the mortars, adjusting their fire on the foe.

"As the overwhelming forces approached, Sgt. Shott dauntlessly remained, an inspiring figure against them. Though fully aware of the great personal danger, Sgt. Shott calmly continued his devastating fight with the enemy.

"Finally, the intense mortar barrage took his life, but not before Sgt. Shott's heroic actions had inspired his comrades to gallant resistance, resulting in seven casualties upon the enemy and their retreat.

"Sgt. Shott's unswerving devotion to duty and courage as he made the supreme sacrifice, in order that his comrades might be victorious against the enemy, reflect great credit upon himself and the United States Army."

Sgt. Shott was 23 years old at the time of his death. He was born on June 11, 1928.

Masdea To Be Band Concert Guest Leader

The summer band concert series played by the Columbus Federation of Musicians Band will be brought to a close Sunday evening, Aug. 17, at Schiller Park at 8 p.m. when the band will present as its guest conductor, Joseph F. Masdea. These concerts made possible by funds provided by the City of Columbus and Local 103, Columbus Federation of Musicians, by a grant from the Music Performance Trust Fund, have been very popular this summer.

Masdea, a native of Italy, came early in life to this country to continue his musical career and studies, being a pupil of the late Frank Todhunter. He possesses a keen sense of study of the Italian composers and his program contains several marches from that source among which is "East and West" written by an uncle, Vincent Masdea and arranged for this concert by a member of the band, J. Frank Stansell.

For his soloist, Mr. Masdea will present Norma Jean DiPetro who made her debut with the Federation Band a few weeks ago and was enthusiastically received.

Sun Life Co. Honors Worrel

Jean Worrel, leading representative of the Columbus Branch of the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, has been accorded due recognition by the company as one of its world-wide leaders. Worrell has earned a vice-presidency in the International Agency Leader Group. There are approximately 2000 representatives in the company's service. Worrel ranked 18th in personal production.

William R. Withers, Columbus branch manager, states that Worrel has played a major role over the past four years in the 94% increase in branch business the agency is experiencing.

Withers further says this is the first time in 26 years of the company's Columbus operation that the branch has had the signal honor of having one of its representatives holding this important agency office.

West Park Takes League Lead

West Park Methodist took over undisputed possession of first place in the second round of play in the West Senior Church softball league this week by virtue of taking a 5-4 decision from previously unbeaten Avondale EUB.

The Methodists tallied all of their runs in the third inning on a home run with a man on base by Pitcher Ed Grove which later proved to be the winning score. He also allowed the losers but five hits.

Glenwood Methodist continued to trail the league leaders by a single game by smothering Hilltonia EUB by a score of 23-0. Hits were too numerous to mention. Dawson and Maxwell allowed but three safeties in dividing the pitching honors for the Methodists.

Burgess EUB broke into the win column by outlasting Hillcrest Baptist to a score of 9-8 as Scott led the assault with two home runs, a triple, and a double, batting in five runs. Compton homered for the Baptists and also hit another with two abase only to have no runs score as the first man runner missed third base and was out on an appeal play.

Letters Asked For Bedfast Boy Of 5 Years

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sims, 4256 Mahoning-av, Youngstown, O., are asking Hilltop friends to write their son, Bobby, 5, who has been stricken with encephalis, a type of brain inflammation. The family formerly lived on S. Hague-av.

Since doctors say the youngster needs plenty of bed rest to conquer the malady, lots of mail would give him something to do.

McVay Coal Co. Announces New Expansion

Ray McVay Jr.

Being announced this week was the purchase of the coal division of Jones Lumber and Coal Co., 56 N. Sylvan-av, by the Ray McVay Coal Co. of 76 N. Sylvan-av. The announcement was made this week by Ray McVay, Jr. 208 N. Powell-av, president of the purchasing firm.

All stocks of coal and conveyor equipment of the Jones Co. have been moved by the McVay Coal Co. yards which up until last April were known as the Lewis & Noon Coal Yards before their purchase by McVay.

McVay said this week that his firm would continue to service the customers of Jones Lumber & Coal the same as in the past and that there would be no change in policy effected.

Because of an expected coal strike McVay said that he anticipates a coal shortage next month and pointed out that after next month coal would be increasingly hard to secure because the steel strike had seriously hampered car production and drastically curtailed coal shipments. He said that he was urging all his customers to place their coal orders as soon as possible.

Other officers of the McVay Co. are Lillian McVay, 165 S. Roys-av, vice-president; Agnes Wolfe, 120 Haldy-av, secretary-treasurer and Jack Wolfe, 120 Haldy-av, manager of the new Sylvan-av yards. The firm also operates the Bauch Coal Co. at 217 W. Main-st.

The Hilltop was the scene of 24 accidents during the week ending Aug. 10, according to an analysis of the traffic bureau. In 20 instances the accidents resulted in property damage with four injured in the collisions and two juveniles and one adult pedestrian also injured.

West High Grid Campaign To Get Underway Aug. 20

Beginning next Wednesday, Aug. 20, that slow and ever mounting fever which hits this area in the latter months of the year will have its inception. The malady known as "Pigskinitis" usually becomes in evidence in late August with the rising fever reaching its climax or high point in late October.

This year is no exception to the rule, for next Wednesday if anyone should be in the vicinity of West High School and see a group of young men scurrying about the athletic field, they'll know that the fever is upon us again. On that date, Aug. 20, West High's football squad will report to Head Coach Mack Pemberton and his assistants, Dave Randall, line coach, and Fred Heischman, backfield mentor. Reporting time is 6 p. m.

Mack Pemberton
West High Coach

West High Boosters Club will hold its first meeting of the season at the Hilltop YMCA, 2502 W. Broad-st, on Monday, Aug. 25, at 7:30 p. m.

Everyone is urged to be present, both members and non-members, according to Jack Sensenbrenner, president, to hear plans for the 1952-53 season.

Headaches usually accompany the fever and Coach Pemberton and his aides will undoubtedly have one as the practice sessions get under way for they are faced with the problem of finding replacements for such stalwarts as Jerry Johnson, Chuck Hunter, Duane Bayse and Whitey Smith, backfield aces of last year's top flight squad; Ted Johnson, end; Phoeney Chapman, guard and fullback; and Eddie Gleiba, offensive and defensive center, will also be missing.

Only one varsity letterman will return for backfield duty, he being Ronnie Grant, used mostly on defense last season. The line, however, gives promise of being in good hands with such letter men as End Jerry Trabue, one of the better punters in the City League. Tackles Roger Myers and Tommy Thompson and guards Ivee and Guifre are all available.

Several reserve letter winners will also return and it is the hope of the coaching staff that they will measure up well enough to fill up the gaps in the squad created by graduation.

West football coaches pointed out that only members of last season's squad have been asked to report for the first week's practice sessions.

Initial test of the Cowboy grid squad will come on Sept. 5 when the local school will be host to the round robin preview game in which Arlington, North, Grandview and West will participate.

Following the Sept. 5 preview game the Cowboys face the following schedule for the forthcoming season:

Sept. 12—Marion Harding, there.
Sept. 19—Upper Arlington at West.
Sept. 26—South, there.
Oct. 3—Central, there.
Oct. 10—Hamilton Public, there.
Oct. 17—Aquinas (homecoming game) at West.
Oct. 23—North at West.
Oct. 31—Linden at West.
Nov. 7—East (Dads' Night) at West.

Missing Girls Are Found Near Rome

Two missing girls were found Tuesday by state highway patrolmen, walking on Rt. 40 near New Rome. A 13-year-old and her 15-year-old cousin had been reported missing since Monday night when they went to a corner drug store for a soft drink.

They were feared to have attempted to hitch-hike to California. A relative said the girls informed him they had accepted a ride with two young men Monday night.

Prize Hampshires At Annual County Fair

"Don't forget the ears", Charles Black cautions himself as he washes his pride and joys, three Hampshire hogs. This was the second of three baths the pigs could expect in as many days. Says Black, an FFA boy from Groveport, O., "I'll have to have them spotless for the showing." Well now, just so you don't scrub the stripe off, folks.

Miss Kiwanikwe At The Fair

Don Krieger, 18, stands with Miss Kiwanikwe I and Miss Kiwanikwe II, in preparation for their showing at the Hilliards Poly this week. Don was the recipient of the first Miss Kiwanikwe last year from the Hilltop Kiwanis Club for outstanding agricultural work, and will show her at this year's fair. The little new Miss Kiwanikwe II was awarded in ceremonies this week to Roy Lee Huffman, 14. Both boys are affiliated with the FFA at Hilliards.

The middle-aged summer athlete takes too big a chance with the limitations of heart, lungs and muscles. Don't try to show off your ability and test your limits with super-stunts.

Beware of strenuous heroics in picnic games and summer baseball. Admit your age, at least to yourself, and give yourself a good chance to have a good time without accident.

John Burroughs Playground 'Family Night' Held

Carol Ann Tigyer, 562 S. Richardson-av; Vicki Jean Arledge, 2896 Sullivant-av; Betty Ann Evans, 697 S. Terrace-av; Mary Ann Deerwester, 552 S. Richardson-av, display their handiwork at John Burroughs "Family Night."

Arts and crafts were on display at the "Family Night" affair at John Burroughs playground to give parents and friends an idea of how well the youngsters had spent their time during the summer months.

Craft classes were under the supervision of Miss Johnson, assistant to Charles Beachler, director of John Burroughs Playground. Children of the playground entertained the visitors with a variety show at the Friday night event.

Three hundred children in the John Burroughs district were registered at the playground this summer. The playground closes Friday, Aug. 8, for the season.

Mr. Beachler, who lives at 606 Garden-rd, is a teacher at Crestview and formed the activities at Burroughs very successful considering the fact that the playground was very crowded this summer and said that he had had complete cooperation from both children and their parents during the past eight weeks.

Burroughs playground is one of two Hilltop playgrounds sponsored by the Board of Education.

THANKS FOR EVERYTHING

Did you know there is power in gratitude—real practical power? Well, there is. It is a power that can mean a great deal to you and to me. A power that is worth looking into. Do you often neglect to say "thanks" for the little favors your family and friends do for you? Do you feel it isn't necessary to express gratitude for all the nice things people do for you? Or perhaps like many others, do you think that frequent expressions of gratitude are a sign of weakness? If you do feel this way, better get wise to yourself. There is something big about this matter of expressing appreciation — something bigger than most of us realize . . . The thank-you habit is good for your body as well as for your soul. It is good for your purse as well as your personality. Important as it is to thank other people for the good they bring us, it is even more important that we thank God for the good He brings. The habit of giving thanks to God is something more than a gesture of reverence. It is an act of faith, faith in the ultimate outworking of good. Cultivate, therefore, an attitude of gratitude and you will always be thankful you did.

This letter from a Columbus gal who is touring South America . . . "Come down to the Hocking Valley for your vacation. It is inspiring at any time of the year. We killed two copperheads yesterday but you probably wouldn't see any." (A tempting invitation if ever I had one!).

Haven't figured this one. A vacationing friend sent me a card from a lake resort. She had made an X in the middle of the picture of the lake and under it had written "X marks the spot. Wish you were here."

A delightful phone conversation with Sandy Sanford was interrupted by a loud noise outside my window, which we learned later was a truck back firing. I called to the better 9/10 who was on to porch to ask him what happened. When he didn't answer Sandy said "I'll hang up, and if he shot himself, call me back and let me know." Ah phones! About 5:30 the other morning I answered this one. A deep voice said "I'm calling Tom. You ain't Tom are you? You don't sound like Tom. Hang up. I want Tom." I hung up.

Teen-Agers Sacrifice Summer Vacations To Practice On Piano And Make Public Debuts

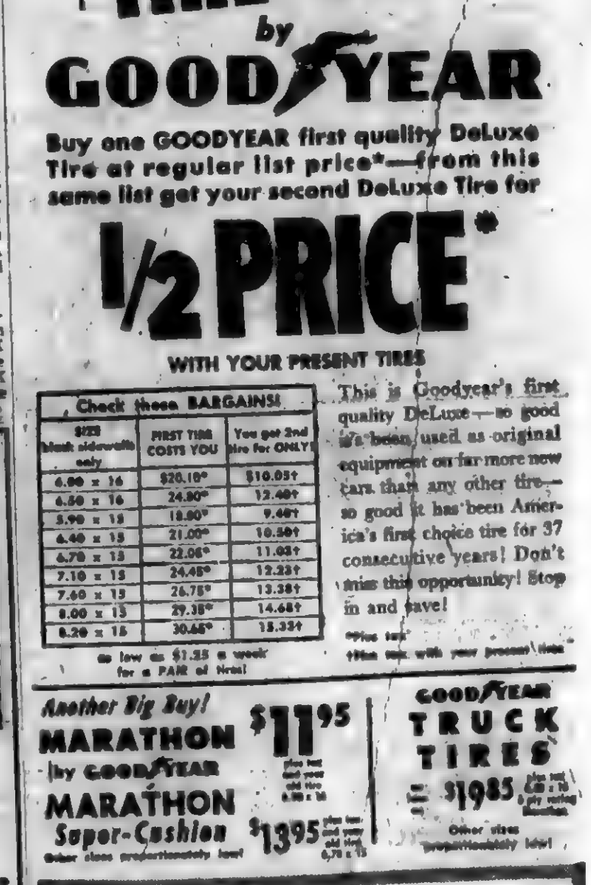
By Pat Martindale

For most teen-agers this summer has meant a vacation full of fun and good times but for Lois Ann Hunter, Lois Ann Moran and Rose Marie Pinkerton it has meant practice, public appearances before conventions and television shows. It has also meant success at a very early age.

Lois Ann Hunter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hunter, 573 S. Terrace-av., Rose Marie Pinkerton, daughter of Mrs. Cecelia Haughn, 389 S. Harris-av, and Lois Ann Moran, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Moran, 460 S. Terrace-av are piano students and teacher's helpers of Mrs. Bertha Daarud and when Mrs. Daarud attended the International Piano Teachers Convention in Washington, D. C. July 7 to 11 the three girls were invited to play in the piano auditions for student artists.

Lois Ann Hunter was awarded a "Superior" certificate. She is a seven year pupil. Lois Ann Moran and Rose Marie were awarded "A" and "B" certificates in the division for pupils of five and six years of study.

Knowing in advance that the girls would appear on Ruth Crane's TV show if they were successful in Washington, Mrs. Daarud arranged for the girls to play on Pat Ward's Open House program on W. T. V. N. the week before their trip in order to get a little experience before television cameras. They played a varied program of solo, duet and twin pianos on "The Modern Woman", WMAL-TV on Friday, July 11.



They also took a teacher training course offered by the educators on the convention program. Mr. William O'Toole, Dr. LeRoy B. Campbell and Robert Wilford.

All three young ladies are 14 years old and are West High students. They are members of the High School Piano Club and were presented in a recital at the Gallery of Fine Arts on June 28.

Their Washington trip wasn't all work however, the girls made a tour of "Historic Washington" and took a cruise on the ship S. S. Mt. Vernon to Mt. Vernon and Marshall Hall Park on the Potomac, before returning to Columbus.

Library 'Pow-Wow' Will Close Summer Reading Club Soon

Wednesday, Aug. 20, marks the big "Pow-wow" which brings to an end the Summer-Indian Reading Club at the Hilltop Library, 2856 W. Broad-st.

Since May 28 some 500 girls and boys have been industriously working toward, this date, reading a minimum of twelve books during the period in order to secure an Indian headband with multi-colored feathers and becoming a "Big Chief." At the present it looks as if over half of those registered will achieve the goal.

Each girl and each boy who has participated in the reading club deserves congratulations for displaying the interest and determination it takes to carry through to the end. All reading club members and their friends are invited to attend the big "Pow-Wow" Wednesday, Aug. 20, 10 a. m.

From somewhere: "It's wonderful, Sandy," said one Scot to another, "that you have lost your stutter. How did you do it, man?" Said Sandy, "It was easy. I put through a long distance call."

Real Estate Firm Convinced Of The Power Of Want Ads

The Hilltop Record classified advertisements have proved again that they can serve the general public. Shoaf Realtors can testify to this after the fine response they had last week on the real estate ad placed in the paper.

Mr. Shoaf offered four new homes for sale in Grove City and sold two of them. Many prospective buyers looked at the homes and the real estate man considered the response "terrific." Of course he went on to say it wasn't the first time he had enjoyed a good response to Hilltop Record want ads.

Story of Britain's New Sovereign
By Marion Crawford

The late King George VI and Queen Elizabeth tell of their beloved children the Princesses; and how Sister Rowe had watched the 25-year-old Elizabeth, Britain's new queen grow from childhood to girlhood, become a radiant bride, and now the fulfillment of every woman, a proud mother.

Britain's new queen is also a woman of dignity, nobility, charm and above all simplicity. Her first born son, Prince Charles, was Christened Dec. 15, 1948.

John Calville, known as Jock, was Princess Elizabeth's secretary. He also was Winston Churchill's during the early part of the war before he insisted on joining RAF. Jock was publicly taken to task a certain newspaper for "allowing" Princess Elizabeth to make too many engagements so soon after the birth of Princess Ann.

Queen Elizabeth is a reasonable person, but she will not listen to pleas and spare herself. She is an excellent housewife and mother. She loves animals and dogs and horses form a large part of her life.

Brought up to date this memoir includes her Canadian tour, visit to America and the brief African expedition. Also the sad news of her father's sudden death and with that came the realization that she was now England's new Sovereign.

"A CENTURY OF BRITISH MONARCHY"

Hector Bolitho's "A Century of British Monarchy" is difficult to define as either biography or history. Avowedly an attempt to reveal the character of each of the sovereigns of England during the 100 years following 1851, the book falls far short of this ambitious purpose. Actually what Mr. Bolitho creates is a not unpleasant mixture of eulogy and nostalgia. The Kings and Queens he depicts are neither lifelike nor complete, but within the far-off frame in which they are set their lives and actions have dignity, fascination, and are not a little sad.

The form of the book is unusual, and to this reviewer, somewhat disconcerting. A section of the book is devoted to each of the regning sovereigns, with the exception of Victoria who appears in four separate sections. Suffice it to say that the four treatments of Victoria's life are composed of an imaginary conversation between herself and her husband, Albert; a collection of extracts from correspondence of the queen, a description of the death of Albert; and an interlude entitled, "Victoria and Disraeli". This will serve to sufficiently indicate the piecemeal nature of the book.

The book makes no attempt to be authoritative or exhaustive biographical material, but is more properly a series of essays, impressionistic and completely subjective which, however charming and well-written, can in no sense be regarded as important or even as valid.

The work would be more fairly entitled, "Mr. Bolitho's Fond Memories and Impressions of British Royal Life?" Excellently written, it should provide good reading for anyone willing to pick it up with a foreknowledge of its limitations.

"MEXICO AND I"
By Ann Prouty

The completion of the Pan-American Highway through Mexico, plus its good connecting links to both coasts of the republic, is the signal many motorists have been awaiting. It is now possible to drive over perfect highways with a generous sprinkling of motels and fuel stops all the way into the tropics. There, one may see banana plantations along the hillside much the same as we view Ohio's orchards on a Sunday drive.

Amy Prouty chose Mexico City for her headquarters and took comprehensive tours radiating in all directions from there. She literally "went everywhere and saw everything," but always as a member of a sightseeing group (a wise precaution for single ladies in Latin countries!) Constant references to them as "my ladies" is vaguely disturbing, as is the abundance of one sentence paragraphs. Her amusing choice of adjectives lifts the narrative above the stark simplicity of the usual guide books. "A precious stairway and a sweet patio" is a fair example of what to expect in the descriptive line. However, this is a personal account of her travels, and though written in a light vein, is both complete and accurate enough to serve as a guide. The coverage of attractions such as churches, markets and museums is thorough.

Sixty-two fine photographs grace the book but they are all from commercial sources. Since this work is a Mexican diary, a set of illustrations by the author would have been more appropriate and helped to bear out the personal touch.

NEW GUIDE TO MEXICO
By Frances Toor

Frances Toor's contribution to the tourist headed south of the border is her "New Guide to Mexico," brought up to date and including everything from street-car rates in Mexico City to a glossary of useful Spanish phrases.

The book is pocket size, but is truly encyclopaedic in scope. Highway conditions, hotel rates and service, street and district maps and touring maps are all crammed in, but in an orderly manner. Her list of the various Mexican agencies anxious to help and encourage the traveler is especially helpful and appreciated. Any difficulty one might encounter is anticipated and solved beforehand in this dandy little volume. The handy size makes it convenient to take along for reference and inspiration. Did you know Mexico has more pyramids and mummies than Egypt, and that tree ripened bananas are practically unfit for food.

The combination of both these works gives one a complete coverage of sightseeing and highway lore. Prouty's book entertains while it teaches and the Toor volume gives detailed information for the actual traveler. Both are gems of Mexicana and are highly recommended, even for the armchair traveler.

Your Diet For August "Dog-Days"

Summer is far from over. August dog-days are upon us. And September has yet to come. Thus, we are still faced with the problem of what our diet should be on those days when the mercury tries to push the top of the thermometer or when the humidity . . . well, the less said about humidity, the better.

The point is, what and how should we eat during hot weather. Some persons can continue to eat normally, but most seem to lose their appetites, with the result that during a heat wave many people lose a certain amount of weight.

(This isn't too bad since most of us are overweight and can afford to "knock off a couple of pounds, anyway.")

It really makes no difference whether we eat hot or cold meals during the summer. Nor do we have to have "at least one hot meal a day" as some people feel is necessary. Hot or cold meals, if properly balanced, have the same food value.

The important thing to remember, is what one eats. It is best to avoid sweets and starchy and fatty foods as often as possible. But lean meats, milk, eggs, fruit juices and fresh fruit, fish, green vegetables are always good to eat, winter or summer.

And as for thirst quenchers, water is by far the most satisfying. Other liquids are thirst quenchers too, but only in relation to the amount of water they contain, while sweet drinks are surcharged with calories and therefore more fattening than cooling.

When to eat, whether three times a day or more often and in small quantities, does not have too much effect on weight. With children, it is always best not to coax them. If a child is listless during hot spells and refuses food, there is no reason for parents to fret. Plenty of milk and fruit juices supply sufficient nourishment to see the child through.

As to the age-old argument over whether ice cold drinks or hot are more cooling to the body . . . it all depends. Take ice-cold drinks: They're not harmful if taken slowly and in small amounts at a time. Gulped in a large quantity, ice-cold drinks may produce stomach cramps because the body cannot warm up the liquids rapidly enough.

In humid weather, hot drinks are not more cooling than cold ones, simply because excess perspiration thus caused cannot evaporate in humid weather and therefore has no cooling effect. Evaporation of perspiration is one of nature's chief methods of cooling the body. When humidity is high, hot drinks only add to already excess perspiration. But in dry weather, hot drinks are cooling since the excess perspiration they cause is readily evaporated.

What about the body needing more salt during hot weather? Persons who perspire considerably, such as those who do heavy work, frequently require additional salt in their food. However, persons with high blood pressure and kidney, liver and heart diseases, must consult their physician about the amount of salt they may take.

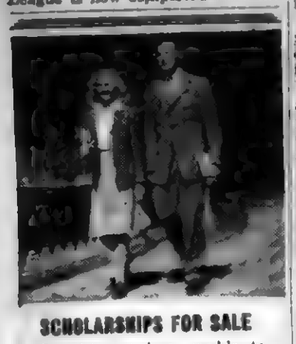
YOUR YOUTH

By Bob Schmidt

Thirty-five Hilltop boys and seven Dads attended the "Y" sponsored Red Bird baseball game last Friday night. The boys saw a winning ballgame instead of a loss as on two previous trips. Our thanks go to D. A. Hart, Paul Sheskey, Mr. Miller, Mr. Barrett, Mr. Rector, George Gunderson, and Joe Skufza for providing transportation.

The Hilltop "Y" Little Nine baseball players, 100 strong, were in the parade Tuesday night at the Kiwanis Baseball game. The League is now completed with the "Little Yanks" as the Champs.



Monday the members of the Hilltop "Y" Summer Fun Club hiked to the Sullivant Airport. Mr. Jones conducted a tour for the boys and showed them many types of planes.

Wednesday, 25 boys enjoyed a Scavenger Hunt. After tracking down the various odd articles they all met at the "Y" office for a well deserved rest.

During the month of July your Hilltop "Y" conducted 166 planned programs with an over all attendance of 7,555. This is a considerable increase compared with June when there were 75 planned programs and an attendance of 3,019. This increase in attendance is evidence that the "Y" has established itself and with a continued effective "Y" program the citizens of the Hilltop should be able to enjoy the facilities of a "Y" building not too far in the future.

In another section of the Record you will find the announcement of the new Associate Secretary for the Hilltop YMCA.

Jack Darring resigned Aug. 1 as Program Director to accept a position in business. The Board of Management and "Y" staff regret losing Jack but wish him the best of luck in his new venture. The new Associate Secretary is Richard Wilson. Dick comes to us with a vast "Y" background and we are very happy to welcome him to our staff.

HEALTH DEPT. STUDIED

Evidence of the high regard in which Columbus' Department of Health is held is indicated by the month-long observation here of Vincenzo Milelle, MD, MPH, a provincial health commissioner from Rome, Italy. Dr. Milelle, who secured his masters' degree in public health at Harvard, learned to speak English during the two years he was an Italian prisoner of war in England.

Does the train hit the car, or does the car hit the train? The Safety Council of Col. Chamber of Commerce reports that about a half of rail-highway collisions occur when the car rams into the side of the train. Both kinds of collisions are usually fatal to the motorist or his passengers.

Obey those railroad "signs of life" . . . and live.

Think before taking chances and you'll play safely on your vacation.

It is part of our free way of life that each of us has a part in making laws that protect each of us. This includes traffic laws.

It pays every one of us to obey the laws that we make for our safety.

Read and heed all traffic signs—and you'll be following signs of freedom—from accident.

Almost everybody wants to go on a vacation now and then, but one cynic remarked, "Why should I drive 1,000 miles to climb mountains, when I can stay at home and fall off a ladder?"

Many people think of vacation time as danger time because so many do get hurt when they try new ways of living.

Baptist Union Convenes Here In 80th Session

The Eastern Union Baptist Association with its auxiliaries, comprising 70 Baptist Churches, will convene in its 80th session at the Oakley Avenue Baptist Church, Aug. 19-22.

The district extends from Mansfield on the north to Portsmouth and Ripley on the south; Jamestown on the west to Cambridge on the east. Twenty-seven of these churches are in Columbus, the membership of which ranges from 20 to 3,000.

Their objectives are the supporting of home and foreign missions, education, benevolences and programs for youth. More than 300 messengers are expected to attend. Appearing on the program will be some of the most outstanding speakers throughout the country.

Rev. J. Ashburn, Jr., pastor of Oakley Avenue Baptist Church, is moderator of the association, and Rev. E. L. Brantley, pastor of Macedonia Baptist Church, is the vice-moderator.

The Safety Council of the Columbus Chamber of Commerce says that vacation time needn't be a danger time if you take along a good supply of common-sense caution.

Ohio has 220,000 farms, with 90 per cent of these having electricity.

Bible Comment:

We Hold Wealth But It Is Subject to Will of Our Creator

On a smaller scale and in a more primitive way, the Israelites of old were confronted with all the problems of character and conduct and their effect upon relationships in society, that vex and perplex the more highly organized nations of today. It is this that makes ancient wisdom of so much value for modern life.

Next to the problem of the abolition of war and the establishment of peace, and by no means unassociated with that deeper problem, are the problems of labor—keeping people working under fair conditions and with good living standards—and of wealth—keeping the power of great wealth under control in relation to the rights and interests of all.

So many problems in these spheres remain unsolved that we are apt to fail to realize the great progress, both in relation to labor and wealth, that has been made within the memory of many now living.

It is not so long since labor was regarded as a "commodity" to be bought, like any other commodity, in the cheapest market, under a competition for jobs that in times of unemployment was bitterly keen.

Then came the recognition that labor was human, of blood, flesh and spirit, with families housed in homes—or hovels—and the demand for a "living wage" became so insistent that by now reference to a standard of living is a stressed factor in wage negotiations and contracts.

Similar progress has been made in enforcing recognition of the relationships and responsibilities of wealth. In the days when labor was a "commodity," wealth was largely immune from government control and any sense of responsibility. The prevalent conception was that a man's wealth was his own to do with as he pleased.

Today we recognize not only that wealth has social obligations, but that society is a basic factor in the acquisition, protection and maintenance of wealth.

From a Christian standpoint the obligations of wealth are more simple and direct. What a Christian has is not his own, but is held in stewardship subject to the will of God. That is the ideal set forth in the New Testament, and the truer the Christian the more nearly he will attain it in the practical use of what he possesses.

Deposit to my Account

Five hundred years ago, no one would have understood the meaning of the phrase, "Deposit to my account. . . ."

Now, in banks all over the world, these words are repeated thousands of times a day. There's no mystery about them at all.

They mean simply that a person is depositing a share of his earnings in a bank, knowing that at any time afterwards he can withdraw any amount that he puts in—with interest.

"Deposit to my account"—four words that are a part of our modern life today.

Joining a church is something like this: we are depositing our faith and our trust in God.

All of that faith, all of that trust comes back to us. But there's this difference. The interest rate cannot be calculated—because God does not measure the benefits He gives us in terms of percentage. To the small amount of time we give to God and His church, He adds countless hours of love and devotion to our lives.

"Deposit to my account. . . ."

In banking, that means security through savings. But in our religious life, it stands for enriching happiness for us all.

But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and His righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you.

At The Playgrounds

By Pat Martindale

The city-wide Junior Olympics were held Aug. 9 at Ohio State University stadium. Teams from all city playgrounds vied for honors.

All city playgrounds are now preparing for the biggest event of the season, the pageant which will be held at Central High School bringing the playgrounds to a close for the season. Youngsters will be busy in the craft classes of the five Hilltop playgrounds making costumes and props for their parts in the pageant during the next two weeks.

The recreation department sent theater tickets to playground assistants and council members for the "Life of Will Rogers" at the Palace last Saturday in appreciation of their cooperation this summer.

Holton Playground

The Holton Yanks were the winners of the Softball League No. 2. After an overtime loss to Southview last week the team was assured of the championship with victory over the Columbian team. Switch-hitter Charlie Cash of Holton Park starred in this game to beat Linden in a city-wide tournament by a score of 7 to 5 and Holton will play its second tournament game with Felton this week.

Beau McDaniels won the target shooting trophy last week on the nature hike.

Winners of the king and queen contest held at Holton last Thursday were Patty Henry and Bob Dixon, who will compete in the city-wide contest during the big pageant at Central High School. Miss Playground of 1951 was a Hilltop girl, Carol Erlenbach, from Holton Park. It is hoped that a Hilltop girl will again be chosen.

Westgate Playground

Westgate is preparing for the Aug. 21 pageant. Children wishing to take part in the affair from Westgate should contact Mrs. Margaret Edwards.

Children in the craft classes have become interested in puppetry and are trying their hand at the art.

Last week's talent show given for the parents was a huge success. Judges, Mrs. Ray Cave and Mrs. Huffman, presented prizes to the performers. Nick Barack and Dorothy Jones, from the Recreation Department, were special guests and both expressed their delight at the fine turnout.

Highland Avenue Playground

Highland-av was visited by the traveling zoo last week and, although very short notice of the visit was given beforehand, there was a capacity crowd.

Glenwood Playground

Tonight (Thursday) is square dance night with Dave Funk and the Buckeye Rhythm Boys on the tennis court from 8 to 11. Outdoor movies will also be shown tonight at dark. The entire family is invited.

Glenwood children will do a pantomime version of Hansel and Gretel in the pageant on Aug. 21. Rehearsals are now being held.

The big playroom at Glenwood will be the scene of an honor banquet for all boys and girls who have participated in the playground programs this summer. Dinner will be served at 6 p. m. on Thursday, Aug. 14, and it will be an invitation affair.

The All-city Teen Council is sponsoring a social dance at the Schiller bandstand on Friday, Aug. 15. Admission is free. Music will be furnished by Ray Roop and his band. Music for this occasion is under the direction of Local 108 Columbus Federation of Musicians Performance Trust Fund of the recording industry.

During the final week of the playground season the physical fitness tests of the AAU will be given on the playground. Girls should contact Marilyn if interested and boys should contact either "Doc" or Jack.

Peg McDonald, Glenwood's craft supervisor, has taken a leave of absence and will soon undergo surgery. After leaving the hospital she will return to her home (out of town) to recover. She expects to return to Glenwood in three months.

Glenwood's Intermediate Knothole baseball team finished the season with two losses last week to finish with a .500 record for the season in league play. The softball teams in the playground leagues have the following record: Junior Boys, won one, lost two; Junior Girls, won none, lost five; and Senior Girls, won none, lost five.

Senior Boys are in a four-way tie for second place in the league. They are also in the Central Ohio district junior softball tourney.

John Burroughs

Aug. 8 was the closing date for the board of education playgrounds Both Burroughs and West Broad have had a very successful summer. During the short eight weeks at Burroughs, Charles Beachler, supervisor, has had full cooperation from the many participants and he wishes to express his thanks to all who helped.

Craft classes were interesting and insfructive with Miss Johnson as shown by the exhibits on "Family Night." Mrs. Greenwood played the piano for the variety show on "Family Night" and the following children entertained: John Agriesti, Ellen Greenwood, Jackie Powell, May Dearweister, Vicky Arledge, Jean and Freddie Castleman, Denny and Sue Redding, Sharon Williams, Betty Evans, Mary Timmons and Pat Williams.

Tournament entries at Burroughs were varied and the participants who entered the finals at Central High School were the softball team, Dave Brophy in badminton and checkers, and Joe Dearweister in checkers. George Watkins was the semi-finalist in the basketball foul shooting contest.

Three hundred children were registered at John Burroughs playground this summer and all enjoyed the activities.

West Broad Playground

Fred Lanch, 235 N. Hague-av, won second place in the Junior Boys' checker finals, with Linda Myers, 107 N. Hague-av, winning second place in the Junior badminton singles and Lonnie Hinton winning second in the Junior Boys' badminton singles.

A surprise party was given by the children and their mothers last Thursday night for Mrs. Shuman. Cake and punch were served and Miss Shuman was presented a gift from the children who enjoyed the playground during the summer.

Announcement was made this week by Alfred Tonti of a joint building project which started this week by Racine Builders, Inc., and Brookshire Park, Inc., for the construction of 96 new twin single dwelling units in the Brookshire Park area between Harris, Racine and Vandenberg-st and west of Warren-av.

The new half million dollar development will create a colonial village in the area, of 160 rental units, each consisting of two bedrooms, baths, living room, dining room and kitchens.

This week construction was begun on the first 36 units, which will be of stone, frame and brick construction, all of which will front on paved streets.

Tonti said that while a few of the lots will be sold to individuals for home dwellings, a restricted type of construction would be strictly followed, with all homes in the area to be of high values.

BJR Escapees Burglarize Two Local Stores

Two more youthful escapees from the Bureau of Juvenile Research, 2280 W. Broad-st, figured in the news this week when a 14-year-old boy from Delaware and a 12-year-old boy were nabbed by police after participating in the burglarizing of two Hilltop supermarkets.

The fugitives from the Bureau of Juvenile Research are charged with breaking into and burglarizing the Big Bear Super Market at 2835 W. Broad-st and Trott's Super Market, 2976 W. Broad-st. The Big Bear Store was hit about 9:30 a. m. Sunday while the Trott Market was burglarized a half hour later, according to police reports.

First report on the burglaries was made when a resident near the Trott store told police that two boys were loitering near the market. The radio cruiserman's dispatch to Cruiserman Harold Ashbaugh and Frederick Whatley was picked up by Vice Squad Sgt. James Holland and Squadman John Gossman who were patrolling the area.

They spotted the youths and gave chase, capturing the older boy and taking him to Juvenile Center. The younger of the two escaped but later returned to the BJR and gave himself up.

Both youths admitted to the burglaries, which netted only $6.65 for the two stores.

Zoning Change Requests To Be Heard Monday

A request for changes in zoning for four areas west of the city will come up for hearing before the Regional Zoning Commission Monday evening.

Cases No. 188-189 call for proposed rezoning from light industrial to heavy industrial for the area just west of the General Motors plant from W. Broad-st south to Sullivant-av and for a small area west of Phillipi-rd, just north of Broad-st. The request also covers a section containing about 45 acres in the southeast corner of Phillipi and Fisher-rds, and the remaining small area not now under heavy industry just west of Wilson-rd and south of the new Standard Oil plant.

Total area covered will be close to 300 acres. The request is being made by the People's Development Co., owners of the land.

At a meeting of the West Franklin County Association Monday evening at the Alton Township Hall the association went on record as favoring the change. Representatives of the group seeking the change pointed out that industry to locate in these areas would be of the same high type as General Motors and Westinghouse.

Hearings Monday evening are set for 7:30 at the Franklin Township Hall, Sullivant and Derrer-rd, and at 8:30 at Rome.

Parents Open Intensive Campaign For Sidewalks At Westgate School

The above drawing indicates the areas where current sidewalks exist near the new Westgate School. The areas where sidewalks are urgently needed and areas where sidewalks are highly desirable. This is the area which this week became the focal point of attention in the Westgate area as parents launched a campaign against accidents in the vicinity of the new school which is to open for the first time on Sept. 2.

Parents of school children in the Westgate area this week are girding themselves for another civic improvement battle as they prepared to launch a drive for installation of new sidewalks and the extension of existing sidewalks in the vicinity of the new West Gate Elementary School located at the intersection of Wicklow-rd and Westgate-av.

Advocates of the plan for more sidewalks in the vicinity of the school point out that children, especially those of elementary school age should have sidewalks to guide them and to keep them off heavily traveled streets in the vicinity. It is pointed out that when the children leave school or are approaching it, they meet and talk with groups of friends and that at this point it is easy for one of them to forget and venture too far into the streets where no sidewalks now exist in the area.

With opening of the new Westgate School scheduled for Sept. 2, many parents in the vicinity are concerned over the lack of sidewalks on the west side of Westgate from Wicklow to Fremont; on the north side of Wicklow between Binns and Huron and between Westgate and Brinker-avs also on the south side of Wicklow for the same area and both sides of Westgate, south of Wicklow-rd.

The new school, it is pointed out, has walks on the west side of Huron from Fremont to Wicklow, but for only a portion of the way directly in front of the new school on Wicklow.

Those leading the drive for the installation of sidewalks are urging property owners in the vicinity to cooperate, with the most important object being the prevention of loss of life or limb by children who will be attending the new school.

Thus far preliminary investigation by leaders of the movement have taken them to Columbus Board of Education and to city officials and they have assurances from both that the matter will be taken before Columbus City Council at an early date.

The group, however does expect some opposition from some property owners to the plan for more sidewalks inasmuch as they have been advised by the city sidewalk engineers that property owners would have to pay from $75 to $85 per 40 feet of sidewalk depending on the strip of cement for which the contract. This cost however would be pro-rated over a ten-year

12 Days Left Of Vacation; Schools Ready

Although local school children can count an even dozen days of vacation yet remaining, plans are rapidly being completed to get them back in the school room for another year of reading, writing and arithmetic. As of Aug. 25 principals will be on duty in their various schools to care for new enrollees, transfer students and advise those who have enrollment problems.

The board of education estimates the pupils of John Burroughs, West Broad, Highland, West Mound, Westgate, West Junior, West Senior and Starling Junior High Schools to total 6675. Of these, 375 will be at the new West Mound School and 425 at the new Westgate School, both recently completed to handle elementary school students.

City schools and kindergartens will open Sept. 3 with Catholic elementary schools opening Sept. 2, to be followed by the high schools on the next day. County schools have set Sept. 2 as their opening date.

Beginners for kindergarten must be five by Dec. 31 of 1952 and beginning first graders six by the same date, in order to enroll in the city schools.

Coyle, who lived for 40 years as a resident of the Hilltop, was appointed, common pleas court bailiff in February, 1940. Prior to that he was at Columbus City Hall in the capacity of deputy city auditor from 1922 until 1939, serving under Auditors Walter Otto, Samuel J. Willis, John E. Davies and T. Blain Holloway.

Widening of W. Broad-st Is Started

Construction work started Monday on the widening and resurfacing of U. S. Route 40 (W. Broad-st), between Hague-av and Southampton-av.

This work will consist of a five-foot widening on each side of W. Broad-st, from Hague-av to Chase-av, and a six-foot widening on each side of the street, from Chase-av to Southampton-av. The work started Monday on the north side of W. Broad-st at Southampton-av and will proceed east to Hague-av. The tentative program is then to repeat this same operation on the south side of the street.

The first work will be excavating the present earth in this widening portion, then removing the existing curb, the proper rolling and compaction of the subgrade, installation of electrical conduits for street lighting, the construction of a concrete base and the resetting of the sandstone curb for a portion of W. Broad-st and the construction of concrete curb for the remaining portion of W. Broad-st. After this work is all completed, the entire width of the street from curb to curb will be resurfaced with asphaltic concrete, similar to the present pavement surface.

A small portion of the existing sidewalk, due to required change in location or change in elevation, will be replaced with new concrete sidewalk. A few of the driveways, which will not conform to the proposed curb grade, will also be replaced.

All of this work, included in the contract for this street, will be performed at no cost to the abutting property owners.

At certain properties on W. Broad-st it will be necessary for the property owner to adjust the water and gas lines from the valve boxes, located just back of the proposed curb, to the lot line. This work will have to be performed at the property owner's cost, and he or she must engage a private contractor to do this work. This work will be limited to only a few properties at the most.

The construction of this project is being accomplished by the cooperation of three governmental agencies, namely the federal government, bearing 50% of the construction cost; the state of Ohio, bearing 35% of the construction cost; and the city of Columbus, paying 15% of the construction cost, plus the rearrangement of all public utilities, such as street lighting, water lines and sanitary sewer installations.

The plans were prepared by the city of Columbus, under the supervision of Robert F. Werner, chief engineer, and the construction work is being supervised by the state highway department, under H. D. Schoonover, division six engineer at Delaware, and under the direct charge of his project engineer, Charles Ebsman.

The contractor is the Complete General Construction Co. of L. A. Gumo.

New Half Million Building Project Is Started Here

Announcement was made this week by Alfred Tonti of a joint building project which started this week by Racine Builders, Inc., and Brookshire Park, Inc., for the construction of 80 new twin single dwelling units in the Brookshire Park area between Harris, Racine and Vandenberg-st and west of Warren-av.

The new half million dollar development will create a colonial village in the area, of 160 rental units, each consisting of two bedrooms, baths, living room, dining room and kitchens.

This week construction was begun on the first 36 units, which will be of stone, frame and brick construction, all of which will front on paved streets.

Tonti said that while a few of the lots will be sold to individuals for home dwellings, a restricted type of construction would be strictly followed, with all homes in the area to be of high values.

BJR Escapees Burglarize Two Local Stores

Two more youthful escapees from the Bureau of Juvenile Research, 3280 W. Broad-st, figured in the news this week when a 14-year-old boy from Delaware and a 12-year-old boy were nabbed by police after participating in the burglarizing of two Hilltop supermarkets.

The fugitives from the Bureau of Juvenile Research are charged with breaking into and burglarizing the Big Bear Super Market at 2835 W. Broad-st and Trott's Super Market, 2976 W. Broad-st. The Big Bear Store was hit about 9:30 p. m. Sunday while the Trott Market was burglarized a half hour later, according to police reports.

First report on the burglaries was made when a resident near the Trott store told police that two boys were loitering near the market. The radio cruiserman's dispatch to Cruiserman Harold Ashbaugh and Frederick Whatley was picked up by Vice Squad Sgt. James Holland and Squadman John Gossman who were patrolling the area.

They spotted the youths and gave chase, capturing the older boy and taking him to Juvenile Center. The younger of the two escaped but later returned to the BJR and gave himself up.

Both youths admitted to the burglaries, which netted only $5.55 for the two stores.

Zoning Change Requests To Be Heard Monday

A request for changes in zoning for four areas west of the city will come up for hearing before the Regional Zoning Commission Monday evening.

Cases No. 188-189 call for proposed rezoning from light industrial to heavy industrial for the area just west of the General Motors plant from W. Broad-st south to Sullivant-av and for a small area west of Phillipi-rd, just north of Broad-st. The request also covers a section containing about 45 acres in the southeast corner of Phillipi and Fisher-rds, and the remaining small area not now under heavy industry just west of Wilson-rd and south of the new Standard Oil plant.

Total area covered will be close to 500 acres. The request is being made by the People's Development Co., owners of the land.

At a meeting of the West Franklin County Association Monday evening at the Alton Township Hall the association went on record as favoring the change. Representatives of the group seeking the change pointed out that industry to locate in these areas would be of the same high type as General Motors and Westinghouse.

Hearings Monday evening are set for 7:30 at the Franklin Township Hall, Sullivant and Derrer-rd, and at 8:30 at Rome.

Parents Open Intensive Campaign For Sidewalks At Westgate School

The above drawing indicates the areas where current sidewalks exist near the new Westgate School. The areas where sidewalks are urgently needed and areas where sidewalks are highly desirable. This is the area which was chosen because the largest point of attention in the Westgate area as parents launched a campaign during vacation in the vicinity of the new school which is to open for the first time on Sept. 2.

Parents of school children in the Westgate area this week are girding themselves for another civic improvement battle as they prepared to launch a drive for installation of new sidewalks and the extension of existing sidewalks in the vicinity of the new West Gate Elementary School located at the intersection of Wicklow-rd and Westgate-av.

Advocates of the plan for more sidewalks in the vicinity of the school point out that children, especially those of elementary school age should have sidewalks to guide them and to keep them off heavily traveled streets in the vicinity. It is pointed out that when the children leave school or are approaching it, they meet and talk with groups of friends and that at this point it is easy for one to them to forget and venture too f into the streets where no sidewalk now exist in the area.

With opening of the new West gate School scheduled for Sept. many parents in the vicinity a concerned over the lack of sid walks on the west side of We gate from Wicklow to Fremo on the north side of Wicklow tween Binns and Huron and tween Westgate and Brinker also on the south side of Wick for the same area and both of Westgate, south of Wicklow

The new school, it is pointed has walks on the west side of ron from Fremont to Wicklow for only a portion of the way rectly in front of the new sc on Wicklow.

Those leading the drive for installation of sidewalks are ing property owners in the vicinity to cooperate, with the most important object being the prevention of loss of life or limb by children who will be attending the new school.

Thus far preliminary investigation by leaders of the movement have taken them to Columbus Board of Education and to city officials and they have assurances from both that the matter will be taken before Columbus City Council at an early date.

The group, however does expect some opposition from some property owners to the plan for more sidewalks inasmuch as they have been advised by the city sidewalk engineers that property owners would have to pay from $75 to $85 per 40 feet of sidewalk depending on the strip of cement for which the contract. This cost however would be pro-rated over a ten-year

Construction work started Monday on the widening and resurfacing of U. S. Route 40 (W. Broad-st), between Hague-av and Southampton-av.

This work will consist of a five-foot widening on each side of W. Broad-st, from Hague-av to Chase-av, and a six-foot widening on each side of the street, from Chase-av to Southampton-av. The work started Monday on the north side of W. Broad-st at Southampton-av and will proceed east to Hague-av. The tentative program is then to repeat this same operation on the south side of the street.

The first work will be excavating the present earth in this widening portion, then removing the existing curb, the proper rolling and compaction of the subgrade, installation of electrical conduits for street lighting, the construction of a concrete base and the resetting of the sandstone curb for a portion of W. Broad-st and the construction of concrete curb for the remaining portion of W. Broad-st. After this work is all completed, the entire width of the street from curb to curb will be resurfaced with asphaltic concrete, similar to the present pavement surface.

A small portion of the existing sidewalk, due to required change in location or change in elevation, will be replaced with new concrete sidewalk. A few of the driveways, which will not conform to the proposed curb grade, will also be replaced.

All of this work, included in the contract for this street, will be performed at no cost to the abutting property owners.

At certain properties on W. Broad-st it will be necessary for the property owner to adjust the water and gas lines from the valve boxes, located just back of the proposed curb, to the lot line. This work will have to be performed at the property owner's cost, and he or she must engage a private contractor to do this work. This work will be limited to only a few properties at the most.

The construction of this project is being accomplished by the cooperation of three governmental agencies, namely the federal government, bearing 50% of the construction cost; the state of Ohio, bearing 35% of the construction cost; and the city of Columbus, paying 15% of the construction cost, plus the rearrangement of all public utilities, such as street lighting, water lines and sanitary sewer installations.

The plans were prepared by the city of Columbus, under the supervision of Robert F. Werner, chief engineer, and the construction work is being supervised by the state highway department, under H. D. Schoonover, division six engineer at Delaware, and under the direct charge of his project engineer, Charles Ekman.

The contractor is the Complete General Construction Co. of [illegible] A. Gusso.

New Half Million Building Project Is Started Here

Announcement was made this week by Alfred Tonti of a joint building project which started this week by Racine Builders, Inc., and Brookshire Park, Inc., for the construction of 80 new twin single dwelling units in the Brookshire Park area between Harris, Racine and Vandenberg-st and west of Warren-av.

The new half million dollar development will create a colonial village in the area, of 160 rental units, each consisting of two bedrooms, baths, living room, dining room and kitchens.

This week construction was begun on the first 36 units, which will be of stone, frame and brick construction, all of which will front on paved streets.

Tonti said that while a few of the lots will be sold to individuals for home dwellings, a restricted type of construction would be strictly followed, with all homes in the area to be of high values.

BJR Escapees Burglarize Two Local Stores

Two more youthful escapees from the Bureau of Juvenile Research, 2280 W. Broad-st, figured in the news this week when a 14-year-old boy from Delaware and a 13-year-old boy were nabbed by police after participating in the burglarizing of two Hilltop supermarkets.

The fugitives from the Bureau of Juvenile Research are charged with breaking into and burglarizing the Big Bear Super Market at 2835 W. Broad-st and Trott's Super Market, 2976 W. Broad-st. The Big Bear Store was hit about 9:30 p. m. Sunday while the Trott Market was burglarized a half hour later, according to police reports.

First report on the burglaries was made when a resident near the Trott store told police that two boys were loitering near the market. The radio cruiserman's dispatch to Cruiserman Harold Ashbaugh and Frederick Whatley was picked up by Vice Squad Sgt. James Holland and Squadman John Goesman who were patrolling the area.

They spotted the youths and gave chase, capturing the older boy and taking him to Juvenile Center. The younger of the two escaped but later returned to the BJR and gave himself up.

Both youths admitted to the burglaries, which netted only $3.85 for the two stores.

Zoning Change Requests To Be Heard Monday

A request for changes in zoning for four areas west of the city will come up for hearing before the Regional Zoning Commission Monday evening.

Cases No. 168-169 call for proposed rezoning from light industrial to heavy industrial for the area just west of the General Motors plant from W. Broad-st south to Sullivant-av and for a small area west of Phillipi-rd, just north of Broad-st. The request also covers a section containing about 45 acres in the southeast corner of Phillipi and Fisher-rds, and the remaining small area not now under heavy industry just west of Wilson-rd and south of the new Standard Oil plant.

Total area covered will be close to 500 acres. The request is being made by the People's Development Co., owners of the land.

At a meeting of the West Franklin County Association Monday evening at the Alton Township Hall the association went on record as favoring the change. Representatives of the group seeking the change pointed out that industry to locate in these areas would be of the same high type as General Motors and Westinghouse.

Hearings Monday evening are set for 7:30 at the Franklin Township Hall, Sullivant and Derrer-rd, and at 8:30 at Rome.

Parents Open Intensive Campaign For Sidewalks At Westgate School

The above drawing indicates the areas where current sidewalks exist near the new Westgate School. The areas where sidewalks are presently needed and areas where sidewalks are highly desirable. This is the area which this week undertook the first point of attention in the Westgate area as parents launched a campaign urging sidewalks in the vicinity of the new school which is to open for the first time on Sept. 3.

Parents of school children in the Westgate area this week are girding themselves for another civic improvement battle as they prepared to launch a drive for installation of new sidewalks and the extension of existing sidewalks in the vicinity of the new West Gate Elementary School located at the intersection of Wicklow-rd and Westgate-av.

Advocates of the plan for more sidewalks in the vicinity of the school point out that children, especially those of elementary school age should have sidewalks to guide them and to keep them off heavily traveled streets in the vicinity. It is pointed out that when the children leave school or are approaching it, they meet and talk with groups of friends and that at this point it is easy for one of them to forget and venture too far into the streets where no sidewalks now exist in the area.

With opening of the new Westgate School scheduled for Sept. 3, many parents in the vicinity are concerned over the lack of sidewalks on the west side of Westgate from Wicklow to Fremont; on the north side of Wicklow between Binns and Huron and between Westgate and Brinker-avs also on the south side of Wicklow for the same area and both sides of Westgate, south of Wicklow-rd.

The new school, it is pointed out, has walks on the west side of Huron from Fremont to Wicklow, but for only a portion of the way directly in front of the new school on Wicklow.

Those leading the drive for the installation of sidewalks are urging property owners in the vicinity to cooperate, with the most important object being the prevention of loss of life or limb by children who will be attending the new school.

Thus far preliminary investigation by leaders of the movement have taken them to Columbus Board of Education and to city officials and they have assurances from both that the matter will be taken before Columbus City Council at an early date.

The group, however does expect some opposition from some property owners to the plan for more sidewalks inasmuch as they have been advised by the city sidewalk engineers that property owners would have to pay from $75 to $85 per 40 feet of sidewalk depending on the strip of cement for which the contract. This cost however would be pro-rated over a ten-year

The board of education estimates the pupils of John Burroughs, West Broad, Highland, West Mound, Westgate, West Junior, West Senior and Starling Junior High Schools to total 6675. Of these, 375 will be at the new West Mound School and 425 at the new Westgate School, both recently completed to handle elementary school students.

City schools and kindergartens will open Sept. 3 with Catholic elementary schools opening Sept. 2, to be followed by the high schools on the next day. County schools have set Sept. 3 as their opening date.

Beginners for kindergarten must be five by Dec. 31 of 1952 and beginning first graders six by the same date, in order to enroll in the city schools.

Widening of W. Broad-st Is Started

Construction work started Monday on the widening and resurfacing of U. S. Route 40 (W. Broad-st), between Hague-av and Southampton-av.

This work will consist of a five-foot widening on each side of W. Broad-st, from Hague-av to Chase-av, and a six-foot widening on each side of the street, from Chase-av to Southampton-av. The work started Monday on the north side of W. Broad-st at Southampton-av and will proceed east to Hague-av. The tentative program is then to repeat this same operation on the south side of the street.

The first work will be excavating the present earth in this widening portion, then removing the existing curb, the proper rolling and compaction of the subgrade, installation of electrical conduits for street lighting, the construction of a concrete base and the resetting of the sandstone curb for a portion of W. Broad-st and the construction of concrete curb for the remaining portion of W. Broad-st. After this work is all completed, the entire width of the street from curb to curb will be resurfaced with asphaltic concrete, similar to the present pavement surface.

A small portion of the existing sidewalk, due to required change in location or change in elevation, will be replaced with new concrete sidewalk. A few of the driveways, which will not conform to the proposed curb grade, will also be replaced.

All of this work, included in the contract for this street, will be performed at no cost to the abutting property owners.

At certain properties on W. Broad-st it will be necessary for the property owner to adjust the water and gas lines from the valve boxes, located just back of the proposed curb, to the lot line. This work will have to be performed at the property owner's cost, and he or she must engage a private contractor to do this work. This work will be limited to only a few properties at the most.

The construction of this project is being accomplished by the cooperation of three governmental agencies, namely the federal government, bearing 50% of the construction cost; the state of Ohio, bearing 35% of the construction cost; and the city of Columbus, paying 15% of the construction cost, plus the rearrangement of all public utilities, such as street lighting, water lines and sanitary sewer installations.

The plans were prepared by the city of Columbus, under the supervision of Robert F. Werner, chief engineer, and the construction work is being supervised by the state highway department, under H. D. Schoonover, division six engineer at Delaware, and under the direct charge of his project engineer, Charles Essman.

The contractor is the Complete General Construction Co. of T. A. Gizzo.

LAMP LIGHTER

The little lamps of friendship
We light along the way,
Go shining on far down the years,
And brighten every day.

It is love that keeps them burning
In sympathy and trust.
God, help us that no lamp goes out,
Because we let it rust.

Here is a chance for the many friends of Blanche Meachum to do something for her. She has done so many things for hundreds of people, especially for the blind and shutins. It is time somebody tried to at least partially repay her—not that she wants or expects pay of any kind. Several "grapevines" have told me that Blanche has been nominated by McCall Magazine for its annual award of Woman of the Year. Nobody deserves this award more than she, and I'm confident that all of her friends and fans will get behind her in this. Blanche is Mrs. Homer Meachum, 773 Harmon-av, and Blanche of the "Dad and Blanche" show—Just Neighbors—seen daily on WTVN. She has been instrumental in getting Guide Dogs for five or six blind people, and has plans for giving several more. For the past 2½ years she and Dad have collected sales tax stamps to buy the dogs, so you may help by saving your stamps for them. She and Dad have given many benefit performances at hospitals, homes for the aged, and churches than they can remember. You can help Blanche to win the McCall award by sending her letters of encouragement and appreciation. Send them to her home or to WTVN, Columbus. I'm keeping my fingers crossed for her.

How blessed we are who have friends like this—

"Oh the comfort, the inexpressible comfort of feeling safe with a person, having neither to weigh thoughts nor measure words, but pouring them all right out just as they are, chaff and grain together, certain that a faithful heart will take and sift them; keep what is worth keeping and with the breath of kindness, blow the rest away." Now that the conventions are over and Daddy Warbucks is back, all we have to worry about is rumors of increased food prices, where is Dick Tracy and what are those things in the sky. Since this is written a week before it is printed, Dick will have been found by the time you read this—if you do.

Ground Work Started In March, 1946 For New Prairie School Opening In September

On Mar. 6, 1946, the Prairie local board of education, realizing the approaching necessity of a new and larger school building in Prairie Township, laid the ground work for a building program in Prairie Township, with a discussion concerning the amount of money needed, the amount available according to tax valuation, possible site and availability of several public meetings to acquaint the public with the growing need for a larger school building. Members of this board were Frank L. Wilcox, president; Julius Rausch, vice-president; Harold Hyland, member, Floyd Armstrong, member, and Lawrence Karnes, member and clerk.

On Apr. 19 the board interviewed Claud Youst, architect, and May 17, John Quincy Adams, architect, was interviewed. On June 5 the board employed John Q. Adams to make up drawings of the proposed new building, consisting of 19 class rooms, cafeteria and auditorium.

A bond issue in the amount of $231,000, which was deemed sufficient at that time and was all the law would allow the district to vote, was placed on the November, 1946, ballot, and carried by a majority.

Bonds were advertised for sale and bids opened Feb. 5, 1947, and awarded to J. A. White Co. of Cincinnati. A site for the building was selected, but the board was forced to go to court to acquire the land. A jury trial was held in the Franklin County court on Dec. 11, 12 and 15, 1947, and the jury rendered a verdict in favor of the board at the exact figure that had been offered for the land originally. The transfer was made Jan. 7, 1948, one year and 10 months from the time the building program was started.

William Lamb was elected as a member of the board in November in place of Julius Rausch and took office Jan. 1, 1948. By that time the building prices had sky-rocketed so that the $231,000 in bonds sold would not build more than 10 rooms and the board was advised to hold up any further plans to build until a later date.

The legislature passed an emergency bill in 1949, Section 2293-15B and 2293-19 to 23, allowing school districts which had issued bonds prior to Dec. 31, 1949, to vote in 1950 only. The board, at a special election on Feb. 14, 1950, offered to the voters an additional bond issue of $248,000, which was approved by the voters. This, the board felt, would be adequate to construct the building as planned. Bonds were sold Apr. 12, 1950, to Seasongood and Mayer of Cincinnati.

By the time the bonds were printed, delivered and the money received, the bids were opened, Sept. 28, 1950. The low bid for the complete contract was $468,897, and as the board had paid $13,000 for the land site and set aside $19,000 for equipment and furnishings, the board was short $22,897 of being able to let the contract. After deducting for several alternates, eliminating several features of the building and completely eliminating any driveways, the contract was finally let on Oct. 11, 1950, to Leo F. Ruisinger, Inc., four years and seven months after the building program was started.

The building is now almost completed and the 730 Prairie Township elementary pupils will be attending the new modern building in September, under the supervision of Cecil R. Meharry, principal, with the following teachers: Helen Baumgartner, Nancy Ferguson, Mary Williford, Della Freeman, Lenore Hetherege, Lillian Kassity, Elizabeth Lovely, Helen Nelson, Florence Weber, Charlotte Wilcox, Walborg Younkman, David M. David, Mary M. Davis, Emma Knight, Winifred Wilkes, Louise Haythorne, Alma Crabtree, Shirley Beck, Stanley Wheeler, Flora Carr and Mary Fitzgerald as music instructor.

Mrs. Louella Butin will be in charge of the cafeteria, assisted by Melina Dougherty, Bertha George and Della Roberts.

Gorman Doherty and Gerald Spangler will be custodians.

Six bus drivers will serve the school. They are William Kaiser, Earl Kaiser and Asa Bradley of Alton, Richard Smith of Galloway, Clifford Cheadle of Sullivant-av and E. J. Higgins of Norton-rd.

Everything has been done to make this new school as modern as possible, such as new style green glass boards in place of the old blackboards, pastel tinted walls, with each room having its own individual color scheme, special acoustic ceilings in all rooms excepting the auditorium. All rooms have the new modern non-glare glass windows and all the floors have mastic tiling.

There are low pressure steam boilers. Drinking fountains have been placed in the halls and rest rooms, which have new and modern plumbing, and there is an ultra-modern cafeteria, boasting all stainless steel equipment.

Karnes has been clerk of Prairie Township for 22 years and feels, as do all the members of the board of education, that they have accomplished something wonderful and fine for the youngsters of the community, in being able to finally open the doors of this very beautiful and modern building with its 19 classrooms, in September, 1952.

Karnes also stated that arrangements have been made with the new principal, Cecil R. Meharry, to have at least two teachers from his staff to wait at each traffic light to assist the children across the main street for the first few days. A special school patrol will also be selected and equipped with special safety equipment supplied by the Columbus Auto Club.

YOUR YOUTH

By Bob Schmidt

Pals forever, you promised. Remember you made that promise once. You made it that day as you paced the corridor, endlessly it seemed, before the nurse came out beaming and said "it's a boy."

You breathed these words, "Pals Forever" in the prayer that didn't even rise to your lips as you beheld your first born son — and the realization swept over you that here was the bit of life, trusted to you to nurture to its fulfillment.

We dads haven't always been to good in fulfilling these promises. It isn't easy. There is a way. You and your son can join the Father and Son "Y" Indian Guides, a national father and son program, in which fathers and sons, between the ages of six and nine years find joy in doing things together.

A group of fathers and sons are meeting this week to organize a tribe. If you and your son are interested in joining a tribe phone the "Y" office, JO. 4841.

Thirty boys enjoyed an all day hike to Maple Shade Park. Dick Wilson, associate secretary states that after the long hike the water really felt wonderful.

The Craft and Hobbies Class will meet on Tuesday and Thursday mornings at 9:30 a.m. at the "Y" office. Boys on the Hilltop are invited to attend these classes.

To look at our Hilltop. We like many other Americans, take many of our blessings for granted. Start walking west from Central Avenue and take a good look around you.

Sure, there are drug stores, insurance agencies, doctor and dentist offices, grocery stores, a neighborhood newspaper, modern post office, department stores, hardware stores, and a hundred and one other private and community owned businesses. Some are old and well established . . . some are new and planning for the future.

This didn't just happen. Millions of hours of hard work and planning have gone into establishing this community . . . and we are just getting started.

Local individual business people have not only spent these years in the development of their places of business and the service they offer but likewise they have spent uncounted hours in the development of the civic side of the community . . . they have provided the leadership for practically everything that has been for the good of the Hilltop.

And so it is that when you patronize your local individual business firm you are thus helping yourself build an even better Hilltop community.

LAMP LIGHTER

The little lamps of friendship
We light along the way,
Go shining on far down the years,
And brighten every day.

It is love that keeps them burning
In sympathy and trust.
God, help us that no lamp goes out,
Because we let it rust.

Here is a chance for the many friends of Blanche Meachum to do something for her. She has done so many things for hundreds of people, especially for the blind and shutins, it is time somebody tried to at least partially repay her—not that she wants or expects pay of any kind. Several "grapevines" have told me that Blanche has been nominated by McCall Magazine for its annual award of Woman of the Year. Nobody deserves this award more than she, and I'm confident that all of her friends and fans will get behind her in this. Blanche is Mrs. Homer Meachum, 775 Harmon-av, and Blanche of the "Dad and Blanche" show—Just Neighbors—seen daily on WTVN. She has been instrumental in getting Guide Dogs for five or six blind people, and has plans for giving several more. For the past 2½ years she and Dad have collected sales tax stamps to buy the dogs, so you may help by saving your stamps for them. She and Dad have given more benefit performances at hospitals, homes for the aged, and churches than they can remember. You can help Blanche to win the McCall award by sending her letters of encouragement and appreciation. Send them to her home or to WTVN, Columbus. I'm keeping my fingers crossed for her.

"Oh the comfort, the inexpressible comfort of feeling safe with a person, having neither to weigh thoughts nor measure words, but pouring them all right out just as th'" are, chaff and grain together, certain that a faithful heart will take and sift them; keep what is worth keeping and with the breath of kindness, blow the rest away." Then she who wears a two-way stretch?"

From Louise Bare, enroute to Albuquerque—"Several of the athletes from the Olympics were on board the plane—interesting characters!" Now that the conventions are over and Daddy Warbucks is back, all we have to worry about is rumors of increased food prices, where is Dick Tracy and what are those things in the sky. Since this is written a week before it is printed, Dick will have been found by the time you read this—if you do.

By virtue of his office, Secretary of State Ted W. Brown is chief election officer of Ohio, with supervision over Ohio's 88 county election boards.

Ground Work Started In March, 1946 For New Prairie School Opening In September

On Mar. 6, 1946, the Prairie local board of education, realizing the approaching necessity of a new and larger school building in Prairie Township, laid the ground work for a building program in Prairie Township, with a discussion concerning the amount of money needed, the amount available according to tax valuation, possible site and availability of several public meetings to acquaint the public with the growing need for a larger school building. Members of this board were Frank L. Wilcox, president; Julius Rausch, vice-president; Harold Hyland, member, Floyd Armstrong, member, and Lawrence Karnes, member and clerk.

On Apr. 19 the board interviewed Claud Youst, architect, and May 17, John Quincy Adams, architect, was interviewed. On June 5 the board employed John Q. Adams to make up drawings of the proposed new building, consisting of 19 class rooms, cafeteria and auditorium.

A bond issue in the amount of $231,000, which was deemed sufficient at that time and was all the law would allow the district to vote, was placed on the November, 1946, ballot, and carried by a majority.

Bonds were advertised for sale and bids opened Feb. 5, 1947, and awarded to J. A. White Co. of Cincinnati. A site for the building was selected, but the board was forced to go to court to acquire the land. A jury trial was held in the Franklin County court on Dec. 11, 12 and 15, 1947, and the jury rendered a verdict in favor of the board at the exact figure that had been offered for the land originally. The transfer was made Jan. 7, 1948, one year and 10 months from the time the building program was started.

William Lamb was elected as a member of the board in November in place of Julius Rausch and took office Jan. 1, 1948. By that time the building prices had sky-rocketed so that the $231,000 in bonds sold would not build more than 10 rooms and the board was advised to hold up any further plans to build until a later date.

The legislature passed an emergency bill in 1949, Section 2293-15B and 2293-19 to 23, allowing school districts which had issued bonds prior to Dec. 31, 1949, to vote in 1950 only. The board, at a special election on Feb. 14, 1950, offered to the voters an additional bond issue of $248,000, which was approved by the voters. This, the board felt, would be adequate to construct the building as planned. Bonds were sold Apr. 12, 1950, to Seasongood and Mayer of Cincinnati.

By the time the bonds were printed, delivered and the money received, the bids were opened, Sept. 28, 1950. The low bid for the complete contract was $489,897, and as the board had paid $13,000 for the land site and set aside $19,000 for equipment and furnishings, the board was short $22,897 of being able to let the contract. After deducting for several alternates, eliminating several features of the building and completely eliminating any driveways, the contract was finally let on Oct. 11, 1950, to Leo F. Ruisinger, Inc., four years and seven months after the building program was started.

Jan. 1, 1952, Paul Lenhart replaced Lawrence Karnes on the board and the present members are William Lamb, president, Harold Distelhorst, vice-president, Frederick Kunz, David Elliott, Paul Lenhart and Lawrence Karnes, clerk.

The building is now almost completed and the 730 Prairie Township elementary pupils will be attending the new modern building in September, under the supervision of Cecil R. Meharry, principal, with the following teachers: Helen Baumgartner, Nancy Ferguson, Mary Willard, Della Grooms, Louise Holtzman, Lillian Kaderly, Elizabeth Lavely, Helen Nelson, Florence Weber, Charlotte Wilcox, Walborg Younkman, David M. David, Mary M. Davis, Emma Knight, Winifred Wilkes, Louise Haythorne, Alma Crabtree, Shirley Beck, Stanley Wheeler, Flora Carr and Mary Fitzgerald as music instructor.

Mrs. Louella Butin will be in charge of the cafeteria, assisted by Melina Dougherty, Bertha George and Della Roberts.

Gorman Doherty and Gerald Spangler will be custodians.

Six bus drivers will serve the school. They are William Kaiser, Earl Kaiser and Asa Bradley of Alton, Richard Smith of Galloway, Clifford Cheadle of Sullivant-av and E. J. Higgins of Norton-rd.

Everything has been done to make this new school as modern as possible, such as new style green glass boards in place of the old blackboards, pastel tinted walls, with each room having its own individual color scheme, special acoustic ceilings in all rooms excepting the auditorium. All rooms have the new modern non-glare glass windows and all the floors have mastic tiling.

There are low pressure steam boilers. Drinking fountains have been placed in the halls and rest rooms, which have new and modern plumbing, and there is an ultra-modern cafeteria, boasting all stainless steel equipment.

Karnes has been clerk of Prairie Township for 22 years and feels, as do all the members of the board of education, that they have accomplished something wonderful and fine for the youngsters of the community, in being able to finally open the doors of this very beautiful and modern building with its 19 classrooms, in September, 1952.

Karnes also stated that arrangements have been made with the new principal, Cecil R. Meharry, to have at least two teachers from his staff to wait at each traffic light to assist the children across the main street for the first few days. A special school patrol will also be selected and equipped with special safety equipment supplied by the Columbus Auto Club.

The earliest known issue of The Columbus Ohio Monitor is that of June 13, 1816, and is in the possession of the American Antiquarian Society.

Y OUR OUTH

By Bob Schmidt

Pals forever, you promised. Remember you made that promise once. You made it that day as you paced the corridor, endlessly it seemed, before the nurse came out beaming and said "it's a boy."

You breathed these words, "Pals Forever" in the prayer that didn't even rise to your lips as you beheld your first born son — and the realization swept over you that here was the bit of life, trusted to you to nurture to its fulfillment.

We dads haven't always been to good in fulfilling these promises. It isn't easy. There is a way. You and your son can join the Father and Son "Y" Indian Guides, a national father and son program, in which fathers and sons, between the ages of six and nine years find joy in doing things together.

A group of fathers and sons are meeting this week to organize a tribe. If you and your son are interested in joining a tribe phone the "Y" office, JO. 4841.

Thirty boys enjoyed an all day hike to Maple Shade Park. Dick Wilson, associate secretary states that after the long hike the water really felt wonderful.

The Craft and Hobbies Class will meet on Tuesday and Thursday mornings at 9:30 a.m. at the "Y" office. Boys on the Hilltop are invited to attend these classes.

To look at our Hilltop. We like many other Americans, take many of our blessings for granted. Start walking west from Central Avenue and take a good look around you.

Sure, there are drug stores, insurance agencies, doctor and dentist offices, grocery stores, a neighborhood newspaper, modern post office, department stores, hardware stores, and a hundred and one other private and community owned businesses. Some are old and well established . . . . some are new and planning for the future.

This didn't just happen. Millions of hours of hard work and planning have gone into establishing this community . . . . and we are just getting started.

Local individual business people have not only spent these years in the development of their places of business and the service they offer but likewise they have spent uncounted hours in the development of the civic side of the community . . . they have provided the leadership for practically everything that has been for the good of the Hilltop.

And so it is that when you patronize your local individual business firm you are thus helping yourself build an even better Hilltop community.

More Sanity Needed Behind The Wheel

The Ohio State Safety Council has made a study of 793 accidents occuring at highway-railroad crossings during the last 12 months. 215 resulted in personal injuries and 60 produced death.

The ratio of 1 fatality in every 13 accidents and 1 injury for each 4 accidents is much higher than for traffic accidents generally. Traffic mishaps in total show 1 death for each 225 accidents, 1 injury for 6 accidents. The moral being simply that it is more dangerous to tangle with a railroad train than it is to collide with another motor vehicle, or some fixed object at the roadside.

420 vehicles were struck by trains, but over half of the drivers paid no attention to warnings and drove in front of the train. The extreme violation was probably the fellow who drove around six vehicles that had stopped to allow the train to go past. The driver met the train squarely in the middle of the 69th car.

171 autos hit trains and 119 more crashed into gates or other fixtures but avoided collision with the train. One vehicle hit the watchman who was trying to flag the driver down. 69 stalled their vehicle in front of the approaching train.

464 accidents occurred at crossings having special protection . . . flashing lights or gates or bells or special lighting — even a flagman . . . to warn the motorist that a train was coming.

Passenger vehicles were involved in 681 accidents, 8 were pedestrians, the remainder were trucks, busses, taxicabs and one farm tractor.

Edwin H. Davis, President of the Ohio State Safety Council, in releasing the figures, said, "Here is one kind of accident where each driver has almost complete control. If he doesn't drive on a track until he sees that no train is approaching, the chances are that he will not be hit by a train. There's no record of a train ever leaving the track to hit a motor car in Ohio."

"Another thing," Davis went on, "our Highway Department puts a round yellow sign, with a big black X, and the letter R R on it, at least 300 feet from the tracks on all state highways. The driver who slows down when he sees that sign has a chance to stop when he sees a signal going or a train actually on the track."

He said he could cut these accidents in half. Yes, more than half, if drivers would obey Ohio law which says that no motorist shall drive over a railroad track when an electrical or mecnanical signal or a human flagman gives indication of the immediate approach of a train. Develop the habit of stopping and looking — be sure that there is time to cross ahead of the train. If it's a tie you lose — too often losing your life too!"

Civic Groups Hear Plans For Huge Expansion

At a joint meeting last Tuesday evening of the West Columbus Park Civic Association and Garden Heights Civic Association, H. A. Chapman of the John W. Galbreath & Co. and W. K. Kerr, an associate of The Peoples Development Co. disclosed their plans for the vast residential and industrial developments in the W. Broad-st area of Franklin and Prairie Townships.

In Franklin Township, west from Philippi-rd to Garden Heights Addition and north from W. Broad-st to the Pennsylvania RR and south from W. Broad-st to Sullivant-av and west from Georgesville-rd to Mix Addition is being reserved for the large industrial type development.

Territories in Prairie Township both north and south of W. Broad-st, west of Garden Heights and Mix to New Rome are to be developed into residential areas with both apartments and single type dwellings with a commercial zone facing W. Broad-st. The huge shopping center will be located immediately west of N. Grener-rd.

Space is also allocated for proposed future schools, parks, playgrounds and churches. Foremost local and national planners have played important parts in laying out this new development which will conform strictly to modern trends.

Ralph W. Wilkins a representative of the Committee to protect the Ohio Constitution gave a short talk on The Constitutional Convention which is to be voted on this coming Nov. 6 election.

The meeting took place at Edwin G. Distelhorst's "Maplewood" 4601 W. Broad-st.

While the property owner under the plans now being drawn would have to bear his portion of the expense, it was also pointed out that the City of Columbus too, would be asked to share the burden of new sidewalks. As for that matter the city would be required to place sidewalks along the entire north side area of Westgate Park both on Wicklow and Westgate-av. It is pointed out that this is a city responsibility and that a sidewalk should have been constructed along the park edge years ago.

Arguments in support of the sidewalk installation point out that Wicklow is a heavily traveled street as well as a bus route and that Westgate is the first through street running south, between the Park and Binns-blvd with heavy traffic as well.

West High School just three blocks away is surrounded by sidewalks, and proponents of the plan point out, if sidewalks are available to older children then surely the smaller tots should be afforded the same protective measures.

Next step in the drive will be a presentation of the problem to the safety director, Columbus City Council and Board of Education by the Camp Chase Civic Association.

Seiller Golf—

Years of good dreams . . . . years of good work are finally resolving into a blueprint for happiness. This young family is building a home of its own . . . . and even Rusty seems to like the idea of having a new neighbor next door.

True, this won't be the most expensive home in town. But it will be light, airy, neat and compact. Just what they've always wanted—just what they're going to have.

It's going to be a happy home. For this young family, even during the "lean" years when the idea of a home seemed to be far away, maintained their church membership, and attended church often. Only the church, they found, gave them faith in themselves and their dreams, and furnished inspiration for the work and savings that enabled them to build up not only savings for their new home, but an abiding faith and respect for each other and their God.

Churches don't exist simply to satisfy the religious needs of people who have "arrived." They have real work to do—and do real work—in providing young families with a basis of religious faith that develops into one of their most abiding assets. And as long as that faith continues to grow with association with a church, any family can make its own blueprint for happiness that will be with them wherever they are, and wherever they may go . . .

So then faith cometh by hearing, and hearing by the word of God.
—Romans 10:17

Bible Comment:

Proverbs Can Be Foundation for World Harmony

THE dictionary defines harmony as "concord or agreement in facts, opinions, manners, interests, etc." But many of the passages of the Book of Proverbs have to do with getting on with angry, and disagreeable people, with whose opinions one isn't likely to have much in common.

In general, the basic advice is that if other people act meanly toward you, don't be nasty yourself. "If a man is angry with you, that's the time to control your own temper. "A soft answer turneth away wrath; but grievous words stir up anger." "Make no friendship with an angry man; and with a furious man thou shalt not go; lest thou learn his ways and get a snare to thy soul." Proverbs that recall Paul's counsel, "As much as lieth in you live peaceably with all men." There are limits even to the practice of forbearance, but one is wise to keep the boundary very wide.

In a similar spirit, the Proverbs stress the wisdom of regulating one's own life with good sense, and not according to what others are doing. Envy of others, of their power, wealth, success, or some advantage that they seem to possess, can create disharmony in one's own soul. Peace of mind is of the very essence of inward harmony, and there can be no peace of mind where envy and bitterness are harbored.

In our personal lives and relationships we can do much to avoid people who don't like us, or who are unfriendly towards us. But in the larger relationships—social and international—we are confronted with situations which we must accept as they are. They involve sharp differences, if not conflicts, in ideas and ideals, ways and manners. Yet, unless we can achieve some measure of good will, tolerance, and forbearance, dark tragedy looms again upon the nations.

The proverbs and the counsels that make for wisdom and harmonious living in individual lives ought to be watchwords in the affairs of the nation, and in the dealings of nations with one another.

At The Playgrounds

Highland Avenue

Final contests have been held at Highland Avenue playground this week to establish the champions. Ted Hulett, 59 N. Wayne-av, was the champion pole-climber; Arthur Slate, 425 S. Oakley-av, was the best checker player; and Gilbert Stemm, 53 N. Wayne-av, was the highest jumper.

Children on the playground have nearly completed their animal faces which they are going to use in the big pageant Aug. 21 at Central High School. The queens, Doris Jean Rose, 184 S. Wheatland av, and Shelly Good, 262 S. Highland-av, will be entered in the pageant to compete with the other 39 playground queens.

Holton

Holton playground will be closed Thursday evening for the city-wide pageant. Participants of Holton will present a pirate scene at the pageant. A junior and senior queen from Holton Park will compete with other playground queens for the title of "Miss Playground of 1952."

Holton's softball team, the Holton Yanks, won their last league game against Felton, 6 to 5, this week, making them still undefeated. This team will go into the semi-finals Tuesday against Palegrove and if they are victorious they will then go into the finals. In their last game Chuck Cox pitched a three-hit game.

Westgate

Westgate playground is preparing for the pageant and will present an act composed of the children who have attended Westgate during the summer. They, too, will enter a junior and senior queen to compete for the title which it is hoped will be won by a Hilltop girl.

Glenwood

Glenwood playground will present a pantomime version of Hansel and Gretel in the pageant tonight. In the cast will be Ronnie Ogden as Hansel, Patty Belcher as Gretel, Marcella Justice as the witch and Pat Patterson and Ann Williams as trees.

Glenwood's queen candidates are Jackie Patterson and Charlene Smith.

Beginning Sept. 2, Glenwood Center will be open from 2 p. m. until 10 p. m., with the interior of the building being opened at 6 p. m. This schedule will continue until the playground apparatus is removed.

The remaining scheduled outdoor square dances have been cancelled. Announcement of indoor dances will soon be made in the "Gate Post" column and on the bulletin boards at the center.

The physical fitness tests will be continued for the remainder of the summer season.

The last outdoor movie shown by the YMCA will be presented on Aug. 26 on the tennis court. The entire family is invited to see the last movie of this season under the stars.

The Glenwood summer recognition dinner was held last Thursday, Aug. 14, at the center. Don Wille, assistant director of the Juvenile Research Bureau, was the principal speaker. The boys and girls who participated in the organized programs were invited and recognized at the dinner. Highlight movies of the Junior Olympics of 1951, Big Ten football and the regular Thursday night movies were shown.

Hilltop Nurse Gets Scholarship From TB Group

Mrs. Pearl Cash, 322 S. Hague-av, was one of five local nurses who received scholarships from the Columbus Tuberculosis Society for the recent OSU institute in "patient education."

Sponsorship of the nurses, all serving at Benjamin Franklin Tuberculosis Hospital, is in line with the Society's recently increased efforts to foster better understanding of, and treatment for, tuberculosis patients in the county.

Development of new TB drugs means increased work for tuberculosis nurses, Gerald D. Fry, director of the Columbus Tuberculosis Society, the Christmas Seal-supported agency, said today. Former hopeless cases, instead of dying, may now recuperate after many months of hospitalization. New hope provided by the drugs, he said, is added impetus for concerted free X-ray programs—like the recent East Side survey—to find and hospitalize tuberculosis cases as soon as possible.

Nurses at the "patient education" institute, held at the OSU School of Nursing, were told to "listen with the third ear" to the many phases of their patients' health problems. Teaching a TB patient to understand the emotional phases of his problems will go far toward helping him solve them, it was pointed out.

As a part of its health education program, the Society also provided scholarships for a number of local delegates to the three-week institute on School and Public Health Education, for nurses and teachers, held last month at University School. Hilltoppers attending were Avale McKinley, 253 N. Harris-av, adjustment teacher, Columbus public schools, and Mrs. Margaret Hyatt, Columbus State School staff, an auditor.

At The Playgrounds

Highland Avenue

Final contests have been held at Highland Avenue playground this week to establish the champions. Ted Hulett, 59 N. Wayne-av, was the champion pole-climber; Arthur Slate, 425 S. Oakley-av, was the best checker player; and Gilbert Stemm, 53 N. Wayne-av, was the highest jumper.

Children on the playground have nearly completed their animal faces which they are going to use in the big pageant Aug. 21 at Central High School. The queens, Doris Jean Rose, 186 E. Wheatland av, and Shelly Good, 262 S. Highland-av, will be entered in the pageant to compete with the other 30 playground queens.

Holton

Holton playground will be closed Thursday evening for the city-wide pageant. Participants of Holton will present a pirate scene at the pageant. A junior and senior queen from Holton Park will compete with other playground queens for the title of "Miss Playground of 1952."

Holton's softball team, the Holton Yanks, won their last league game against Felton, 6 to 5, this week, making them still undefeated. This team will go into the semi-finals Tuesday against Palsgrove and if they are victorious they will then go into the finals. In their last game Chuck Coe pitched a three-hit game.

Westgate

Westgate playground is preparing for the pageant and will present an act composed of the children who have attended Westgate during the summer. They, too, will enter a junior and senior queen to compete for the title which it is hoped will be won by a Hilltop girl.

Glenwood

Glenwood playground will present a pantomime version of Hansel and Gretel in the pageant tonight. In the cast will be Ronnie Ogden as Hansel, Patty Belcher as Gretel, Marcella Justice as the witch and Pat Patterson and Ann Williams as trees.

Glenwood's queen candidates are Jackie Patterson and Charlene Smith.

Beginning Sept. 2, Glenwood Center will be open from 2 p. m. until 10 p. m., with the interior of the building being opened at 6 p. m. This schedule will continue until the playground apparatus is removed.

The remaining scheduled outdoor square dances have been cancelled. Announcement of indoor dances will soon be made in the "Gate Post" column and on the bulletin boards at the center.

The physical fitness tests will be continued for the remainder of the summer.

The last outdoor movie shown by the YMCA will be presented on Aug. 26 on the tennis court. The entire family is invited to see the last movie of this season under the stars.

The Glenwood summer recognition dinner was held last Thursday, Aug. 14, at the center. Dan Wilie, assistant director of the Juvenile Research Bureau, was the principal speaker. The boys and girls who participated in the organized programs were invited and recognized at the dinner. Highlight movies of the Junior Olympics of 1951, Big Ten football and the regular Thursday night movies were shown.

Hilltop Nurse Gets Scholarship From TB Group

Mrs. Pearl Cash, 332 S. Hague-av, was one of five local nurses who received scholarships from the Columbus Tuberculosis Society for the recent OSU institute in "patient education."

Sponsorship of the nurses, all serving at Benjamin Franklin Tuberculosis Hospital, is in line with the Society's recently increased efforts to foster better understanding of, and treatment for, tuberculosis patients in the county.

Development of new TB drugs means increased work for tuberculosis nurses, Gerald D. Fry, director of the Columbus Tuberculosis Society, the Christmas Seal-supported agency, said today. Former hopeless cases, instead of dying, may now recuperate after many months of hospitalization. New hope provided by the drugs, he said, is added impetus for concerted free X-ray programs—like the recent East Side survey—to find and hospitalize tuberculosis cases as soon as possible.

Nurses at the "patient education" institute, held at the OSU School of Nursing, were told to "listen with the third ear" to the many phases of their patients' health problems. Teaching a TB patient to understand the emotional phases of his problems will go far toward helping him solve them, it was pointed out.

As a part of its health education program, the Society also provided scholarships for a number of local delegates to the three-week institute on School and Public Health Education, for nurses and teachers, held last month at University School. Hilltoppers attending were Avale McKinley, 268 N. Harris-av, adjustment teacher, Columbus public schools, and Mrs. Margaret Hyatt, Columbus State School staff, an auditor.

Volunteer Community Service Work At Day Nursery Performed By Seven West Side Y-Teens

Y-Teen volunteer community service workers Barbara Booth, 319 S. Roys-av, and Shirley Bentz, 126 S. Richardson-av (in the background) are pictured above with some of their charges at the West Side Day Nursery. The girls work two days each week four hours per day.

Seven West Side Y-Teens are doing volunteer community service work at the West Side Day Nursery as a part of the YWCA's summer project for teen-agers on the Hilltop.

These girls are giving up to 32 hours of volunteer time a month, working two days a week from 9 to 1 p. m. Their jobs include helping supervise the play activities of the children at the nursery and generally assisting the regular staff on duty. West Side Y-Teens also help out at the nursery during the month of March each year when the Columbus Y-Teens participate in their city-wide service project called Links.

The girls report that they really enjoy their volunteer service, for it gives them a chance to be helpful and at the same time, it's fun working with the small children. Some of them feel that this is good experience in preparation for future careers as teachers or nursery school supervisors.

Those working at the nursery include: Shirley Bintz, 126 S. Richardson-av; Barbara Booth, 319 S. Roys-av; Barbara Bickham, 767 Racine-av; Florence Compton, 313 S. Warren-av; Sandra Parvis, 163 N. Wayne-av; Barbara Bolen, 81 N. Harris-av; Susie Hoover, 686 S. Burgess. Others on the Hilltop are doing volunteer work at Mt. Carmel Hospital.

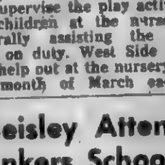
All of the girls will be recognized for their fine community contribution at a recognition banquet to be held later in the month. At this time a third group of West High Y-Teeners will present a dramatic sketch which they have been preparing this summer.

Summer activity in dramatics and volunteer service at the hospital and the nursery have been planned especially for teen age girls on the Hilltop by the Teen Age Department of the Columbus YWCA.

Kneisley Attends Bankers School

Robert L. Kneisley, manager of the Hilltop office, Ohio National Bank, will leave Aug. 25, for two weeks attendance at the school of banking at the University of Wisconsin. This will be his first year at the school, which requires two weeks resident attendance each year for three years to earn the certificate of graduation. Throughout the year between resident sessions students are required to do extension work involving problems in all phases of banking.

The school is sponsored by the Central States Conference, composed of bankers' associations in 16 mid-western states. Attendance this year will approximate 600 bankers, ranging from junior officers and department managers to presidents, vice-presidents and board chairmen of banks from more than 30 states.



The faculty of more than 100 instructors consists of bankers who are specialists in their respective fields, practicing attorneys, business executives and members of a number of university and college faculties. The instructors comprise one of the most competent groups of men in their respective professions ever assembled for adult educational purposes.

The present high standards of banking service in communities throughout the country will be enhanced by attendance of local bank officers at this specialized banking school.

Curt Roberts Will Be Missed

The community was shocked this past week to learn of the death of Curtis Roberts.

His passing will be a distinct loss to the Hilltop that he loved so well.

Those who have had the pleasure of working with him on so many community events will long remember the untiring effort he would put into a job. And unlike a lot of organization people Curt never accepted a job that he did not carry out.

The Hilltop has lost an outstanding citizen.

On the teaching staff eight newcomers will be on hand when the local high school swings into its fall session on Sept. 3 at 8:45 a. m. Harriet Brown will be there as the new vice principal of West, replacing Blanche Kern, who retired at the end of last term.

Franklin Brown will be the new teacher replacing O. C. Montgomery in science classes. Miriam Hinton will be the new commercial teacher as replacement for Inez Godley. W. Pickerel replaces William Kerns as teacher of instrumental music.

Donald Srail is the new teacher of industrial arts, replacing Jack Schuster. Edna Harrison, a former teacher at West High, returns this year as teacher of English, replacing Mrs. Sawyer. John Neidecker is the new teacher in geography classes and Walter Kaufman is a new teacher of mathematics.

Anticipating a record enrollment at West Junior and Senior High Schools of approximately 2350 students, Principal Young pointed out this week that other physical changes have been made at the school in addition to those in the teaching staffs.

This year the offices of West Junior and Senior High have been combined into the West Senior offices. An attendance and guidance office has been created from Classroom 211; classrooms have been made out of the former Junior High offices; classroom 235 has been divided into two classrooms; journalism rooms have been moved into the old Junior High offices and Miss Bachmayer's office has also been converted into a classroom.

Young also pointed out that the entire building has been cleaned during the summer months and that since Aug. 25 all members of the administrative staff have been on duty for the purposes of registration and orientation.

The Rat is a Dangerous Animal

I am sorry, indeed, whenever I hear individuals express disgust at the sight of a snake or say that they killed one that they encountered. These reptiles are among our most beneficial animals, feeding largely on insects, worms, and field mice. However whenever I hear anyone say that he has trapped a rat, I am happy. If ever there was a worthless, dangerous animal it is the common rat.

This animal also goes by the names, barn rat, wharf rat, sewer rat, gray rat, and by proper name, Norway rat. This obnoxious creature originated somewhere in the Orient and reached Europe at about the beginning of the eighteenth century. It was introduced into the United States at the time of the Revolutionary War, being carried here by trading vessels. It now infests every state in the union.

The average Norway rat weighs three-quarters of a pound and may be any color from gray through brown to black. A female rat will give birth to from three to 12 litters a year and the young in a litter number from six to 22. The young are ready to breed at the age of three or four months.

The present rat population of the United States is conservatively estimated at 123,900,000, or just a little less than this country's population of human beings. Each rat will consume at least 50 pounds of grain per year and in the process of eating it will destroy that much more. These animals go to extremes in their killing of baby chicks. They will also attack and kill full grown hens, ducks, baby pigs, lambs, and will consume huge quantities of eggs. The damage done to property by these abominable rodents consists of holes gnawed in lead pipes, grain bags, boxes, doors, furniture, flooring, books, and by flooding caused by their burrowing into embankments. They cause fires by gnawing the insulation from wires and they undermine the foundations of buildings. The United States government experts have estimated that the damage done by rats each year per farm is at least 35 dollars.

The rat has caused more deaths than all the wars of history. The rat flea, which is transported by the animal, transmits bubonic plague, the most dreaded of all diseases. During the fourteenth century this rat-carried disease killed 25 million people in Europe. The animal itself carries typhus fever, spirochetal jaundice, ratbite fever, tularemia, rabies, trichinosis, tapeworms, and food poisoning (incorrectly called ptomaine poisoning). To domestic animals they carry an entirely different set of diseases, among them, white scour, mastitis, ringworm, contagious abortion, tuberculosis, abortion in mares, and joint ill in foals, and in fowls New Castle disease, coccidosis in poultry and blackhead in turkeys.

The chief enemies of the rat are the house cat, dogs, snakes, all of the hawks and owls, and weasels.

One authority on the rat recently stated that every community should have a campaign against the rat at least once each year. A group of eastern scientists at a meeting declared that if the human population of the earth became extinct it would be followed by rats as the leading species. Their enormous numbers, their rate of reproduction, and their high degree of adaptability would assure their becoming the highest type of life on the planet.

Cincinnati was the first city in the United States to establish a municipally owned university. The University of Cincinnati also originated the co-operative system of education in 1906.

NOSTALGIA

The road leads to a wide old homestead
Spreading hospitable wings over a drowsy farm.
There clover fields run high,
And orchard trees bend into tipsy
Chinese mandarins
Swinging apple bells.
Beyond comes the fragrance of wet fringed-parsley leaves,
And the aromatic scent of thyme.
And as sunlight plays on meadow-rue in the garden,
The familiar voice of Farmer
Doyle calls—
"Melons just ripe, and lots of
Do you want Bantam or Golden
Threshold today?"

Everyone knows that Charlie Cessner is one of Ohio's most popular organists; every television fan knows and loves his music and his sense of humor. But maybe you'd like to know a few things about his background. The little bird that does all the talking was so operative, so here are some items about Mr. Cessner you'll like to know about.

Born in New Philadelphia, Ohio, he was raised in Cambridge, and has been with WLW-C almost three years. Here is a record of some kind—since coming to Columbus he has done two thousand television shows. He plays on the Sally Flowers Show and Shoot The Works, daily shows on WLW-C. Married, he is the father of two sons, aged 6 and 3. Mr. Cessner also teaches organ at the Lazarus' Music Center. He studied music at the Chicago Musical College in Chicago, and Dana Musical Institute at Warren, Ohio, and has played on radio stations WLW in Cincinnati; (1929) WTAM, Cleveland; KDKA, Pittsburgh, and WEBR in Buffalo. He was at Stage Door Theater in Buffalo two and one-half years, and at Mancuso Theater and Restaurant at Batavia, New York, for three years. In 1943 he entered the service.

Together with Lyn Ballard, well-known vocalist at WLW-C, and the late Bill Smith on drums, Mr. Cessner has made several records under the Grenobel label, which disc-jockeys in all the large Ohio cities are playing. They are fine—I have four of them. Incidentally, they may be purchased locally at Melody Shop and Harmony Shop. Cabinet-making is the hobby of this talented organist, who deserves the many honors that have come his way.

Mail—From an uncle who is a retired police captain: "I'm a frustrated old man. I always wanted to be a circus performer, preferably a clown" . . . From an adopted granddaughter, age 8: "Jean has the cutest red headed Raggedy Ann doll. I would love to have one. I didn't ask you for one, did I, Grandma? Mommie said I shouldn't" . . . From my favorite shutin: "I was a little weary of the correspondence so gave the daily letter-writer a chance to cease hostilities by suggesting that perhaps writing to me was a burden. The answer came back, quote: 'Certainly I do not want to stop writing. When I get an occasional reply from you it is like the first star of the evening, a beautiful melody on a moonlight night, shimmering on a dancing, peaceful river.' How corny can one be? Anyway I know my ardent letter-writer has been reading too many love story magazines" . . . From a 16-year-old: "Golly, here the summer is about gone and there were so many things I wanted to do." Yeah—I know! I had plans too.

From somewhere: "Ah," said the serious-faced passenger, "how little any of us suspect what the future has in store for us." "That's true," responded his seatmate. "Little did I suspect when 40 years ago I carved my initials on the desk in the little country schoolhouse that I would grow up and fail to become famous."

Service News ... In Brief

Marine Air Reservist Robert A. Burns, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen F. Burns, 167 Pasadena-av, and Jim Lamb, son of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Lamb, 275 Buena Vista-av, were used in a feature story published in the Sunday Citizen and photographed along with other buddies. There are 34 members of their group going through 45 days of boot training at the Port Columbus Naval Air Station.

Having completed their 20 days of basic training schedule, which included such military subjects as arms and equipment, combat conditioning, map reading, chemical warfare and close order drill, they visited the firing range at Chillicothe where they learned more about the use of weapons.

These two Marine Air Reservists from Rome were both awarded a rating of Pfc. on Saturday and left Monday for their 15 day cruise, which will complete their 45 day training period.

Robert F. Watts

Sgt. 1/c Robert F. Watts has served his term with the army and, as of Aug. 6, is now a civilian.

"Bob" served as combat leader, after entering the service, Nov. 7, 1950, with the 24th Inf. Div. in Korea. After a year in Korea he returned to the States wearing the Combat Badge, Korean Campaign Ribbon with 3 battle stars, UN Ribbon, Bronze Star and Presidential Unit Citation with one cluster.

Reassigned to the 31st Dixie Div. at Camp Atterbury, Ind., he helped train new soldiers for the rugged job ahead of them.

Watts lives with his parents at 2230 Big Run-rd, Grove City.

Erwin Ruth, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Ruth, 1560 Union-av, who received medical cadet training at the National Medical Cadet Training Camp at Grand Ledge, Mich., last year, has been inducted into the service of his country and is now stationed at Camp Pickett, Va.

Airman Thomas J. Enright, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Enright, 101 Haldy-av, has arrived home from Korea on a furlough. He arrived in San Francisco Aug. 11. A radio operator, he will be assigned to the Brunswick Naval Air Station at Brunswick, Me. He is a graduate of Aquinas High School and attended Ohio State University.

Ohio territory was originally claimed by four different states, Massachusetts, New York, Connecticut and Virginia.

Mrs. George Sacha (Ruth Shover) of Cleveland was a guest last week at the homes of Mrs. Martha Mairs, Larcomb-av and Mrs. Roy King, Walsh-av in Columbus. In Grove City she visited her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. El Shover of London-Groveport-rd.

The Sunshine Class of Briggsdale Church met Tuesday evening for a potluck supper with Barbara Withers, 1609 Harrisburg-pk acting as hostess at her home.

Barbara Withers and Susie Featherolf of N. High-st spent Saturday night with Mary Downing, Eakin-rd.

Mrs. Andrew Schwindt of Briggsdale was guest of honor at a baby shower when Mrs. Jerry Bagge entertained Saturday evening at her home, 936 S. Eureka-av.

The Franklin Township Schools will open Tuesday, Sept. 2.

Bobby Immelt, son of Rev. and Mrs. R. J. Immelt has been ill with a virus infection.

From somewhere: "Ah," said the serious-faced passenger, 'how little any of us suspect what the future has in store for us." "That's true," responded his seatmate. "Little did I suspect when 40 years ago I carved my initials on the desk in the little country schoolhouse that I would grow up and fail to become famous."

Youngsters Stage Benefit Magic Show To Aid Polio Fund

It was "Now you see it. Now you don't," and "Professor" Richard Williams, 318 S. Brinker-av gave one of the most scintillating performances of his career as a magician and prestidigitator last Friday afternoon with the Franklin County Polio Fund reaping the harvest of his efforts. The "Professor" is pictured above with his capable assistant and buddy, Dennis Hawes, 320 S. Brinker-av.

The Franklin County Polio Fund benefitted last Friday, Aug. 22, when "Professor" Richard Williams presented a magic show in Hawes Hall.

"Professor" Richard, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Williams, 318 S. Brinker-av, is a sparkling newcomer to the entertainment field. Recently returned from New York City with $25 worth of new "Tricks up his sleeve," young Williams performed the benefit show in the garage of his neighbor and assistant, Dennis Hawes, age 9, 320 S. Brinker-av.

Stage manager Eddie Fisher, 326 S. Brinker-av, was in charge of the lighting, curtains and background music for the 45 minute show. Free popcorn was served the audience at intermission by Mrs. Harry E. Hawes, mother of the magician's assistant.

Following intermission the big drawing was held. Prizes donated by "local businessmen" consisted of a comic book, a pencil, a ball-point pen, and a cross-word puzzle.

The "Professor" has been interested in magic for only six months but practices diligently to perfect the sleight-of-hand and the catchy banter that is a "must" in the trade. He had performed before friends and neighbors before but this was his first "show." Although nervous before the rising curtain he said that he hoped, "to make the West High variety shows this year"—an ambition which he should have no trouble accomplishing.

Included in the repertoire were the cut-rope trick, magic-block trick, numerous card tricks, and a trick in which he filled a supposedly empty hat with various scarves, an egg and a glass of milk. Several little "volunteers" from the audience were needed to participate and the response was gratifying.

Little Yanks Win Hilltop "Y" Little Nine

The Hilltop "Y" Little Nine Baseball League finished its season play during this past week. The "champs" of this eight-team league were the Little Yanks, with six wins and only one loss.

	W	L
Little Yanks	6	1
Little Niners	5	2
Little Indians	4	3
Little A's	4	3
Little Giants	4	3
Little Dodgers	3	4
Little Sluggers	2	5
Little Cards	0	7

The members of the winning team, "Little Yanks", were Bob Shay, Jack Morical, Louis Cruise, Irvin Durkin, Fred Ash, David Wolfe, Bill Ingle, Ken McKenzie, Gary Dohrman, Ted Kruse, Ted Miller, Terry Kruse and Glen Rohrer.

League started play June 23 and continued to Aug. 6. One hundred and thirty-five players and eight teams were in the league.

The teams met in the mornings for practice and then played scheduled games in the evening at West High field.

Championship Tourney Is On

But few matches were played during this past week in the Beacon Light Club Championship Tourney as Ned Lilly won out over Tom Quinn 4 and 3 in one second flight contest and Trudy Richards downed Dick Murray one up.

In a third flight round Jack Abram edged Phil Worthen 3 and 2 to remain in the running.

Top scoring honors for the week at Beacon went to Byrle Taylor and Jim Nolan each with a 73 for a best ever score, while Cal Richards racked up a 75 and Ed Nolan trailed with a 79 in the top scoring bracket.

YOUTH OUR "Y"

By Bob Schmidt and Dick Wilson

I enjoyed an unusual experience this past week as guest story-teller at the Hilltop Branch Library when the Reading Club held its Pow Wow. More than 200 little braves and princesses enjoyed the stories and tricks along with the games and songs that were planned for them. Miss Phalor and her staff are to be congratulated for their outstanding summer reading program.

With the official ending of the Summer Fun Club on Aug. 23, the "Y" staff is now busy planning for an extensive fall and winter program. This will include Hi-Y, Jr. Hi-Y, Gra-Y and Indian Guide Clubs being organized. Several all-day Saturday bus trips are being planned to places which include Serpent Mound and Old Man's Cave. Further plans on these trips will be released by a "Y" bulletin in the grade schools.

Craft classes will be scheduled during the fall and winter months each Tuesday and Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Again may we invite any boy who is interested to attend these classes.

Since there is another news release regarding our successful "Y" Summer Fun Club award night, the only mention I want to make here is that if there is any boy who did not receive his award that night, he may get it by coming to the YMCA office.

The annual YMCA membership enrollment will be Sept. 22-29. This is an opportunity for the people of the Hilltop to subscribe to a membership in their YMCA. It should be noted that this is not an appeal for donations but rather is affiliating yourself as a member of the YMCA through a membership fee. Irvin Young has been selected by the "Y" board of management as chairman of the "Y" membership enrollment.

There is a need for additional volunteer workers for this membership enrollment and we would all appreciate your services. You may phone the YMCA office, JO. 4841.

Sponors Tent Meeting

Rev. Gene Fultz, pastor, is announcing a tent meeting to be held at Joann Heights Community Church, Sept. 3, 7:30 p.m. nightly, for several days. Rev. Donna Holley and Rev. James Hicks will be in charge of the music and preaching.

West Grid Hopefuls Prepare For Fall Campaign

Nearly ninety candidates for Coach Mack Pemberton's 1952 edition of the Cowboy grid squad of West High school reported during this past week for workouts and conditioning for a tough grid schedule. Pemberton lost no time in putting his charges to work. In the top photo he gives the backfield hopefuls a skull session on new plays; in the middle photo Backfield Coach Fred Heinchman drills his crew in ball handling and tackling while in the lower photo Line Coach Steve Randell endeavors to teach line prospects proper charging techniques. First test of the local squad is a round robin affair at West on Sept. 5 with North, Brookside and Arlington.

Women Mariner Visits With Hilltop Friends

The only woman ever to receive the Merchant Marine pin from both the United States and Canadian governments was a visitor to the Hilltop this past week as the guest of Mr and Mrs Dave Cornwell, 74 S. Richardson-av.

Mrs. Mina Gould of Toronto, Canada, received the pin for her maritime service during World War II when she served as a cook aboard ships which transported military supplies along the North Atlantic seaboard and to the Great Lakes region.

With her husband, Leonard, they visited the Ohio State Fair on Tuesday of this week with the Cornwells.

New Self-Serve Dime Store Opens Locally This Saturday

Something entirely different in dime store shopping will be presented to the West Side this Saturday — a self service dime store — which is in itself something unique in merchandising for that type of business.

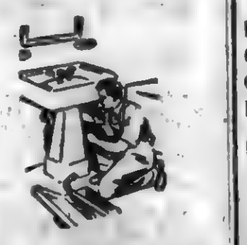
The occasion will be the formal opening of the newly redecorated R. and S. Dime Store at 1268 W. Broad-st at Chicago-av. A feature of the formal opening will be a mammoth sale to herald the advent of this new business to the West Side.

The first 900 purchasers of $1 or more to visit the store this Saturday, Aug. 30, will receive one goldfish and bowl as a gift of the management.

Floyd R. Warne, general manager of the R. & S. Dime Stores and Henry Klein, local manager, extend a cordial invitation to every one in the community to inspect the new self serve dime store.

The West Side establishment is the third store of the R. & S. Chain in Columbus and Toledo to offer self service. The new merchandising idea is intended to result in better selection, better prices and faster, more convenient shopping.

Mr. Warne said this week that the store on the West Side will carry all the latest items in the variety field, so that shoppers in this community no longer need to go downtown for wide selections. The store, he added, will make every effort to supply any additional lines that West Side residents want.



Store hours will be from 8:30 a. m. until 6 p. m. Shoppers are urged to come early this Saturday. Gifts will be given ladies and children.

Filling Station Operator Loses $3000 In Cash

Ross Williams, 31, 867 Wiltshire-rd, operator of a filling station at 975 W. Broad-st, reported to police Saturday that $3,000 in cash and checks was missing from his pocket. Williams discovered the loss after he had cashed a check for $100 shortly before noon.

A money pouch containing $600 cash and $2500 in checks was not to be found when he went to cash another check about 10 minutes later. Williams requested persons for whom he cashed checks Friday and Saturday morning to contact him so he can notify banks to stop payment on the checks.
